VERDUN, April 5.—Again the fury of the Verdun assault has spent itself, and the Germans have been forced to pause and recuperate from their losses. Except for an insignificant cannonade in the Douaumont-Vaux section fighting has been practically suspended. The French enjoy the capture of a communicating trench in the Caillette wood. In fact it is anything more than a success the French dare not yet hope. Now as the tired troops rest after the terrific strain of the last week they must be alert against a surprise or any attempt to overwhelm their lines.

Both the Germans and the French are seeking the opportunity to strengthen their lines and to rush up much needed supplies. In the close hand-to-hand fighting the wounded have been greater than in almost any week since the attack began, six weeks ago.

Although the Germans have adopted the most extraordinary measures in an attempt to conceal their losses, they have deceived no one except possibly themselves. Certainly, they have not deceived the French, who have been able to calculate not only the number, but the disposition of the attacking troops.

While Paris reports a general quiet about the fortress Berlin recounts the repulse of several French counter-attacks. Thus an attempt to take the hill northeast of Haucourt was frustrated, the Germans say while in the Caillette wood enemy attacks also broke down.

The fighting, which now has lessened in intensity, has been the fiercest of the war and the encounters in the Bois de Caillette have been the most frightful. Wave after wave of charging German infantry has been thrown back by the deliberate, methodical fire of the French machine guns working in half-circles. The wooded hillsides were mangled by the bombardment and dead strew the field after desperate hand-to-hand conflicts which succeeded the artillery duels.

"The Germans always are the first to accuse us of what they are about to do themselves," a high authority said to me tonight.

"They spread rumors that we are about to invade Holland. Have you

SAILINGS DELAYED.

Shortage of Men for Our Ships.

Every Departure from the North in Two Months in Violation of Federal Law.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE, April 5.—With charter rates at their highest point in history and every day's delay meaning huge additions to operating costs, practically every sailing ship to leave Puget Sound in the last two months has gone to sea in violation of the new seamen's act as regards the required number of certified seamen. Three big windjammers loaded with lumber for Australia today are tugging at their anchors unable to sail. The American six-masted barkentine E. R. Sterling, largest of her type afloat, loaded with 2,500,000 feet of lumber, was ready to sail the middle of last week, but is still swinging idly here while the search for sailors is on.

SHORTAGE OF MEN.

Seattle, Tacoma, Everett and Portland have been combed in vain for a vessel still three men sort.

Steamships operating in the foreign trade are also facing a similar condition. Firemen, oilers and stewards department workers as well as seamen are hard to get on the Sound and in other North Pacific districts. When the American-Hawaiian liner was ready to sail from Tacoma for Vladivostok under charter to H. F. Ostrander of Seattle an average increase of $10 a month in wages had to be granted in order to retain the vessel's regular crew.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce has appealed to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to petition Washington, D. C., for relief. It asks the Seattle chamber to join in petitioning that the certified seamen requirement be suspended until conditions change. The Seattle Chamber has referred the question to its Foreign Commerce Committee.

The American schooner Blakeley of Port Blakeley Mill Company was towed from Port Blakeley to Port Townsend Monday and will remain there until she can get a crew. When she was taken to Port Townsend she did not have one sailor. The same condition has confronted the barkentine Lahaina, which loaded lumber in Bellingham. She was towed to Port Townsend Saturday and so far has not succeeded in signing a crew.

HONORED IN THE BREACH.

By permission of the customs department at Washington, the Sterling will be allowed to sail without the required number of certified seamen. Certified seamen seem to have disappeared completely, so far as concerns deep sea vessels.

The British bark Celticburn, which loaded grain in Tacoma for the United Kingdom, lost three and a half weeks in looking for a crew. She was ready to sail March 15. She did not get away from Tacoma until the first of this week, being towed down the Strait of Juan de Fuca, yesterday. The Celticburn is manned by a motley aggregation of "pick-ups."

Other vessels which have just left the Sound experienced the same trouble in getting men, all the ships being delayed from a week to three weeks. The same conditions prevail on the Columbia River.

Great difficulty is also being encountered in getting crews for the ships Charles E. Moody and M. J. Fuller, of the Northwest Fisheries Company, which are now loading lumber under charters for Australia. The Fuller finished loading today in Everett and the Moody is loading in Tacoma.

The shortage in seamen has brought out the fact that many sailors have been unable to pass the physical tests prescribed under the seamen's act. Deep sea masters are becoming convinced that the certified seaman belongs to the list of mythical beings, and that the plain, ordinary uncertified seaman is rapidly becoming extinct.

C. K. Magill, Sound agent of the American-Hawaiian line, has submitted to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce copies of letters that passed between the company's Seattle office and the San Francisco office in regard to Puget Sound situation. The company intended to send the steamship Floridian to the Sound, but will hold the vessel in San Francisco pending settlement of the question if it will be allowed to send the steamship to sea without the required number of certified seamen, providing it has made a bona-fide effort to get the certified men.

BRITAIN'S NEW WAR BUDGET "A GREAT PIECE OF WORK."

BY SIR GEORGE PAISH,

[ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, April 5.—Chancellor McKenna's new budget is a great piece of work. Its best point is that it follows the opinion of the country, neither anticipating nor trying to lead it. There is not a murmur of dissent from one end of Great Britain to the other.

It is also a tribute to the country's financial stability, making every present possible provision for repayment of the country's debt. It proves that, so long as we borrow here and not abroad, Great Britain will be able to continue the war indefinitely, even should it prove more drawn out than is anticipated.

The amount of the new budget sounds tremendous, but we must not be frightened by figures in such times as these. It is a matter of common knowledge that a nation's income naturally rises during war times; ours did enormously during the Napoleonic wars.

Prices rise and wages follow suit with a constant ability to pay increased taxation. I don't believe this budget will prove more burdensome to the great majority than did the old $1,000,000,000 budget. Beyond the fact that we are creating a class which later will derive large incomes from war loans, we will be able easily to maintain the war expenditure so long as the money is supplied by our own people. The chief effect will be that we will have to increase our standard of production afterward, which we will be able to do with the utmost benefit to ourselves.

As a free trader, I do not claim this budget was a free-trade triumph, but as a triumph founded on our economic necessities, which, incidentally, is always a basis of free-trade policy.

SWIFT PROGRESS MADE BY RUSSIANS IN PERSIA.

So Far the Turks Have been Unable to Make a Stand but Desperate Resistance is Expected at Hanikin Pass—Germans Assume Offensive in East and are Making a Flanking Move to Capture Riga.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD (via London,) April 5.—Although there has been no recent official news concerning the developments on the Caucasus front it has been learned from private sources that the Russian armies beyond Erserum and in Persia are progressing swiftly and that the Turkish forces are offering only occasional resistance.

It is evident that the Russian troops advancing through Persia to the Mesopotamia frontier have not yet met the main Turkish forces. These, consisting of the Bagdad divisions and reinforcements, went southward after the fall of Bitlis and Mush, are reported to be assembling in the Hanikin Pass, and when the Russians reach this point they will be confronted no longer by mountain bands and remnants of broken and demoralized divisions, but with the full strength of the organized Turkish army. Therefore, although an ultimate junction with the British forces is not doubted here, it is not supposed that this consummation of the Russian plans will be easily reached.

GERMANS TAKE OFFENSIVE.

The German forces have passed quickly to a general offensive along the entire northern front in Russia, their attacks reaching the highest intensity in the Riga region, where the preliminary skirmishes have developed into a steady assault, supported by the heavy artillery. The Germans, however, have been unable to gain territory by frontal attack against the strong Russian positions, and now are attempting to flank the Riga positions from the southeast.

From the other points on the front there is little to report except a continuation of mining operations and aeroplane warfare.

DELIBERATELY TORPEDOED, FRENCH SUSSEX VERDICT.

Graphic Account of Wreck of British Channel Steamer is Contained in Report by Rear-Admiral Grasset of General Staff—Pieces of Missile Said to Have been Found and Given to American Delegation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A graphic account of the wreck of the British channel steamer Sussex, with the assertion that the vessel was deliberately torpedoed and without warning by an enemy submarine, is contained in a report by Rear-Admiral Grasset to the French General Staff, made public here tonight by the French Embassy.

The report, dated at Boulogne March 30, says:

"In conformity with your instructions I proceeded to Boulogne, where I conducted an inquiry relative to the attack on the Sussex. On March 24, the Sussex, belonging to the State Railway Company and running the regular service between England and France, left Folkestone at 1:25 p.m. for Dieppe. This boat carried about 325 passengers of all nationalities, a great number of these being women and children, as well as the Indian mails. This approximate figure is given by the captain; according to the company there were 383 passengers. The officer in charge of the control of tickets was severely wounded and taken to Dover. He is not in a fit state to furnish particulars. She was not possessed of any armament. The crew consisted of fifty-three men.

"Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the captain, who was on the bridge, saw before the port beam some 150 meters away the track of a torpedo. It was 2:50 p.m.; the time of the disaster being exactly registered by the stopping of the clocks on board the vessel.

GERMANY WANTS PEACE, NORWEGIANS INFORMED.

CHRISTIANIA (via London) April 6, 12:59 a.m.—"Germany is ready to make peace, and the Chancellor has said officially that any reasonable peace proposal will be considered," said Dr. Michahelles, the new German Ambassador to Norway, in a morning newspaper. "It is our antagonists who want to fight to the bitter end," the Ambassador adds.

Discussing the recent developments in the submarine warfare, Dr. Michahelles says: "From the point of view of the neutrals there has been no change in Germany's submarine policy. It is still Germany's aim to make proper allowances for the rights of neutrals."

The newspapers commenting on the Ambassador's statement with regard to submarines say that he thus seeks to allay the anti-German feeling which has been rapidly rising in Norway recently owing to the losses to Norwegian shipping. According to the newspapers eleven Norwegian ships have been torpedoed without warning in the past few days, and in the disasters twenty Norwegian sailors have lost their lives.

The following editorial from (name of newspaper deleted by censor,) is characteristic of the utterances of other leading papers:

"Germany, in the past year, has received numerous notes from President Wilson. It is evident that she has no more fear of little Norway than of Great America and feels safe in her encroachments upon our small nation, which only wants to live in peace.

"She may be making a mistake, however, for it may be of importance during the last desperate struggle whether neutral nations look with trust or spite toward Germany."

MISSION IS ACHIEVED, PRESIDENT BELIEVES.

Administration's Concern About the Military Situation at Home is Probably Father of the Conviction that the American Punitive Expedition in Mexico has All but Completed its Task.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 4.—Cessation of the pursuit of Villa and withdrawal of American troops from Mexico are under consideration by the President and his advisers.

Some of the officials of the administration feel that the main object of the expedition into Mexico has been achieved, in spite of the failure to capture the bandit leader. His troops have been disintegrated after two gruelling engagements. He himself is fleeing to the south for the purpose of drawing the American forces deeper and deeper into Mexico and thus increasing the likelihood of irritating the Carranzistas to the point of war with the United States. A fugitive, without any but personal attendants, the Carranza government now should be able to arrest and punish him.

MILITARY SITUATION.

The administration also is concerned about the military situation. It is obvious that Gen. Funston at El Paso must not only maintain a sufficient force along the frontier to prevent any incursions from Mexico, but that he must protect Gen. Pershing's line of communications. It is a startling fact, one well worthy of the consideration of those opposed to preparedness, that there remain in the United States only 5000 soldiers and they cannot be assigned to Mexico because they are needed for the preservation of peace and order in our own country under certain possible eventualities. Gen. Funston cannot afford to permit a disaster to American troops in Mexico and this probably would occur should small detachments be sent away from proper supports.

The President is highly gratified over the conduct of Gen. Carranza up to this time. He realizes the tremendous difficulties the President de facto has had in preventing his forces from joining Villa in opposing the American invasion. He understands that if American troops remain too long in Mexico the impression will grow in the Mexican mind that the United States in fact is preparing to effect an occupation of the country. This will add to Gen. Carranza's embarrassment. It is to avoid anything of the kind that some of the President's advisers feel that consideration should be given to the advisability of terminating the pursuit of Villa. Such action would not be proposed had Villa forces remained intact, but they have been dispersed with the loss of a large number in killed and wounded. To escape further losses they have been compelled to form into small bands which cannot possibly resist Carranza troops hereafter. Villa himself has left them to resist, promising that he would return with a large army. But he has only one thing in mind, according to the latest reports, and that is to save his own skin, even at the expense of the men who have hitherto followed him.

GEOGRAPHICAL LIMIT.

It is evident that American troops cannot pursue Villa into Southern Mexico, the place where he is seeking refuge. Under such circumstances, it is declared to be the part of wisdom to rely now on Carranza to arrest him. Villa is rapidly reaching that part of Mexico which Carranza controls. The movements of the bandit consequently will be notified to the representatives of the "First Chief" and they ought to be able to overtake and seize him. As a matter of fact the administration believes this would be the best solution of the situation. It would be exceedingly awkward for American troopers to take Villa prisoner.

The disposition of the President under such circumstances would be to turn the Mexican leader over to the Carranzistas. They promptly would shoot him. This, however, might cause a great deal of comment among the pacifists in the United States. If Villa were to be brought to this country, however, then the Carranza leaders would be inclined to resent it. It is, of course, difficult for President Wilson to give the order to cease the pursuit of Villa. The general belief is that he will do so only when Gen. Funston shall report that Villa is so far south that the American forces cannot reach him. Secretary Baker, who has grasped administration affairs with gratifying quickness, is placing all the resources at his disposal behind Gen. Funston.

Because of the delay in getting control of the single track railroad, which could serve as a means of communication with the column of Gen. Pershing, he today announced that $300,000 would be immediately expended on motor trucks and automobiles.

The vehicles will be shipped at once to Gen. Funston. They will be placed in service in Mexico and will make control of the railroad unnecessary. In any case, it is stated, only one small train a day could have been provided by possession of the railroad. The motor trucks and automobiles will give quicker service.

STEADFAST PURPOSE.

The President is little concerned about the criticism which he will suffer should he withdraw from Mexico without having captured Villa. He announced that he would not permit the use of troops for this purpose to be transformed into intervention. He is determined to abide by his original decision.

Carranza has been assured of this intention and is relying on it. It would greatly relieve the President's situation should Carranza succeed in arresting Villa for then there would not be a moment's hesitation in ordering every American soldier to return to his own country. It is believed that Carranza understands this and that he will spread a net in which Villa will enmesh himself.

The administration feels that the expedition into Mexico will have results of great importance to the security of the United States in future. It has shown, according to the authorities, that the President was justified in recognizing Carranza, for his ability to control his followers has been demonstrated under most trying circumstances. The Mexicans also have been taught that the American soldier also is to be respected instead of being despised and this will insure a healthy condition of Americans in the future and prevent a repetition of border raids. So, even if Villa should not be immediately captured, the President and his advisers belief there has been substantial gain from the operations of Gen. Funston's forces.

GERMANY'S VIEW OF THE FUTURE.

Hollweg Blames Enemies for Continuance of War.

Ridicules Report of Designs Against United States.

Declares Teutonic Nation Can Never be Destroyed.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, April 5 (via Sayville.)—In his most comprehensive speech since the war began the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, in the Reichstag, today reviewed the military and political situations, the use of various means of warfare and the German-American relations.

The Chancellor turned to the subject of eventual conditions of peace after a brief reference to the entrance of Portugal into the war. He pointed out that in his speech of September 9 he had declared readiness to enter into discussion of peace, but that then, as now, Germany's enemies declined.

"Let us suppose I suggest to Mr. Asquith to sit down with me at a table and examine the possibilities of peace," he continued, "and Mr. Asquith begins with a claim of definitive and complete destruction of Prussia's military power. The conversation would be ended before it began. To these peace conditions only one answer would be left, and this answer our sword must give.

"If our adversaries want to continue the slaughter of human beings and the devastation of Europe theirs will be the guilt and we shall have to stand it as men."

A PERSONAL TOUCH.

The Chancellor introduced a personal touch in the following passage:

"When I was last at headquarters I stood with the Emperor at a place to which I had accompanied him one year previously. The Emperor remembered this, and, deeply moved, pointed out the enormous changes that had taken place since that time. Then the Russians were on the ridge of the Carpathians. At Gorlice we had just begun to break through the enemy's lines, and Hindenburg's powerful offensive had just been started. Now we are deep in Russia.

"The British and French at that time had attacked Gallipoli and were hoping to arouse the Balkans against us. Now the Bulgarians stand firmly on our side. Then we were engaged in the defensive Champagne battle, and now, at the Emperor's word, resound the cannon in the Verdun battle. Deep gratitude to God, to the army and to the nation filled the Emperor's heart."

"Our enemies wish to destroy united, free Germany," the Chancellor went on. "They desire that Germany shall be again as weak as during past centuries a prey of all lusts of domination of her neighbors and the scapegoat of Europe, beaten back forever in the dominion of economic evolution, even after the war. That is what our enemies mean when they speak of definitive destruction of Prussia's military power.

"And what is our intention? The sense and aim of this war is for us the creation of a Germany so firmly united, so strongly protected, that no one ever will feel the temptation to annihilate us, that every one in the world will concede to us the right of free exercise of our peaceful endeavors. This Germany, and not the destruction of other races, is what we wish. Our aim is the lasting rescue of the European continent, which is now shaken to its very foundations."

WISH FOR THE FUTURE.

The Chancellor outlined what Germany wished that Europe should be in the future.

"This new Europe," he said, "in many respects cannot resemble the past. The blood which has been shed never will be repaid, and the wealth which has been destroyed can only slowly be replaced. But howsoever this Europe may be, it must be for the nations that inhabit it a land of peaceful labor. The peace which shall end this war shall be a lasting peace. It must not bear the germ of new wars, but must provide for all peaceful arrangement of European questions."

The Chancellor declared that England wished an end of the war after peace, but wanted then to continue the commercial war with double violence, adding:

"First, the British endeavor to destroy our military and then our economic policy. Everywhere there is brutal lust of destruction and of annihilation and impious will, in an unbounded lust of domination to cripple a nation of 70,000,000 people."

As to colonial questions, the Chancellor quoted Bismarck to the effect that the fate of colonies was decided on the continent. He asserted that Germany's enemies now were actively engaged in inventing new formulas in order to maintain the spell of illusion, hatred and deception which binds them.

"Of all the nations in the war," he continued, "only Germany has been threatened by her enemies and by their responsible spokesmen with annihilation, with partition of her realm, with destruction of her essential political and economic forces, no matter whether they call them Prussianism or militarism or barbarism. The forces which before the war bound together the anti-German coalition were lust of conquest, lust of revenge and jealousy against German competition in the world's markets. During the war they have remained powerful with the governments of our enemies in spite of all defeats.

"This is still the object and aim of the war alike in Petrograd, Paris and London."

"To this we oppose that Germany in this war had only one aim—namely to defend herself; to maintain her existence; to hold her enemies back from the German frontiers, and whenever their lust of destruction had shown itself, to drive them back as quickly as possible.

"We did not want this war. We felt no desire to change our frontiers when the war began against our will. We threatened no nation with annihilation of her existence or with destruction of her national life."

The Chancellor pointed out the roots of Germany's present strength, saying:

"And what gives us this force to conquer and overcome the difficulties caused by the interruption of our overseas trade, and on the front, numerically superior enemies, who can really believe that greed of land inspires our columns at Verdun and makes them accomplish every day new deeds of heroism? Or shall a nation which gave to the world so many valuable intellectual and useful gifts, which during forty-four years loved peace more than all the others—shall this nation overnight be transformed into barbarians and Huns?

"No, gentlemen. These are the inventions of the evil consciences of those who are guilty of the war and are now fearing for their power and influence in their own countries."

AS TO BELGIUM.

With respect to the intentions of Germany in the case of Belgium, the Imperial Chancellor said:

"We must create real guarantees that Belgium never shall be a Franco-British vassal; never shall be used as a military or economic fortification against Germany. Also, in this respect, things cannot be what they were before. Also here Germany cannot sacrifice the suppressed Flemish race but must assure for them a sound evolution which corresponds to their rich natural gifts, which is based on their mother tongue and follows their national character.

"We want neighbors who do not form coalitions against us, but with whom we can collaborate and who collaborate with us to our mutual advantage. Remembrance of the war still will echo in the sadly-tried Belgian country, but we shall never allow that this will be a new source of wars—shall not allow it in our mutual interests."

OUTSIDE PROBLEMS.

The Chancellor also spoke of the questions presented in relation to the principle of nationality, considering the Polish, Lithuanian, Livonian, Belgian and Flemish problems. He insisted upon the necessity of guaranteeing the peace of Europe after the war, and also of securing this result by giving to these races opportunity of free evolution along the lines of their natural individualities and mother tongues.

At the conclusion of his address the Chancellor elicited great applause by saying:

"The spirit of unión shall lead us, as it shall lead our children and grand-children, through the struggle of their fathers, towards a future of strength and liberty."

The Chancellor began his address with a review of the military situation. He stated that since his last speech in the Reichstag the Dardanelles enterprise had ended as a failure, that the Serbian campaign, with the assistance of Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria, had been brought to a victorious conclusion, and that Montenegro and Albania likewise were now in the hands of Germany's allies; that the British attempt to relieve Kutel-Amara, in Mesopotamia, had been in vain; that the Russians, although they had succeeded in occupying Erzerum with superior forces, had found their advance checked by strong Turkish forces; that Russian attacks against the front in East Galicia and Italian attacks against the Isonzo positions had been beaten back. Moreover, he said, the Russians had driven columns against the German lines, but their assaults had broken down before Field Marshal von Hindenburg and his heroes.

The Chancellor declared that enemy reports that the German military force had been expended were proved erroneous by the Verdun battle.

STARVATION PLAN.

Discussing attempts which he said were being made to starve Germany, Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg continued:

"I understand that in 1915 our enemies would not give up this hope, but I do not understand how their heads, after the experiences of 1915, can cling to it. Our enemies forget that, thanks to the organizing powers of the whole nation, Germany is equal to the task of the distribution of food supplies.

"Our enemies forget that in cases in which there is a real shortage the German nation is able to make use of moral reserves which enable us to lower our standard of life, which has risen remarkably during the last decades. What would it mean, for instance, if the consumption of meat should temporarily be lowered to the level of the '70's?"

Conditions of life in Germany were not easy, the Chancellor continued, but the difficulties were being met in admirable fashion by the entire nation, especially the poorer classes.

"We shall not run short of anything in the future, as we have not done in the past," he said.

The Chancellor declared it was the intention of Germany's enemies to extend the war to the women and children of this nation by starving them, and that for this purpose Great Britain and her allies have interfered with the trade of neutrals.

"The American note of November 5, 1915, gave an exact description of British violations of the nations' laws," he continued, "but as far as I know it has not been answered up to this day.

"No fair-minded neutral, no matter whether he favors us or not, can doubt our right to defend ourselves against this war of starvation, which is contrary to international law. No one can ask us to permit our arms of defense to be wrested from our hands. We respect legitimate rights of neutral trade and commerce, but we can expect that our duty be recognized—to use all means against this policy of starvation, which is a jeering insult not only to all laws of nations, but also to the plainest duties of humanity."

THE AMERICAN REPORT.

Continuing, the Chancellor said:

"The latest offspring of the calumniating campaign directed against us is a report that we, after the end of this war, shall rush against the American continent and that we shall attempt to conquer Canada.

"This is the silliest of all the imputations invented against us. Equally silly are the reports that we contemplate the acquisition of any territory on American soil, as in Brazil, or any American country whatsoever.

"We fought for our existence and for our future. For Germany and not for space in a foreign country are Germany's sons bleeding and dying on the battlefield.

"Every one among us knows this, and it makes our hearts and nerves strong. This moral force strengthens our will in order not only to weather the storm, but also to achieve final victory."

Regarding the Polish question and the nationalities in general, the Chancellor said:

"Neither Germany nor Austria-Hungary intended to touch the Polish question, but the fate of battles brought them in contact with it. Now this problem stands before the world and needs to be solved. Germany and Austria-Hungary must and will solve it. History will not admit that after such earthquakes things will ever become what they were before.

"After the war there must be a new Belgium.

"Mr. Asquith mentions the principle of nationality. If he puts himself in the position of his unconquered and unconquerable adversary, can he really suppose that Germany ever shall of her own free will deliver into the hands of reactionary Russia the nations between the Baltic and the Volhynian swamps, who have been freed by her and by her allies—no matter whether they are Poles, Lithuanians or Livonians?"

Some Officials Doubt the First Chief's Sincerity.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In the absence of further news of fighting in Mexico between the American forces and Villa bandits, attention of officials here today centered upon the diplomatic aspects of the punitive expedition.

Information of the War and State departments regarding use of the Mexican railways to ship supplies to Gen. Pershing was conflicting. The War Department had no reports indicating that Carranza authorities at Juarez had received orders to accept shipments from Gen. Funston. Secretary Lansing at the State Department, however, said he understood such orders had been issued. Mr. Lansing also said he thought the difficulty was physical, not political, and was due largely to the disorganized condition of rolling stock and road bed of the Mexico Northwestern.

SUSPECT CARRANZA.

Some officials still were inclined to connect the delay in permitting use of the railroad with a desire on the part of Carranza to see the American soldiers back on their own territory. Already, it is understood, de facto government officials on the border have made informal inquiries as to how much longer the expedition will remain in Mexico and how much farther southward it expects to penetrate. As legally the United States now is pursuing a "hot trail" it would occasion no great surprise here if Carranza should suggest soon that the trail had gotten "cold," and question the propriety of the United States proceeding farther.

MORE TRUCKS ORDERED.

Immediate necessity for lengthening Gen. Pershing's lines of communications caused Secretary Baker to send telegraphic orders today for 108 more motor trucks and two gasoline tanks. There already are six companies with 162 cars engaged in lines from Columbus. Secretary Baker stated that he was perfectly satisfied that under existing conditions of the present campaign plans the motor service was adequate, without using the railways.

Gen. Funston forwarded a message from Gen. Pershing stating that the latter conferred Monday at Providencia with Col. Dodd. Providencia is about thirty miles north of Guerrero and only twenty miles beyond the southernmost end of motor communication lines at Namiquipa. Officials believe Gen. Pershing is at the front of the advance lines and that the expedition is engaged in combing the country about Guerrero without proceeding in strength farther to the south.

VILLISTA LEADERS ANXIOUS TO QUIT.

REYES SEEKS ADVANTAGE OF AMNESTY GRANT.

Band of Outlaw's Supporters has Completely Alienated His Cause in Neighborhood of Sombrerete by Wrecking a Passenger Train—City of Torreon is Reported Quiet.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TORREON (Mex.) April 5.—Efforts to arrange the surrender under an amnesty grant of Gen. Canuto Reyes and other Villista leaders of the Torreon district are being hastened. Meanwhile it is reported that a band of Villa supporters has completely alienated the bandit's cause in the neighborhood of Sombrerete by wrecking a passenger train.

This took place last Thursday, several people being killed. Sombrerete lies between Durango City and Canitas on a branch of the Mexican Central Railroad.

Following Gen. Reyes's offer to make peace with the Carranzistas, on the ground that he was weary of useless bloodshed, Gen. Trevino, military commander here, named a peace commission to confer with the chieftain. This commission returned today from a meeting with Reyes, reporting that no agreement had been reached. Gen. Trevino immediately ordered it to return to another conference.

Gen. Reyes wishes six weeks in which to notify all his followers. Gen. Trevino will insist, however, that all the Villa leaders must surrender inside a ten-day limit and that he will deal with them individually.

Hilario Rodriguez and a number of less important generals are with Reyes and are expected to come in with him if terms are agreed on.

After several days' interruption train service has been resumed between here and Durango. It is believed here that the bandits who wrecked the train near Sombrerete were remnants of the Argumedos Zapatistas.

Torreon is quiet.

ficer, who were on the bridge also, distinctly saw the torpedo.

"With great presence of mind the captain ordered the helm hard aport, and stopped the starboard engine in order to avoid the torpedo by turning to starboard. These two orders were executed immediately, as is proved by the statements of the engineers of the watch.

"The ship was beginning to swing off, when, eight seconds after the torpedo had been seen, a terrific explosion took place, throwing up an enormous column of water. Calculating from the distance at which the torpedo first had been seen and the time which passed before the explosion, the speed of the torpedo must have been thirty-six knots, the normal speed of a torpedo.

"The ship was cut in two opposite the bridge; the afterpart, thanks to the solidity of the bulkheads, continued to float.

"On deck several passengers who happened to be on the port side saw the torpedo when quite close to the ship; one of them even telling his neighbor to 'look at that great fish swimming toward the ship.'

"Everybody who happened to be in the bows disappeared with that portion of the ship, which was engulfed; among others the passengers on the foredeck and in the first-class saloon. The men of the crew who were in the forecastle, the look-out in the bows and the lookout in the crow's nest on the foremast also disappeared.

"The captain, who had been knocked down by the column of water resulting from the explosion, ordered the crew to their emergency stations. The firemen and engineers went to their stations after having stopped the port engine and closed the draught plates of the furnaces. At the same time the wireless operator tried to send out distress signals, but without success, the antennae having fallen with the foremast. The crew proceeded to their stations to launch the lifeboats and rafts (there were six lifeboats capable of carrying 184 persons, twenty-two rafts capable of carrying 264 persons, and in addition 816 life belts.)

"A number of pieces of the torpedo were found on board the Sussex, some of them having been handed over to the American delegation which had proceeded to Boulogne, the others will be forwarded to the Ministry of Marine by the maritime authorities.

"The submarine which torpedoed the Sussex could not be ignorant of the fact that she was attacking the mail packet of the regular cross channel service between England and France; not only are the outlines of these boats well known to all sailors, but the course of the Sussex and the time of her crossing were clearly indicative of her service. It is therefore obviously a premeditated attack on an unarmed merchant ship, carried out without the slightest warning.

"One last fact shows up still more clearly the premeditated and contemptible character of the submarine's operations. A boat was dispatched at 8 p.m. to the Colbart lightship to announce the catastrophe. This boat arrived at the lightship at 11:45 p.m.; her crew was picked up by a British torpedo-boat destroyer at 2 o'clock in the morning. During the transshipment a torpedo was fired at the destroyer and passed a few meters astern of her. This fact has been confirmed by the British Admiralty. Judging by the course covered by this boat the lightship must have been at most six or seven miles from the Sussex.

"It follows that the submarine must have remained in the neighborhood of the Sussex in order to torpedo any ship which might come to the rescue of her victims."

AMERICANS IN PARIS DENOUNCE GERMANS.

PARIS, April 5.—The American Chamber of Commerce of Paris today sent the following cable to President Wilson:

"In defiance of what the Declaration of Independence calls 'a decent respect to the opinions of mankind,' in violation of every principle of humanity, moral and legal; in the face of repeated admonitions, remonstrances and solemn warnings on the part of the United States, the German government, like an assassin in the night, treacherously, without notice, has again struck down unarmed merchant and passenger ships, sending scores of helpless men, women and children to their deaths.

"On behalf of humanity we demand that this intolerable situation shall cease. On behalf of our fellow-citizens, murdered and maimed on the Englishman and on the Sussex, we protest against continuance of diplomatic relations with a government whose blood madness, ferocity and lawlessness have brought upon it the execration of the whole civilized world.

GAVIRA REPORTS VILLA WOUNDED.

Considerable Mystery Involved in the Juarez Plot.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) April 5.—The story that Francisco Villa is wounded and that his capture is imminent, was asserted again tonight by Gen. Gavira, the Carranza commander, at Juarez.

Gen. Gavira made public a telegram which he said he had received from Gen. Bertani at Madera stating positively that the bandit had been shot and was in hiding somewhere between Bachiniva and Satevo.

The message is confirmatory of reports from American headquarters that Villa definitely was located heading toward Satevo. While the story that he is wounded is still accepted here with considerable reserve, it is pointed out that several days have elapsed since the fugitive was reported in the neighborhood of Satevo, on his way to Parral, and that nothing has been heard since of his movements. If Villa was in full possession of his health and traveling at his usual speed of forty or more miles a day he should have reached and passed Parral by this time, a fact which could hardly escape being reported.

Bachiniva is located on the eastern side of the continental divide, about thirty miles from Guerrero, with which it is connected by the famous Bachiniva pass. It is through this pass that all accounts agree Villa made his way after the defeat of his followers by Col. Dodd near Guerrero. From Bachiniva to Satevo the trail runs about seventy miles through a broad, well-watered and fertile valley to Satevo. On either side of the valley, however, there stretches for many miles the wildest mountain wastes in Mexico, an almost ideal country for a fugitive. To thoroughly search this district would take weeks, according to Americans who are familiar with it.

Considerable mystery is involved in the condemnation to death of the three ringleaders of the alleged plot to seize Juarez and their sudden reprieve at midnight by Gen. Gavira. Both Gen. Gavira and Consul Garcia have alternately described the plot as that of Villistas and Diazistas. As the Villistas and Diazistas, or Felizistas, as they are sometimes called, represent opposite ends of the pole in Mexican politics, Villa being the so-called champion of the peons and Felix Diaz representing the cientificos, or property and clerical classes, there is a good deal of speculation in El Paso as to the details of the plot.

The Mexican officials refuse to discuss the matter. The plot was supposed to have been hatched in El Paso, but the American local authorities deny any knowledge of it. Fifteen Mexicans suspected of being Villistas were arrested here today and are being held for investigation.

MORE TRUCKS FOR FUNSTON.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) April 5.—Gen. Funston was advised by the War Department today that his request for more automobile trucks had been granted and, while the addition of 108 more trucks to those already carrying supplies along the line of communications to the troops in Mexico will serve to relieve the situation, staff officers here still regarded the use of the railroads from El Paso as essential to the success of the campaign against Villa. With 6000 horses and mules to feed every day and approximately that many men, the Quartermaster's Department realized the difficulties with which it had to contend.

No reports from Gen. Pershing as to operations south of Namiquipa were received and officers here are lacking details of the skirmish between Col. Brown's cavalry and Villa's men on April 1.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

AMERICAN TROOPS ARE NEARLY NAKED.

COLUMBUS (N. M.) April 5.—Three weeks of man hunting through the desert and mountains of Chihuahua has totally changed the physical appearance of the smart cavalrymen who crossed the border under Col. George A. Dodd near Culberson's ranch. A vivid picture of the soldiers as they were four days ago was brought to Columbus today in the arrival from the front of a truck train which carried supplies to Col. Dodd's command.

Men whose shoes have been macerated by the stones of the mountains and sands of the desert are wearing Mexican sandals and sandals made from the hides of beeves slaughtered for their meat. Men whose clothing has been torn into shreds by brushes with mesquite and cactus are wearing such clothing as could be obtained from Mexicans living along the route, according to the stories told.

Substantiating these stories a message came to military headquarters from Gen. Pershing today requesting that the extra kits containing extra clothing of the soldiers of the Seventh and Tenth Cavalry regiments, the two regiments at the extreme front, be rushed to them at once.

A truck train under the command of Capt. C. B. Drake, consisting of twenty-seven trucks, went to within seven miles of Guerrero, its crew being the first Americans to meet the troopers of the Seventh Cavalry after their engagement at that town.

THE FRENCH MENACE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GRAND HEADQUARTERS (dispatch to The Cologne Gazette,) April 3.—An officer just returned from the firing lines near the village and fort of Vaux told me some days ago that the very effective defensive positions of the French in the quarries on the northern slope of the ravine which runs between the heights of Fort De Vaux on the south and Hill No. 349 on the north threatened a serious obstruction to our advance.

In the eastern part of this ravine lies the village of Vaux. At that time we had already taken possession of all but the western end of the village. The cannon and machine guns posted in these quarries flanking our positions at Fort De Vaux we had not yet been able to capture.

According to the German army report of April 2 we captured the enemy's flanking positions northwest and west of Vaux village on March 31, although this success was not reported until Sunday. The expected French counter-attack Sunday was flung back with heavy losses, giving us a complete victory. It is presumable that the French positions in the quarries are among the flanking positions mentioned.

With that fact in view the importance of the victory becomes manifest. That we also captured the remaining western portion of the village of Vaux is evident from the official reports of Saturday afternoon.

Today the German report shows that the French defenses before Verdun are still steadily crumbling away. Before our offensive these extended the entire length of Forges Brook from the Meuse to Haucourt and Malancourt.

After our attack of March 7, which forced the retirement of the enemy from the Meuse to Bethincourt, the French still held the line from Bethincourt to Malancourt. Now Malancourt has fallen, together with the rest of the old positions between there and Bethincourt. This latter village, which counted about 380 inhabitants before the war and lies in the depths of the valley, appears to be the last point of the original French front to the north of Verdun still remaining in the hands of the enemy.

CECIL EXPLAINS ORDER IN COUNCIL.

LONDON, April 5.—Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, in response to a query by Commander Carlyon Bellairs, member for Maidstone, in the House of Commons today said that the object of the new order in council with reference to the blockade was to declare that the doctrine of continuous voyage applied in its full extent to absolute and conditional contraband. Hitherto conditional contraband could only be captured if it was destined for the armed forces of a hostile power.

In order completely to establish the identity of the two kinds of contraband the government proposed, Lord Robert said, to issue an official list of contraband articles, absolute and conditional, so that neutral countries would have notice that goods consigned to a person in a neutral country known to have previously sent contraband goods to a hostile belligerent would be liable to capture.

As the war progressed, Lord Robert added, it became clear that there were articles which had not been included in the contraband list which ought to have been included. The list has been extended from time to time, he said, and there were a certain number of articles which it was proposed to add to the contraband list almost immediately.

WILSON DEFIED BY KING GEORGE

British Stand Like that Which Caused War in 1812.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—The political situation in this country of the latest instance of British defiance of the United States has upset the administration.

Great Britain has flatly refused to comply with the American demand to release forty persons of alien German, Austrian and Turkish nationality, who were removed by a British cruiser on February 10 from the American steamer China, sailing from Shanghai to San Francisco.

Great Britain has sent a note to the United States giving the reasons for its refusal to comply with the demand. In this note the British government informs the United States that it acted wholly within its right in removing from the American steamer persons suspected of being enemy subjects and asserts that the American demand for their return lacks warrant in international law.

Moreover, the British government makes it clear in its communication that it intends to exercise at all times its alleged right to remove suspected enemy subjects from American ships.

STRONG LANGUAGE USED.

On account of the defiant tone of the note the administration is trying to make the text public. Efforts are being made to induce the British government to modify the most objectionable features of the communication. It transpired today the British note caused considerable commotion at a Cabinet meeting yesterday. Before going to the White House to attend the meeting Secretary of State Lansing had issued instructions to give the British reply to the press during the day.

The note had been seen by the President previously, but not by members of the Cabinet other than Secretary Lansing. It was passed around the council table among other documents bearing upon foreign relations.

One member of the Cabinet who played a good bit of mental excitement when he read the terms in which England has responded to the American demand. He expressed astonishment that the administration intended to make it public.

PUBLICATION PREVENTED.

Thereupon several other members examined the document and expressed surprise. One observed that England seemed to be taking a course somewhat akin to its attitude on the impressment of seamen which was one of the causes of the war in 1812. Another expressed the opinion that the American people would take a firm stand at the note and would demand action against Great Britain.

After further discussion of the matter the Cabinet decided that it would be unwise to make the note public without making further efforts to obtain a modification of the British position.

Secretary of State Lansing was instructed to cable the American objections to the reply to Ambassador Walter Hines Page for presentation to the London government. Word was upon Mr. Lansing telephoned the State Department to withhold the note for publication.

LA FOLLETTE JOLT CHEERS.

t Victory of Henry Ford is Somewhat Puzzling.

Democrats Expect Wilson to Sound the Keynote.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—The news that Senator Robert La Follette had been repudiated by a majority of the Republicans of his own state to the Presidential primary elections yesterday brought a smile to the faces of Republicans in Congress today.
Supporters of Mr. La Follette say he is hit between two stools, that his opposition to preparedness had angered a large element among Progressive voters and refusal to defend openly the German cause had driven from him the support of many pro-German voters.
His opponent, Gov. Phillip, a conservative Republican, it is understood, ran a straight away campaign for protection and preparedness which left about the downfall of Mr. La Follette. As a result Gov. Phillip will lead the delegation to the Republican convention and old line Republicans are rejoicing.

SENATOR SMITH'S DEFEAT.

The reported defeat of Senator William Alden Smith by Henry Ford in Michigan is accepted as meaning the knell in that State of "the peace at any price" advocates, who rallied to the support of the automobile builder. This is explained in part by the powerful business prosperity of the manufacturing towns in Michigan, many of which are swamped under war orders from the allies. Regret at the result was general in the Senate when the House as well, in which body Senator Smith served before going to the Senate.
Significance is attached, too, to the vote for the "Progressive" ticket cast by Col. Roosevelt in elections held in New York. This is accepted as a warning from the colonel that the "Progressive" vote must be reckoned with by the Republicans in their convention at Chicago and that the "Progressive" party spirit is not dead despite the general rumors there is to be a enthusiastic get-together gathering at Chicago in June.

CHICAGO VOTE MEANS LITTLE.

Republican leaders claimed to attach little importance to the Democratic victory in Chicago. This they say was offset by Republican victories in Kansas City, Mo., and Hartford, Ct. They claim that local conditions bringing about party splits, occurred both in Chicago and in Kansas City, but neither can be followed as a guide to determine results in the national elections.
Political gossip turned easily to the subject of the defeat of Senators La Follette and Smith on the results in the national convention. It is believed that Gov. Phillip will lean to the support of Senator Cummins, who has been in Wisconsin, but did not enter primaries in that State because friends expected Senator La Follette to win and they looked to La Follette to join with Cummins. Just how Michigan will go with Henry Ford in charge, should he have consented, is impossible for any politician even to guess. The business interests of the State are said to favor the regular Republican policies but what candidate they will get behind is uncertain.
Democratic leaders say they expect victories gains in the two States because of the factional fights that have developed among the Republicans and they are already preparing plans to embody their efforts in the campaign to be made there.

WAITING ON WILSON.

They are waiting for President Wilson to sound the keynote for the campaign. This is expected in his speech to be delivered here at the Jefferson banquet, April 12, to be given by the Democratic Council Club.
Democratic State chairmen from as far west as California and as far east as Vermont, New Hampshire and South Dakota, have accepted invitations to the banquet. The Democratic National Committee also is expected and the committee in charge, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Thompson, Clerk Brownlow and Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Vrooman declare today that it promised to be a most brilliant Democratic affair ever held in the country.
An invitation to President Wilson the guest of the evening will be Senator Walsh of Montana, representing the West; Senator Hollis of New Hampshire representing New England and Congressman Carter Glass of Virginia representing the South.

The present law confines the statistics to raw cotton. The Senate has not acted on the resolution.
Majority Leader Mann led the opposition to the resolution, which was championed by Representative Heflin. Mann insisted it would be unwise to publish statistics which would inform foreign nations of the country's ammunition reserve. Mr. Heflin declared that publication of such statistics would benefit cotton producers and declared that the Dupont Powder Company did not want the amount of cotton it used disclosed.

RATES ON SUGAR DECLARED TOO HIGH.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, April 5.—Carload rates on sugar from San Francisco and other California points to Montana and Idaho today were assailed as unreasonable and discriminatory by Montana distributors in a complaint to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The petitioners charge that rates to Montana points are in excess of rates from the same points in California to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha and many stations in North and South Dakota. The rates on sugar were explained by traffic men as necessary to meet market competition from the Gulf and the Atlantic seaboard. The necessity of acquiring traffic for the eastward flow of cars was also said to figure in the rate.

CHILD LABOR BILL REPORTED IN SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Favorable report on the House bill to bar products of child labor from interstate commerce was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate by a vote of six to five.
Senators who failed to have the bill referred to the judiciary committee for examination as to its constitutionality, are expected to renew their effort when it comes up for discussion in the Senate.

BUSINESS IS GOOD FOR THE EXPRESS MEN.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Returns of the great express companies to the Interstate Commerce Commission for December, 1915, show an increase of more than 400 per cent. over December, 1914, in net revenues available for dividend and interest on bonds.
The showing for the six months ending with December is even greater. The increase in net revenues rose $6,167,000 or more than 1400 per cent.

UNABLE TO COMPETE WITH CONVICT GOODS.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Laws forbidding interstate commerce in prison-made goods were urged today before the Senate Labor Committee by representatives of manufacturers, who declared they were unable to compete with convict labor. Chairman Page indicated the committee would favor legislation to force the contract system out of prisons where its benefits contractors by involuntary and uncompensated labor of convicts, but would not favor restricting penitentiaries based on the Michigan system in which the prisoner receives returns from his labor.

MANY RATE CASES TO BE DECIDED.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Hundreds of rate procedings which have been hanging fire in the Interstate Commerce Commission more than five years, are to be cleared up by an order issued today by the commission. A wide range of commodities on which the railroads ask relief from the long and short haul provisions of the rate law compose the bulk of the cases.
Many of these, in the belief of the commission, have been automatically disposed of by the railroads, but they remain unfinished in the commission's files. It is to clear away the accumulation that the commission called on the railroads today to state the status of each application as yet undisposed of.
"It will be the purpose of the commission," reads the order, "to set down for hearing as rapidly as possible the remaining applications of all carriers and they will be expected and required to present at the time of such hearings all of the defense they desire to submit."

NASHVILLE INQUIRY WILL BE RESUMED.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's investigation of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, which began early in 1914 and already has resulted in one report by the commission charging the road with expending millions of dollars in a campaign to influence public opinion and eliminate competition, will be resumed April 27, with hearings in Nashville before Chairman Meyer.
In announcing today the reopening of hearings the commission issued an order incorporating in the investigation the complaint filed with the commission by Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, charging various corrupt practices including improper financial relations between the road and other carriers. Senator Lea was author of the resolution on which the investigation was ordered by Congress, and in urging its adoption made in the Senate virtually the same charges as those on which his case filed personally with the commission was based.
The commission's report submitted to Congress in February of last year, after extended investigation forecast a further inquiry into the road's affairs, saying that among other things the commission considered it necessary to inspect the company's correspondence files and other official papers before a complete report could be submitted. An attempt to gain access to such papers at the previous hearings was carried unsuccessfully to the Supreme Court.

Sixty-fourth Congress.

SEES TROUBLE FOR AMERICA.

Senator Chamberlain Forecasts Conditions After the War.

Federal Volunteer Plan May be Adopted in Army Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Advocates of the Federal volunteer provision of the Senate army bill believed the section had been saved by a narrow margin when the Senate recessed tonight without having reached a vote on the Lee amendment to strike it out. Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Military Committee, asked again that action be deferred as one or two Senators still desired to be heard.
Debate on the volunteer provision lasted all day, champions of the National Guard supporting the amendment, occupying most of the time. In the closing hour, however, Senator Chamberlain vigorously defended the provision as vital to any military plan and denounced attempts of National Guard organizations to interfere with legislation. He was joined by Senators O'Gorman and Williams in warning the Senate that at the close of the European war the United States would need a great navy and an adequate army to back her demands upon the belligerent powers for indemnification for losses sustained through violations of her rights as a neutral.

SEES TROUBLE AHEAD.

"As surely as the sun rises tomorrow morning," Senator Williams said, "unless this country puts itself into a condition where it can resist and withstand bullying, we are going to be in trouble with the victor in this war, unless we surrender the positions we have taken and timidly submit to the rule which the victor may lay down for immunity or disclaimer."
"Self-preservation is the international code of the belligerents," said Senator O'Gorman, who contended that rights of neutrals had been invaded by all of the warring European powers.
"And protests of neutrals only will be regarded," he added, "if backed by sufficient power to enforce their demands."
"When this war is over," said Senator Chamberlain, "if we intend to demand recompense for American lives and property destroyed, if we are going to demand any satisfaction, then we ought to be prepared to back all our demands by force of arms if necessary. And in what condition are we? We have not the power to enforce a single demand we have made."
"We all know any proposal of any great nation for an alliance with the country south of us would be gladly received," said Senator Chamberlain. "Only this morning we read that one of the belligerents had asserted the doctrine that ships should not leave the ports of this country unless their manifests had been vised by her.
"How long is the United States going to tolerate indignities like this?"
"Is this country now at peace with all nations?" inquired Senator Vardaman.
"We are," replied Senator Chamberlain. "We are enjoying the peace of China now and every great nation that comes along may want to enjoy some of that peace. There is not an obligation entered into The Hague conference that has not been violated whenever it suited the notions of any of the signers to violate. If we can believe what we read, Holland even today is about to be invaded to suit the whims and emergencies of those engaged in the war, not because of anything that Holland has done, but because one or more of the belligerents sees a way to harass her enemies through the peaceful country."
Senator Chamberlain took up the question of sustaining the Monroe doctrine.
"You all know as well as I," he declared, "that colonization has already set in on the east coast of South America. You all know, or if you don't you can easily find out, that on the west coast colonization has set in by another warlike power.
"We may have to assert that doctrine again. But in order to assert it we must be prepared to maintain it with an adequate army and an adequate navy, too."

THE NAVY FIRST.

Senator Williams declared that while increasing the army was important, enlarging the navy was of first importance. The Senator said he would vote to increase any building programme that might be framed and favored such a navy by 1918 that it could meet and defeat any force that might be started against it.
"This war cannot last more than one or two years," he said. "If it lasts longer than that it will produce universal bankruptcy."
Senator Chamberlain's arraignment of the National Guard's activities was supported by Senators McCumber and Nelson, who called attention to telegrams from National Guard officials sent to many Senators urging them to vote against the Federal volunteer provision.
"If the National Guard intends to come here politically and undertake to control legislation calculated to protect America against the world," said the Oregon Senator, "I, for one, from now on shall favor the elimination of the National Guard as a military factor in this country. They have been here and are here for this purpose."
Senator Nelson declared that he never before had seen "such lobbying as these outside influences have brought to bear to defeat certain sections of this bill."

MAY INVESTIGATE GUARD.

Senator Sherman sought to introduce a resolution to investigate charges of lobbying. Senator Chamberlain said he would favor it when brought up in the regular way, but would not permit it to delay consideration of the army bill.
Senator O'Gorman and Senator Chamberlain both predicted that in the end the country must come to universal military training to solve its army problems. Both the Federalization of the militia and the volunteer scheme were experiments, Senator O'Gorman said, and should be tried as such.
Senator Cummins called attention to telegrams from the Military Training Camps Association, introduced by Senator Chamberlain today, urging that the volunteer provision be retained. He asked if these were not on a similar plane with the messages from National Guard officers to various Senators.
Senator Chamberlain disagreed. While he felt that every citizen had the right to appeal to Congress, he said, the National Guard movement had assumed the proportions of a definite, organized propaganda.
"The greatest danger of militarism there is in this bill," he said, "is in the political power we may be building up in the National Guard, the power we have already seen and felt here."
President Wilson urged several Senators who called at the White House today to speed up action on the army bill. He was assured everything possible was being done to hasten action. Senator Chamberlain again gave notice that he would object to any effort to consider other matters from now on and would insist on longer hours, if necessary, to get the measure through.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—Octavo Dun, a tenor with the Chicago Grand Opera Company, told the police today that when a woman brushed against him in a moving picture theater he recalled some trouble that befell Caruso in the monkey house of Central Park, New York, some years ago.
"He put his hand on me," Mrs. Ethel Deegan of No. 1743 Barry avenue told the police. She had caused the arrest of the tenor on a charge that he insulted her while they occupied adjoining seats in a Madison-street movie house.
"She nudged me and when I thought of that trouble Caruso had I took off my overcoat and laid it across my lap," Dun said. She nudged me again and when I shoved her away she had me arrested."
Dun was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct on Mrs. Deegan's signed complaint.

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
ST. CHARLES (Mo.) April 5.—Lacy Chandler, a negro, who Tuesday shot and seriously wounded Sheriff Dierker of St. Charles county, was slain by a posse near here this afternoon.
The negro was trapped in a hay loft of a barn. When he appeared at the door at the command of the mob many shots were fired at him and he ran back into the barn and set it on fire. As the barn burned he again ran to the door and fell dead as a volley of shots was fired.
Sheriff Dierker died this afternoon about two hours after the negro was killed.

ANOTHER LYNCHING.

KINSTON (N. C.) April 5.—Joseph Black, a negro, was taken from the Lenoir County Jail here early today by a mob of armed men and lynched. He was the father of 16-year-old William Black, who was removed last week from the Greene County Jail into the State prison in Raleigh to prevent a lynching. William Black is charged with criminal assault. Joseph Black was charged with having assisted his son to attempt to escape.

PRICE OF RAILS TO BE ADVANCED.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A historic event in the steel trade, an advance in the price of steel rails, is confidently expected in trade circles to take place shortly. The advance, according to a high trade authority, probably will amount to $5 a ton. The base price of rails has stood at $25 a ton for more than fifteen years.
Today Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, issued a statement saying that the rail-making subsidiaries of the corporation would maintain present prices until May 1, but would make no commitments beyond that date.

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

It salivates! It makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.
Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick, I want you to go back to the store and get your money.
Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

TWO NAVY MEN KILLED BY NEGRO.

NORFOLK (Va.) April 5.—C. E. Day, ordinary seaman from the battleship New Hampshire, and Charles Syronstom, a marine private from the naval hospital here, were shot and killed tonight by negro named George Carter. The negro escaped and had not been located up to a late hour. Many of the New Hampshire's sailors were ashore, and to guard against a riot the commanding officer sent detachments of marines to round them up.

MODJESKA IN COURT AGAIN.

Son of Famous Actress is Sued for Separate Maintenance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5. — For the second time in two years Ralph Modjeska, son of the famous actress, Helena Modjeska, and well-known bridge expert, is before the court in divorce proceedings. Two years ago his suit was dismissed, but this time it is Mrs. Relicia Magdah Modjeska who is suing for separate maintenance.

This afternoon Maryika Helena Modjeska, only daughter, took the stand and told of the various attempts she had made for a reconciliation. She was handed a letter in Polish from her father to translate and at the first words, "My darling Maryika," she burst into tears, and was unable to continue.

Judge McKinley looked at her sympathetically and ordered that an interpreter be found to translate the letter.

She testified that in January she went to his apartment at No. 5455 Hyde Park boulevard for tea in the hope that seeing her in his own home might bring him to a realization of his duty as a father. At that time a woman friend of hers and a young man were living in the apartment, it is said. Miss Modjeska refused a second invitation from her father.

"I could not go to his house," she declared, "and see another woman usurping the place that was my mother's, nor see strangers using the furniture that we had had so long in our home."

ANITA BALDWIN'S CUP ARTISTIC.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—The United States Patent Office yesterday issued to Anita M. Baldwin of Santa Anita, Cal., a patent on a design for an ornamental glass or metal cup. The design, which is extremely artistic, displays a bowl in the shape of a California poppy with undulating lip and overlapping petal sides merging into a slender stem. This stem is ornamented with tendrils which seem to be growing from the base, which is broad and almost flat and of about the same diameter as the bowl. Carved around one side of the base is a narrow banner, upon which an inscription may be placed. The cup is considered one of the most beautiful designs ever submitted to the Patent Office.

Many old settlers, who have waited for years for rail connections with the outside world, took advantage of the opportunity to ride on the train from Marshfield.

"When I settled here fifty years ago," said Capt. David Holden, as he purchased his ticket, "they told me a railroad was going to be built. I've waited ever since for this day."

INDIANA REPUBLICANS IN STATE CONVENTION.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) April 5.—Quincy A. Myers, former judge of the Supreme Court, who as temporary chairman of the Republican State Convention, delivered the keynote address of the 1916 campaign in Indiana here this afternoon, attacked the foreign and domestic policies of the national administration. The speaker praised Charles W. Fairbanks, Indiana's candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

"The nation," said the speaker, "has never in its history stood so low in the eyes of the world as in this year of grace, scorned abroad and with no fixed policy at home, the public revenues decreasing (except for the circumstances of a foreign war,) general expenditures and the cost of living increasing, and general distrust on every hand."

As patriots before partisans, Judge Myers said that the Republicans have sought so far as possible to uphold the hands of the President and have refrained from criticism "until our Democratic friends, apparently thinking we are acquiescent in the President's course with respect to our foreign relations, are asking the support of the country to continue the failure."

The convention will nominate two candidates for the United States Senate, a complete State ticket except Governor, and adopt a platform. Harry I. New and James E. Watson were unopposed for Senatorial nominations.

The Hocking and Genesee, which recently figured in an international dispute, when seized by the British Admiralty, are two of the new fleet, Mr. Milloy said. All the boats will come from Atlantic waters, and will add approximately 65,000 tons to the total now operating through the Golden Gate.

BOOKS "DOCTORED," EXPERT TESTIFIES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 5.—E. O. Heinrich, a handwriting expert of Tacoma, testified today before United States Commissioner Bowman that the work book of the assistant engineer of the Blue Funnel liner Calchas, on which $60,000 worth of opium was seized last autumn, had been altered to make it conform with previous testimony in the case against the Calchas, which was fined $26,000. After imposition of the fine Alfred Holt & Co. of London, operating the Calchas, filed a bond and obtained liberation of the vessel. The present proceedings grew out of the petition of Holt & Co., to obtain remission of the fine on the ground that the opium was placed on the ship notwithstanding every precaution taken by the officers.

After Fourteen Years of Service as Assistant Teller of a Water Company Mrs. Ella McGreer is Accused of Taking Concern's Money.

BERKELEY, April 5.—At the end of fourteen years of service as a teller and assistant cashier of the People's Water Company here, Mrs. Ella McGreer was arrested at her home today charged by the company with embezzling. The complaint was sworn to by John R. Hunter, auditor of the company.

"This is a thunderbolt out of a clear sky," said Mrs. McGreer. "Why didn't they notify me that they were going to arrest me?"

Mrs. McGreer is being held in the Berkeley City Prison. Bail was fixed at $1000. The actual amount named in the complaint is $84, but it was said $2800 was missing.

"I will make a statement that will make Oakland and Berkeley ring," continued Mrs. McGreer. "The water company will be sorry before it is through with this matter."

The alleged shortage was discovered, according to company officials, when the books were audited.

Mrs. McGreer was released tonight on a bond furnished by Mrs. H. L. Coggins, wife of a Berkeley contractor.

WESTERN PACIFIC CASE POSTPONED.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Judge William C. Van Fleet, of the United States District Court, granted a breathing spell until Friday today in the wrangle precipitated by the Equitable Trust Company of New York last Monday over his alleged disqualification to act further in the Western Pacific Railroad foreclosure suit. An affidavit by Lyman Rhoades, vice-president of the trust company, charged bias and prejudice on the part of Judge Van Fleet against the reorganization of the Western Pacific, and demanded the appointment by him of another judge.

Judge Van Fleet said it would be cowardly for him not to answer the charges and fixed today for the answer but his attorney asked for time to digest the charges, and it was granted over the objections of counsel for the Equitable Trust Company, who said that, legally, Judge Van Fleet had no choice but to certify the matter to the senior judge of the United States Circuit Court. Judge William B. Gilbert. Judge Van Fleet contended that he has the legal right to consider the allegations and to dismiss the request for another judge if he finds them legally insufficient.

He employed counsel, "it being a personal assault," he said, "in the light of which the court should not attempt to pass upon it by itself."

Judge Van Fleet added that he would certify it to the Circuit Court if the affidavit gave legal cause for such action.

He described the proceedings as "an unpleasant situation," which he was anxious to clear up rather than delay.

Secretary Jordan Explains Situation to County Clerks.

SACRAMENTO, April 5.—[illegible] 100,000 electors in California have been disfranchised by the Progressive primary election law passed at the extra session of the Legislature held here in January. Such is the information conveyed to the county clerks of the State in a circular letter sent to them today by Secretary of State Frank Jordan. In sending blank forms for the primary elections to be held Secretary Jordan calls attention to the fact that no ballots for either the Socialist or Prohibitionist parties are authorized. The Secretary's statement is as follows:

JORDAN'S STATEMENT.

"You will observe that there are no forms of ballot for the Socialist and Prohibition parties. Under the terms of the Presidential primary law no ballot can be printed if no names of nominees have been filed with the Secretary of State.

"I regret that this will result in the disfranchisement of several thousands of electors, and I question whether such disfranchisement was contemplated or permissible under the Constitution, but such is the letter of the act. I had intended to prepare a ballot for each party with a single blank column where the name of the delegates might be written in, but I find that this is not permissible under the law. I also regret that the names of the Socialist or Prohibition delegates were to be written in the blank spaces on the ballot of the other party they would have to be counted as votes for delegates to the convention of the party on whose ballot they would appear."

Ballots for but three parties, Republican, Democrat and Progressive, can be printed. Unless an elector declares his desire to affiliate with one of these parties he cannot take part in the May Presidential primary.

PROGRESSIVE LOGIC.

State Printer Telfer persisted today in declining to print copy prepared by Secretary Jordan showing the form of ballot recommended for the guidance of county clerks. He contended that a decision from the Attorney-General recites that the Secretary of State is not required by law to prepare such sample ballots. The argument used was that the cost of printing would not be a correct guide against the State. He then proceeded to use true Progressive logic in refusing to the Secretary of State a complete list of sample ballots for the Democratic and Progressive parties and a sample ballot for the Republican primary, which is a flagrant violation of the form prescribed in the Presidential primary law. He has but a Progressive can figure how the forms approved by the administration could be printed at State expense when the Attorney-General ruled that the form of sample ballot is prescribed by the primary act.

Secretary Jordan mailed to the county clerks the Democratic and Progressive ballot forms received from the State printer and a Republican primary ballot, in which the names of the fifty-two delegates are included in one no-preference column, but with a blank space seven-eighths of an inch wide between the [illegible] name on the Earl-Johnson list and that of Walter Bordwell, the first of the regular Republican list.

LAW DEFINED.

The form of ballot prepared by the State printer at the direction of the Board of Control departs [illegible] wholly from the form prescribed in the Presidential primary act. The letter of the act gives the following form for the head of the ballot: "For delegates to the national convention to vote for twenty-six and no more." But the form that comes from the State printer is headed: "For delegates to the national convention to vote for twenty-six only." It also omits over half the introduction contained in the sample ballot, which is a material part of the primary law and which must be included in toto in the form submitted by the Secretary of State.

This form was approved by the leaders of the Earl-Johnson [illegible] conference, who call themselves the United Republicans. It is a flagrant violation of the letter of the law on the reason that it arbitrarily cuts out statements which the law provides shall appear, and substitutes words which are not in the act. Not one word is added or omitted in the copy prepared by Secretary Jordan.

STATE MONEY USED.

The State pays for the printing of the Earl-Johnson rump convention ballot, but the form prepared by Secretary of State, following a custom of more than forty years standing, had to be set in a private office and the expense of printing will be borne by the Secretary of State personally.

Protests against disfranchisement have been coming to the Secretary of State by the score from Southern California. Prohibitionists and Socialists who assert their right as registered electors of the State to take part in the primary without being disfranchised as to the ticket which they shall vote. The act under which they are disfranchised is the one passed at the special session of the Legislature held in January and to which an election clause was attached so that it could not be suspended by referendary petition.

County Clerk Ed F. Pfund of Sacramento, Progressive, declared this afternoon that he will have the Sacramento county ballots printed in the form approved by the Martin committee.

"I am going to run them down in a solid line," boasted Pfund. "And let the devil take his hindmost."

HIGH MEXICANS AS SMUGGLERS.

Prominent Men Implicated in Plot to Evade Customs.

Jewels are Bared During the Trial of Cecelio Ocon.

NEW YORK, April 5.—An anonymous letter introduced in evidence at the trial here today of Cecelio Ocon, alleged friend of Gen. Felix Diaz and Adolfo A. Lopez, charged with smuggling a diamond necklace from Mexico into the United States, was said to have given the customs authorities the first intimation of the alleged plot.

The letter, mailed March 4 last, contained the names of a former member of the secret service of Mexico and a private secretary to a Minister of the Treasury of Mexico, and three others who were declared to be implicated in a conspiracy to smuggle into the United States valuables obtained by looting and plundering and some of them here.

The accused were reported as having quantities of costly drugs as well as jewelry and antiques in their possession.

DENIES PLOT.

Ocon, formerly one of the wealthiest men in Mexico City, who fled to Mexico with Gen. Diaz during the Huerta regime, denied there was any smuggling conspiracy, adding that the necklace in question belonged to Lopez. He wrote to his agents in Mexico City for funds and they sent him some of jewelry, valued at $8000, which by Lopez. He pleaded ignorance of the regulation which requires that a declaration and payment be made in such cases.

Although he claims to own dock property at Tampico worth $3,000,000, Ocon said he had been forced to pawn family jewelry in order to support himself and family since coming to New York. Huerta, he said, had confiscated other property belonging to him in Mexico City that was worth millions of dollars.

DIAZ IS LOCATED IN SOUTHERN MEXICO.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Reports to the Department of Justice indicate that there is no longer any doubt that Felix Diaz has landed in Mexico. Officials have been informed that he is at the head of a considerable force in the south of Mexico and has received material aid through Guatemala. It is the first official information as to the activities of the revolutionary leader's propaganda in his favor along the border between the United States and Mexico is reported, and a number of adherents there are under surveillance by the department agents. So far there has been little information as to his movements and sources from which he obtained arms and ammunition. It has been well established, officials say, that he received considerable financial aid in New York. One of his agents there was traced by department men to Canada and another was known to have left recently for Spain. It is considered possible that Diaz may have armed his followers in Mexico. In this connection officials recall today the sale about a year ago by the United States to Cuba of thousands of rifles.

REMNANT OF VILLA FORCE IS SCATTERED.

CHIHUAHUA (Chihuahua) April 5 (via Columbus, N. M.)—A remnant of the Villa force defeated by Col. George A. Dodd's cavalry at Guerrero eight days ago was routed in skirmish with Carranzistas on March 29 in the mountains near the town, according to reports reaching here today from Carranzista sources. No details of the engagement could be obtained except that the Villa leader, Manuel Baca, was killed.

Official reports received today from Col. George A. Dodd indicate that Villista losses at Guerrero were not forty-six, previous reports placed it as high as sixty. Many of the slopes of the green-covered Sierra Tarahumares, which Carranzistas are searching for trace of the whereabouts of Villa, have been explored by man, except the native Tarahumare Indians. These, as they are with hardy pines, climb ninety feet high, screened by limbs and hiding places from the eyes of aviators, the problem has been described as resembling a search for a needle in a haystack.

GUTIERREZ HOPEFUL OF VILLA'S CAPTURE.

TORREON (Mex.) April 5.—Gen. Luis Gutierrez reported to Gen. Trevino tonight that he is very hopeful that Gen. Cavazos will capture Villa and the remnants of his men during the next three days. Lagging and wounded Villista prisoners confirm Villa's wounded condition.

Gutierrez thinks that Villa will now try to double toward the western mountains when he finds the road south strongly held. Gen. Matias Ramos reports that he had a fight at Santa Terasa between Torreon and San Pedro with a band of twenty-three robbers of whom only three escaped alive.

BELL IS AGAINST A BORDER PATROL.

SAYS CALIFORNIA FRONTIER IS WELL PROTECTED.

After Conference with Mayor of San Diego and Chief of Police Wilson Declares There are Enough Marines at Hand to Cope with Any Emergency.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) April 5.—That conditions in Lower California do not warrant the patrolling of the border by United States troops is the opinion of Gen. J. Franklin Bell, commander of the department of California, as expressed in a conference this morning with Mayor E. M. Capps and Chief of Police Wilson.

The conference was held as the result of representations made by American residents along the border, who expressed the fear of raids by roving bands of bandits. Gen. Bell, during the course of the conference, quoted Gov. Johnson to the effect that troops were not needed, and coincided with the opinion expressed by the Governor. At the same time Gen. Bell pointed to the fact that, in the event of trouble along the border, nearly 1500 marines and infantrymen in San Diego are available for quick dispatch to any threatened point. Confidence in the ability of Gen. Esteban Cantu, Governor of Lower California, to maintain peace below the border, was also expressed. Following the conference it was announced that no orders to troops here will be given at this time.

Gen. Bell, who came to San Diego from a trip of inspection along the border in Imperial Valley, departed for Los Angeles this afternoon.

Following the conference with Gen. Bell, Mayor Capps and Chief Wilson discussed methods to protect the border and later announced that the City Council will be asked to approve plans for the organizing of a company of minute men. Chief Wilson said the company would be made up of a total of 110 men, divided into squads of ten men each, and that they would be provided with rifles furnished by the city. It is intended, according to the Chief, to arrange for automobiles, so that in the event of trouble at any point along the border the minute men may be dispatched to the scene in rapid time.

A VILLISTA BAND BADLY DEFEATED.

Information received here today states that all is quiet in Durango and vicinity, though reports are current that small bodies of bandits are operating between Guadalupe y Calvo and Guanacevi.

LOSING MONEY, PACKERS INSIST.

Producers also Declare They Can Only Break Even.

Higher Prices are Inevitable, Says an Omaha Dealer.

Broader Inquiry Demanded, W. L. Fisher Contends.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Despite the soaring prices of meat, neither the producer nor the packer is profiting greatly, according to testimony given today by representatives of the respective interests at the House Judiciary subcommittee's hearing on the Borland resolution for a Federal investigation of the packing industry.

Answering declarations of producers that packers are reaping enormous profits, Arthur Meeker, vice-president of Armour & Co., declared that last week his firm lost approximately $50,000 on their total sales in the United States. His statement interrupted that of John Landergin, a big cattle raiser of Amarillo, Tex., who insisted that in spite of large sales he had only "broken even" in his business the last three years.

HIGH PRICES INEVITABLE.

Edward L. Burke of Omaha, representing the American National Live Stock Association, told the committee that higher prices were inevitable in the face of decreased cattle production.

Mr. Landergin, who said he once made an unsuccessful attempt as a member of an independent Texas packing company to compete with the five large firms that control the bulk of the business in this country, was positive in his declarations that the packers were making much money.

"They tell us they are making only from 60 cents to $1.15 on each steer," he said. "Well, may be so, but we think they have left out something in their calculations and something besides the liver, too. Possibly they have left out a front quarter or a hide, and because we are not satisfied with their statements and the state of affairs in which we find our business, we want an investigation."

"Do you find your business profitable?" Mr. Meeker inquired.

"We find it uncertain," Mr. Landergin continued. "We haven't made any money in the last three years. It was a close shave last year. The year before we lost money."

MEEKER'S CONTENTION.

Mr. Meeker said it was not fair that producers should lose money on their cattle, and declared he would welcome an investigation that would lead to a remedy if it was proved that they were operating at a loss.

R. C. McManus, counsel for Swift & Co., declared the producers and the packers could "iron out their differences in ten minutes if given an opportunity."

W. L. Fisher, attorney for the producers, insisted that a broader inquiry than the packers would agree to was demanded, and at that point the hearing adjourned. It will be continued tomorrow, when packers' representatives are to take the stand as witnesses.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, April 5 (via Sayville.)—The following statement was issued today by German army headquarters:

SHIP SACRAMENTO ON THE BLACKLIST.

LONDON, April 5.—The American steamer Sacramento of San Francisco, which came into public notice early in the war, when the American government charged her with violation of neutrality laws in connection with the supplying of coal to German warships in the Pacific, is included in the latest blacklist of neutral vessels issued by the Admiralty. Charterers are warned not to use this steamer or any of the other vessels mentioned in the blacklist, which, it is charged, are being operated with capital of subjects at war with Great Britain or are engaged in unneutral service.

HISTORY OF THE CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Sacramento, formerly the German steamer Alexandria, was purchased after the beginning of the war by a syndicate of San Francisco business men. Loaded with general supplies she left San Francisco in October, 1914, ostensibly for Valparaiso.

It was shown that the vessel proceeded to Juan Fernandez Island, off the coast of Chile, and there "surrendered" her cargo to ships of a German squadron.

The members of the syndicate that bought the Sacramento, a number of prominent business men charged with financing and otherwise aiding the alleged unneutral transaction, and others, were indicted by the Federal grand jury here and are now awaiting trial.

The Sacramento is still at Valparaiso.

S. regularly and you will drive catarrhal poisons out of your blood. The membranes will soon recover and no longer continue to accumulate the mucous that gathers and thickens into catarrh. S. S. S. stimulates the cells of the tissues to select from the blood their own essential nutriment. Rapid recovery from catarrhal inflammation in the stomach, kidney, bladder and all membranes is the result.

MALARIA.

Throughout the country, wherever malaria abounds are happy, joyful people to whom S.S.S. has given wonderful help in the treatment of malaria after the most sickening torture imaginable.

The gaunt complexion of malaria's victims, the chills and fever, the malarial dysentery that seems to defy all other treatment, the malarial leg, the enlarged liver, the persistent anemia where the blood turns to water and the system wastes away. These are the conditions that S.S.S. so effectually assists in overcoming, by helping to restore the blood to its natural vigor.

STUBBORN SORES.

Sometimes a sore spot becomes indolent. The tissues surrounding it lose tone and are unable to provide sufficient nutriment to stop the drain. It is then chronic. Just saturate your blood with S.S.S. This is quickly accomplished, as S.S.S. is naturally assimilated the same as milk or any other healthful liquid.

Nature acts with marvelous rapidity when given the proper assistance and S.S.S. so stimulates cellular activity that the parts surrounding an ulcer select from the blood the materials that make new tissue. Thus the sore spot rapidly heals in a natural way.

Local applications for any skin disease will afford protection from without, but have no medical value. Eczema, tetter, acne and all such eruptive diseases should be treated with S.S.S.

POISONED BLOOD.

So many different things contribute to poison the blood and the effect is so startling that the sufferer becomes panic-stricken and is led to use harmful drugs. If you have any blood trouble, get a bottle of S.S.S. and take according to directions.

Don't take anything else. Poisoned blood is bad enough without ruining your bones, joints, teeth and vitals with minerals. S. S. S. so stimulates cellular activity that they reject all poisonous influences and select only those materials in the blood that make healthy tissue. This is why its assistance toward recovery is so noticeable and at times remarkable.

S.S.S. is welcome to the weakest stomach and is assimilated just as readily as the most nutritious food. It has helped to cure a host of sufferers.

RHEUMATISM

Use this remedy for three days and take a hot salt water bath to open the pores. This relieves the lungs and kidneys and assists S.S.S to utilize the skin as the principal avenue of elimination.

Avoid salts, calomel and other drastic purgatives, as they absorb the moisture from the walls and membranes of the intestines, weaken the muscular action, produce chronic constipation and thus stagnate the system with rheumatic poisons. Get a bottle of S.S.S. at any drug store. Don't take a substitute

S.S.S. is purely vegetable and is prepared only by the Swift Specific Co., 271 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write for special booklet on any of the diseases mentioned and if medical advice is wanted, write for that also to address given above. Both booklet and medical advice are free.

ATTACHES MAKE REPORT ON THE SUSSEX CASE.

Contents of Messages are Withheld Until Full Information is Received—No Reply from Berlin has as Yet been Received by Ambassador Gerard—Sinking of the Bengairn Said to Conform to Germany's Promises.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 5.—President Wilson discussed with Secretary Lansing tonight the situation growing out of the accumulation of evidence indicating that German submarines were responsible for the recent numerous marine disasters, in which the lives of American citizens have been lost or endangered.

Dispatches received today containing the reports of naval attaches at London and Paris regarding the explosion which damaged the British steamer Sussex and other messages regarding the attacks upon the British steamer Berwindale and the bark Bengairn, were before the President.

Secretary Lansing declined to divulge the contents of the dispatches. All reports from abroad have indicated that the evidence gathered by the attaches tended to prove that the Sussex was torpedoed. The Secretary said, however, he did not think it advisable to discuss any of the information received until it was complete. So far no word has come from Germany in response to Ambassador Gerard's inquiry at the Foreign Office.

THE BENGAIRN CASE.

First official information regarding the attack upon the bark Bengairn was received by the State Department today. It was in the form of a dispatch from Consul Frost at Queenstown, who reported that the vessel, carrying two Americans, had been sunk by shell fire after having received "ample warning" and that there were no casualties. Consequently, in this case at least, officials see no ground for complaint by the United States.

It became known during the day that the administration considers that the entire situation now hinges upon Germany's attitude in regard to the Sussex and other vessels about which inquiries have been made. The official view was represented as being that it is for Germany to demonstrate the value of promises given to the United States.

ROBBER STILL AT LARGE.

Reward of $5500 Offered for Capture of Union Pacific Bandit.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) April 5.—Authorities tonight were without tangible clews as to identity of the lone bandit who last night robbed several passengers on Union Pacific passenger train No. 1, westbound, a few minutes after it pulled out of the station here. Fifteen suspects were arrested during the day, but all except one, Joe Daley, were released. Daley is held pending satisfactory explanation of his presence at Corlett Junction, near here, when the robbery was committed. The authorities expressed the belief that he might have information concerning the robber's identity.

A total of $5500 in rewards has been offered for capture of the robber. Of this the Union Pacific headquarters in Omaha offered $5000. Late today the State of Wyoming added $500 to the reward.

DELAWARE TO TRY HUDSON AS PIRATE.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Under arrest on a charge of piracy, Clarence Hudson, known otherwise as Ernest Schiller, was lodged in the Tombs tonight pending his removal to Delaware for trial for the seizure at sea of the British freight steamer Matoppo. He was taken into custody at Bellevue Hospital upon a warrant issued by William G. Mahaffy, Federal Commissioner in Delaware.

Gold.

ANOTHER BIG MINE UNCOVERED IN OATMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OATMAN, April 5.—Another big mine was tonight uncovered in this great gold field when the Argo struck a body of ore twenty feet in one cross-cut on the 400-foot level.

The strike is believed to be the greatest in the history of the camp and was hailed here tonight as a development that will place Oatman more solidly on the map as the greatest gold section in America today.

First round of shots disclosed three feet of ore which was of quartz matter typical of Tom Reed, United Eastern and Big Jim.

Later another round of shots opened the vein to greater width. The extent of enrichment is not known, as no assay was obtainable of the time of writing. S. S. Jones, superintendent of Tom Reed mine, and president of Argo, stated tonight that it looked very good. Jones is known to be one of the most conservative men in the field.

An official of this company some time ago made a statement that they expected to encounter the vein fifty feet in on cross-cut. A week ago they encountered a change of formation and as stated in The Times Monday, it was generally believed here that the vein was not far distant.

The camp is jubilant over latest developments and every effort was made to corral some of the loose stock in Oatman, but it is held very tightly. Influential men here associated with the company are: Officers S. S. Jones, president; Dr. J. M. Francis of Tom Reed, treasurer; and John Shank of Reed, secretary.

HOLLAND DEPUTIES TALK OF DANGERS TO COUNTRY.

THE HAGUE, April 4 (via London, April 5.)—In the Chamber of Deputies today, Deputy Lohman made a motion to strike the old age pension bill from the government programme, declaring it to be of a controversial nature and that it militated against the unity "necessary in these times when dangers threaten the country."

Deputy Lohman's motion was rejected by a vote of 51 to 41.

At the opening of the chamber after a preliminary secret session in committee, the president read a brief statement declaring that the recent suspension of furloughs of army officers and men was a precautionary measure, as Holland is firmly resolved to maintain her neutrality and there is a possibility of it incurring increased danger owing to the course of the war.

The suspension order, he added, was not a consequence of present political entanglements, but was decided upon on account of certain information which reached the government, and which the government does not judge opportune at the present moment to make public.

The chamber then proceeded to the consideration of domestic affairs.

"Monopoly."

OFFERS TO SELL CITY SAN FRANCISCO RAILWAYS.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Declaring that street railway transportation to be a success must be a monopoly, Jesse W. Lilienthal, president of the United Railways, told the San Francisco Board of Supervisors today that his company was prepared to consider an offer from the city for its entire system.

San Francisco now operates several lines of its own in competition with the United Railroads. Over certain routes the United Railroads and the municipal line use tracks in common and this has resulted in more or less friction and not a little litigation.

It was to settle some of these complications that Lilienthal appeared before the board and his offer came as a big surprise to the Supervisors, who, however, declared their intention of preparing a plan of purchase which they will submit to Lilienthal next Wednesday.

The present conditions of the local transportation problem, said Lilienthal, are economically unsound and could be remedied only by a sale of his company's property to the city.

WAITE DESIRES TO PAY PENALTY

Says He had no Accomplice in Committing Crime.

Prisoner not Yet Told Wife has Sued for Divorce.

Declares He Feels at Ease Concerning Future.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—Dr. Warren Waite, in a talk with newspaper men at Bellevue Hospital expressed remorse for the death of his father-in-law, John E. Peck of Rapids, whose murder he confessed, and declared that he was ready "to pay the price." He said he had no accomplice in the crime.

"If any word uttered by me could save me I would not utter it," he said. "I want to pay the price."

When asked regarding the ideas of his sanity he said: "Of course I am sane. There was no thought of anything else in my mind.

"The whole thing revolves around me and no one else," he continued. "I do not wish to justify myself in any way. I can't justify myself. I feel perfectly at ease. I have no dread of what lies beyond. I am going to the new world, wherever it may be, and I expect to get a fresh start. It is all clear in my mind now. My only desire is to pass on and let society forget me."

In reply to a question Dr. Waite declared:

"I am not a bigamist. I have had only one wife."

WAITE STILL VERY WEAK.

The prisoner is still very weak, and for that reason he has not been told that his wife has petitioned for divorce.

"There wasn't any definite motive in getting a large amount of money," Waite answered in reply to a question as to whether his motive was to acquire riches. He did not state, however, what his motive was.

Waite said there was $4000 in the roll of bills he gave Eugene Kane, an embalmer, in an effort to induce him to put arsenic in a couple of embalming fluid cans to be used on the body of Peck. The money subsequently unearthed by Kane on the spot where he had buried it on Long Island contained $7000.

Detective John Cunliffe, who was present, asked Waite if there were any $20 bills in the roll and Waite replied that there were several.

"That clears up the mystery," Cunliffe said.

The roll Kane got, and which Waite said he had never counted, did not contain any bills of that denomination.

Waite appeared very weak and spoke at times with an apparent effort.

A letter found in his apartment addressed to him and signed "Your African Mother," Waite said had come from a Mrs. Steyn, who was the manager of two farms which he said he owned in British East Africa.

SHOCK TO MRS. STEYN.

"Mrs. Steyn was very fond of me," Waite added, "and it will be a terrible shock to her when she learns of my predicament."

Waite refused to say anything further about the "man from Hell," the evil side of a dual personality he recently told the District Attorney possessed him. "Dr. Greene knows why," he exclaimed. Dr. Greene is head of the psychopathic ward at Bellevue Hospital.

LORIMER'S BANKING RECORDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 5.—Detailed history of all the notes of the defunct Munday-Lorimer-Huttig Company, as shown by the books and records of the LaSalle-street Trust and Savings Bank, was given today at the trial of William Lorimer, charged with conspiracy in connection with the failure of the institution. Percy Hillman, an accountant who has spent two years in examining the books of the bank for the state, was the witness.

Attorney Fisk asked in cross-examination:

"From the records does it appear that Mr. Lorimer ever requested the lender in any transaction in which the bank loaned money to benefit Lorimer concerns?"

"I think not, except in one instance, a $37,000 loan in connection with the construction of the Southern Traction Company."

"Did you ever find any letters of Lorimer's having kited a check?"

"No; of course the Lorimer Lumber Company's account is somewhat like 'check kiting.'"

Frank Johnson, a book-keeper formerly employed in the bank and who transfer from a national to a state institution, testified that he had orders to give Lorimer each day a report of the financial condition of the bank. These statements were taken to Lorimer's office. He identified a number of reports as the ones which he took to Lorimer's office.

The Beadon was of 1021 gross tons and was built in 1909 at West Hartlepool for J. Hoult & Co., of Cardiff. She was 247 feet long and 36 feet beam.

Students in the college of music, University of Southern California, will give a recital of vocal and instrumental music this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Symphony Hall. The public is invited. Fifteen of the advanced pupils will take part in a well-balanced programme.

The salesmanship class of the Y.M.C.A. was given an interesting talk yesterday on "How to Get and Hold a Job on the Road." Mr. Brann, who represents the Cook Stove Company of Rockford, Ill., is here in the interest of the Lyon-McKinney-Smith Company. Following the talk he gave a demonstration of the Cook stove.

Will Discuss Researches.

Addresses by G. Allan Hancock, owner of the Rancho La Brea, and Frank S. Daggett will be the principal features of the ladies' day programme at a luncheon to be given Friday noon at the Broadway Department Store Cafe by the Proximo Club. The speakers will talk on results of the research work that has been done in the past few years at Mr. Hancock's large ranch.

Add Membership Feature.

A new feature for membership entertainment has been arranged by the Social Committee of the Young Woman's Christian Association. It is a Madam Grundy party, and will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Every girl who has questions she wishes to ask some one may place them in the question box and Madam Grundy will do her best to answer them. Questions need not be signed, and may be on any topic of interest to girls, as social customs, ethics, behavior, religion, vocation, financial problems, relations to young men, etc. Each member is permitted to bring one guest.

FEAR LOSS OF HOME.

Belgian Musicians Expect Country will be Closed to Them.

The scarcity of authentic news from Brussels is working considerable hardship on members of the Zoellner Quartette, according to Joseph Zoellner, director. Prior to the invasion of Belgium members of the noted family of musicians had extensive business interests there. During the last year, despite repeated urgent appeals for news, Mr. Zoellner says he has received no reply to his letters.

At the Rosslyn, where members of the quartette are staying, Mr. Zoellner said last night it is doubtful if the family will ever be able to return to Belgium to live. Because of the German name, he says, he anticipates anything but a cordial welcome when he goes back to see to the settling of his affairs in Brussels.

Mr. Zoellner was formerly a teacher of violin in the Brussels Conservatory of Music. He was decorated by King Albert about three years ago with a medal of distinction. Since the beginning of the war the family has been touring the United States. In the party is Mr. Zoellner, his son, Joseph, and daughters, Antoinette and Amandu. Mrs. Zoellner, who is also a refugee, is staying in New York.

Tense.

JURY IN TUGWELL CASE STILL OUT.

REPORTS INDICATE TAKING OF SIX BALLOTS.

It is Believed that Only Two Members are now Holding Out for Immunity for the Man Accused of Slaying Aged Woman for Few Dollars' Worth of Jewelry.

The jury in the Tugwell case was locked up at 10 o'clock last night, having failed to arrive at a verdict after ten hours of deliberation. During all this time the wife of the accused man waited patiently and expectantly for the result.

From meager reports obtainable from the juryroom, the first ballot stood approximately eight for conviction and four for acquittal. During the hours that followed at least five more ballots were taken and the margin for acquittal was narrowed down until it was believed only two members held out for immunity for the accused slayer of Mrs. Maud B. Kennedy.

The length of the deliberations on the part of the jury is believed to be due largely to the final charges made by Judge Houser. His instructions repeatedly referred to the release of the prisoner if there could be any "reasonable doubt" as to his guilt, and dwelt on the possible failure of the prosecution to have established proof of death at the hands of Tugwell.

Yesterday morning Deputy District Attorney Doran mercilessly attacked the conduct of Tugwell. He went thoroughly into every angle and phase of the case and finally riddled the idea of an alibi.

In concluding his argument, he appealed to the jury to bring a verdict of guilty with no recommendation of mercy.

Fulfilling his promise to the court, he completed his argument within the hour he had prescribed. After the judge had charged the jury, that body remained only a short time in chambers before going out to luncheon. Shortly after returning, a request was made by the jury to have all of the exhibits in the case sent in for special inspection and investigation.

This morning the jury will again take up its deliberations about 9 o'clock and will probably report prior to the noon adjournment.

ADMITTED TO BAR.

Examinations of Applicants by the District Court of Appeal.

Examinations were held yesterday and will be conducted again today of applicants for admission to practice law before the bar of California. The following passed the test before the District Court of Appeal yesterday: Oscar Sagel, Thomas F. O'Brien, Van Lee Hood, Howard B. Hensley, Ernest Ingold, Howard W. Wright, Earl M. Nutting and William Roland Wright. Nine applicants for admission will be examined today.

The court finds that examinations under the new rule give beter results than when a hundred are more applicants were up for examination at stated periods. Now the applicants have only a five days' notice and have no opportunity to do a lot of "cramming" in quiz clubs, as was the rule under the old system.

BABY A SIGHT WITH PIMPLES
All Over Head and Face. Hard Crusts Formed. Cried Night and Day. Suffered Terribly.
HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT
"My little boy became red all over his head and face, and he lost all of his hair. Later he broke out in little pimples and hard crusts formed. The skin was sore, red, and inflamed, and it burned so he used to scratch all the time. He was nearly crazy and he cried night and day. He was a sight to behold and suffered terribly.
"The trouble lasted about two months and nothing seemed to do any good. We were told to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and we did so. They seemed to relieve him at once and he slept for two hours, and after we used two boxes of the Cuticura Ointment and about three bars of the Cuticura Soap he was completely healed and did not have a mark on him." And Property on It.

THIRD OF A MILLION FOR SAN CLEMENTE ISLAND.

Big Cash Deal Includes Twenty-five Thousand Head of Sheep.

Famous and Romantic Ocean Rock, Home of Prehistoric Civilization and of Pirates and Smugglers, is Taken Over by One of Montana's Biggest Ranchmen and will be Used for Great Flocks of Blooded Wool-bearers.

THE lease of San Clemente Island, 25,000 head of sheep, blooded stallions, draft mares, colts, burros, jacks and other property on the island, were sold yesterday by the San Clemente Wool Company to Lewis Penwell of the Lewis Penwell Company and associates. The consideration, reported as all cash, was $500,000. The deal was made through W. R. Merwin & Co. of this city.

San Clemente Island is one of the most famous in the world, chiefly for the many evidences of a high prehistoric civilization which have been found there. Its rugged caves and natural havens have sheltered pirates and smugglers without number, one of its bays being even now known as Smuggler's Cove. Its fishing grounds are regarded as the finest of any about the Channel Islands. Its lonely rugged character and the glamor of romance cast about it by thousands of years of hard-won life on its inhospitable rocks has made it a favorite with writers of fiction and on archeological subjects.

The San Clemente Island sheep ranch is larger than any in California. Sheep have been pastured on it for more than sixty years and with the water system and other improvements made by the San Clemente Wool Company it has been regarded as one of the best ranches in the country. Charles T. Howland, one of the principal owners of the San Clemente Wool Company, has retained an interest in the new concern and will be on the board of directors. Mr. Penwell is a prominent sheep and ranch owner of Montana. He is sole or part owner of twenty-five ranches in that State and has conducted operations on a big scale for many years. Last year 105,000 sheep were sheared on his ranches. He has recently become interested in Southern California and its lands, but the San Clemente purchase is the first of considerable size to be made by him.

Mr. Penwell and his associates will take possession about the time the crops are sheared, which will be near the end of this month. The enterprise will be managed by E. G. Blair, president of the Blair-Penwell Company of Montana, which has recently sold its holdings.

NEW STOCK SOON.

Most of the sheep now on the island will be sold soon and replaced with pure bred stock. Twenty-five thousand Hampshire Down and Rambouillet ewes will be put on the island some time this year. Mr. Howland says that an increase of not less than 80 per cent. a year can be depended upon from them.

That the venture will be highly successful is the belief of the new owners. The sheep business all over the country is crowded for range or pasture room. Mutton and wool command an exceedingly high price on account of the world's shortage. Mr. Penwell and Mr. Howland say conditions on San Clemente are ideal for Party at Chester Montgomery Home Grazes Tragedy.

Plunging into deep water in a swimming pool in full afternoon attire, Mrs. Dudley Fulton, wife of the president of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, rescued her little daughter from drowning yesterday, when a large party of children were being entertained at the Chester Montgomery home at Lamanda Park, Pasadena.

The private swimming pool at the Montgomery home was the scene of a children's party, and the merry, noisy crowd in the water, which ranges from four to ten feet deep, were having a wonderful time, while their society mamas were sewing and conversing on the bank.

All at once Mrs. Fulton, who was fully dressed, including stylish hat, veil and gloves, missed her small daughter Marguerite. Rushing to the edge of the pool she saw the little girl lying at the bottom, apparently inanimate.

Without a moment's hesitation, without even an alarming cry, Mrs. Fulton dived into the water just as she was, and with difficulty brought the little girl to the surface. She is one of the modern athletic mothers, a strong swimmer, and did not allow her fashionable sartorial trappings to interfere.

Little Marguerite Fulton is also a swimmer, but had not long since recovered from a slight operation, which had left her somewhat weakened. It took fifteen minutes to restore any signs of life. Mrs. Fulton, as the wife of one of Los Angeles' prominent physicians, is well versed in what to do in such a crisis. With cloths dripping, she directed the efforts to save the little life, which were finally rewarded. Today Marguerite will be very little the worse for her terrifying experience.

The little girl was taken to her parents' home at No. 2700 South Grand avenue after consciousness had been restored. Mrs. Fulton's fashionable spring outfit is utterly ruined, but she suffered no other ill effects from her heroic exploit.

FIVE YEARS OF WORK IN PERU.

Local Man to Build Six Hundred Grain Elevators for South American Government.

Robert McCutcheon, with his wife and son, of No. 1020 Meridian street, South Pasadena, will leave this month for Peru, South America, expecting to be absent five years. Mr. McCutcheon has just signed a contract with the Peruvian government to build 600 grain elevators in that country.

In Peru the government controls the grain crop and the farmers sell direct to the government. Enormous grain crops are grown in the valleys of the Andes Mountains, and the elevators which Mr. McCutcheon is to build are to hold these great crops. The elevators will be of concrete construction, and each will be 106 feet in height. They will be located along the Trans-Andes Railroad, and will extend from the seashore up into the mountains to an altitude of 17,500 feet.

Plan to Present Pictures and Lectures In New York.

Los Angeles will be well represented at the first exhibition of the National Motion Picture Board of Trade at Madison Square Garden, New York, May 6 to 13, if action of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, taken yesterday, is followed by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

It is planned to have the city, mountains, beaches, good roads and points of interest set forth in moving pictures to be shown during the exhibition. The industrial bureau of the chamber, the chamber and the Auto Club will be called upon to furnish the needed funds. A lecturer will accompany the pictures and tell the crowds exactly what charms the Southland presents to the visitors, especially autoists, while the panorama is spread before them.

The directors also went on record strongly against the imposition of a two-cent revenue stamp on checks, as has been suggested as a government finance measure.

The appointment of A. S. Dudley as assistant secretary, to succeed A. S. Morrow, resigned, was confirmed. Mr. Dudley formerly was secretary of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce and had charge of the county exhibits last year at the two California expositions.

Joke?

COLLEGE CUT-UP JAILED BY GIRL.

Pretty Sophomore Alleges He Made Threats to Kill.

Sets Out that She Suffered a Nervous Collapse.

University Student's Held in Big Bail for Court.

A college joke that has become a very serious matter turned up in Justice Hinshaw's court yesterday afternoon, when E. J. Dungan, a student of the University of Southern California, was arraigned on a charge of having threatened to kill Miss Evelyn Kinder, a sophomore at the same school.

The complaint against him was issued by Deputy District Attorney Keyes at the instigation of Attorney George D. Watson of No. 1707 Third avenue, at whose home the girl resides, she being his niece. It was the outcome of several threatening letters alleged to have been written by Mr. Dungan.

One of these read: "Beware of April 5. That day will see you dead on the porch of Morgan A. Silver's home. Beware! Ha-ha!" Another merely contained the word "Beware," and a great ink splotch. The notes were written on a typewriter and signed with the initials of young Mr. Dungan.

As a result of these it is alleged that Miss Kinder suffered a nervous collapse and has been confined to her home for several days. She declared yesterday that she met Mr. Dungan at the university, where he had the reputation of being one of the "college cut-ups." She admitted having accepted his invitation to eat ice cream on two occasions at a near-by shop.

The girl alleges that Mr. Dungan followed her persistently after classes and had attempted to call on her, but that she had slammed the door in his face. This was followed by the notes, and these, she alleges, were largely due to jealousy of Mr. Dungan against Morgan Silver, the boy she had been keeping company with, according to her statements.

Mr. Dungan yesterday insisted that Mr. Silver is one of his best friends. He said that he had bought Miss Kinder ice cream, and that he had not threatened her in anything but a joking way.

Mr. Dungan was arrested at his home, No. 928 West Thirty-third street, and was held by Justice Hinshaw on bail of $1500, in default of which the young man had to enjoy the hospitality of Jailer Gallagher over night. He will be given a preliminary hearing this afternoon.

Happy Finale.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED IN GREAT "TIMES" CONTEST.

Distribution of Sixteen Automobiles, Twelve Diamond Rings and Twelve Phonographs Attracts Interested Audience and Contestants Express Their Gratification Over Results and Appreciation of Absolute Fairness.

THE final event of The Times great automobile contest — the distribution of awards — took place yesterday forenoon in The Times Assembly Rooms. The place was well filled with participants in the campaign and their friends, and the winners were recipients of many congratulations over the valuable prizes they received.

E. N. Martin of The Times staff, made the presentation address. He spoke of the enormous number of votes cast as a striking example of the great popularity of The Times throughout Southern California and adjacent territory, and complimented the contestants on the energy they showed and their continuity of purpose during the entire campaign. He also spoke of the closeness of the votes in various instances as indicating the fairness of the methods used by the management.

Then followed the distribution of the awards, as decided upon by the official judges of the campaign's results. This committee of judges consisted of George L. Binder, manager of Coulter's; H. S. Carroll, advertising manager of the Broadway Department Store; Richard W. Everett, advertising manager of Hamburger's; G. E. Nagel, manager of Silverwood's, and T. C. Palmer, advertising manager of the Fifth-street Store.

Arsenal.

OLD FOLKS STAND OFF DEPUTIES WITH GUNS.

EXCITEMENT ran high in Burbank yesterday when two automobile loads of deputy sheriffs arrived there to arrest Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thompson. These elderly people reside about two miles from the town. For several months past, it is alleged, they have been a source of terror to their neighbors, as well as to passers-by, by reason of having turned their peaceful dwelling into a veritable arsenal of revolvers, shotguns and rifles.

It appears that the old people have been troubled by tramps on many occasions and their lives made miserable thereby. They began buying guns to protect their property.

Gradually, according to the officers, it came about that they would threaten anyone who happened to come near the place, and on one or two occasions shot at passers. Yesterday morning the Lunacy Commission issued a complaint charging them with insanity. Detectives Austin and Wilcox went out to arrest the man and his wife, but were driven away with automatic pistols, they reported.

Later the deputy sheriffs were sent out, with them being the newly-appointed woman deputy, Mrs. Yaw. Every effort to draw the old people out of the house without their guns was unavailing. It was decided not to use force or violence against them.

An effort was made to find Earl Thompson late yesterday afternoon in order to take him to the home of his parents and have him pacify them sufficiently so they could be handled. He is a student at the University of Southern California and was not located. If his parents fail to submit to arrest by this morning he will be asked to assist the officers.

WORKHOUSE AS REFUGEE CURE.

Would Solve Problem of What to do with Mexicans.

Denver Slum Worker Believes in Enforced Labor.

Best Method to Rid City of Idle Trouble-makers.

The establishment of a municipal workhouse and an isolation camp would do much toward solving the Mexican refugee problem here, according to "Jim" Goodheart, famous superintendent of the Sunshine Rescue Mission of Denver, who has had long experience with similar problems. Mr. Goodheart is staying at the Lankershim, recuperating from the effects of nine years' overwork in the Denver slums.

"The majority of the 75,000 Mexicans in Los Angeles county," said he, "are of the lower class. A large percentage of them are a menace to the health and morals of any community. Afflicted with a loathsome and practically incurable disease, as many of them are, they should be isolated if they cannot be deported. It is unfair to tax the public for their support.

WORK THE BEST CURE.

"A workhouse, conducted along the line best calculated to produce results, would provide the vagrants and needy with the food and clothing they now receive from charitable institutions, in addition to being one of the best-known methods of inducing them to return to their own country. A thirty or sixty-day sentence in jail means just so much free board and lodging at the expense of the taxpaying public to the average Mexican.

"Statistics recently published by a national charity board show that 95 per cent. of the men of the United States, 70 years of age or over, live either on private or public charity. The majority of these men have done valuable service to this country. It is not just that we should needlessly be burdened with able-bodied foreigners too shiftless to support themselves and their families."

HIS WORK IN DENVER.

Mr. Goodheart before taking up rescue work in Denver was a traveling salesman with headquarters in Chicago. He is a noted figure in Colorado. During 1915 more than 102,600 persons attended his mission. His work is heartily indorsed by the municipality of Denver, and the warden of the Colorado penitentiary says Mr. Goodheart does more to prevent crime and relieve suffering than anybody or any organization of which he knows. The Denver Chief of Police has said that Mr. Goodheart does more to make life and property safe in Denver than thirty policemen.

Unprepared.

ONE DREADNAUGHT COULD WHIP FLEET.

ADMIRAL SEBREE SAYS COAST IS AT ENEMY'S MERCY.

Ships on Pacific Outclassed by Those of the Powers—Veteran Sea Fighter Compliments Officers and Men, but Declares They are Helpless with Obsolete Cruisers.

Rear-Admiral U. T. Sebree, U.S.N., retired, last night declared that the entire naval force of the United States on the Pacific Coast would be unable to cope successfully with one modern dreadnaught. In a comprehensive discussion of modern sea warfare, the admiral stated that any first-class nation can at will dispatch ships which can out-range and out-run anything we have in the Pacific.

"What this nation needs on the Pacific," said he, "is a fleet that can get out on the sea and whip the enemy's vessels before they get within striking distance of the Coast. One up-to-date dreadnaught, such as Japan, England, Germany or nearly any other first-class power would be able in ordinary times to send against us, could lick our whole Pacific fleet unassisted.

"Our boats are in good shape, the officers and men cannot be equaled, but the vessels were designed years ago. The guns, engines, etc., were at that time the equal of anything afloat, but now they are outclassed. It would be like pitting an automobile of 1905 vintage against a 1916 racer. No matter how good the driver, if the car were hopelessly outclassed what chance would he have?

"One of the later foreign dreadnaughts, in event of a battle with the combined forces of the Pacific squadron, would be able to keep beyond the range of our guns and sink every one of our vessels. If the enemy exhausted his ammunition before he defeated us, he could get up steam and outdistance our undamaged boats. We ought to have a much stronger defense. By much stronger, I mean about 1000 times stronger."

Admiral Sebree does not place much confidence in the ability of submarines to defend the Coast. He does not believe in permitting the enemy to approach within the limited distance at which our present submarines are efficient. "Let 'em get too close and too many things can happen before we sink 'em," said he.

Discussing the land forces of the nation, the admiral said:

"It would be months before we could make trained soldiers of the volunteers. To send untrained, poorly equipped troops against the highly efficient and practiced veterans of Europe would be like putting eleven ordinary, healthy, husky, farmer boys against the football team of Yale or Harvard.

"If we could arm 100,000 volunteers and get them into the field in time to send them against an equal number of troops that a foreign nation would be able to land on our shores in two weeks, by the simple expedient of sending a couple of dreadnaughts to clear the way and then using sufficient transports, our volunteer soldiers would fare about as well as the average office man would at the hands of a skilled boxer or wrestler.

"Preparedness? Of course I believe in preparedness. The bank that would leave its doors unlocked, its vaults unprotected, would be guilty of criminal negligence. The city that failed to police its streets would be jeopardizing the life and property of every citizen. The pacifists—how I hate 'em—that seek to place this nation at the mercy of any aggressor by discouraging adequate protection are beyond classification."

WOMEN MAY FORM PARTY

Suffrage Leader Says It May Come to This if Congress and President Refuse Demand for Enfranchisement—Four Million Votes Available.

A women's party, having as its cardinal precept woman's suffrage, and embodying in its platform desirable features of other political parties, may enter politics at no distant date, according to Mrs. Sara Bard Field of San Francisco, suffrage leader. At the Alexandria, where she is staying while here, Mrs. Field said yesterday:

"There are more than 4,000,000 women voters in the States in which we have equal suffrage. If worst comes to worst, and Congress and the President steadfastly refuse to enfranchise American women, there may be a national movement to compel suffrage. The 4,000,000 women voters, if necessary, can organize a national women's party, place the name of their candidate on the ballot, and make the issue so vital that they would compel consideration at the hands of one or the other of the two strong political parties, if, indeed, they did not succeed in electing their own candidates."

WANTS POWER PLANT CHANGES EXPLAINED.

ENGINEER ASKED TO REPORT ON ADDED COSTS.

Commissioner Workman Wants to Know Reasons for Altered Plans. Utilities Board to Publish Capt. Kelly's Book on Aqueduct—To Enjoin Diversion of Bair Creek Water.

The feature at Tuesday's meeting of the Public Service Commission was the request of the commission for a further explanation from Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood for a report plainly setting forth the reasons for changes in plans for the power plants in San Francisquito Canyon, and the additional cost of such changes over the original estimates and plans.

Commissioner Workman introduced the subject. He said he had visited the power plant No. 1, and the site for power plant No. 2, and from a layman's standpoint, he was impressed that the city is getting the worth of its money.

"There have been so many changes of plans," continued Mr. Workman, "that I think we ought to have a report from Mr. Scattergood showing just what these changes have cost and just what changes have been made from the plans of 1910, and why they were made."

This motion was seconded by Commissioner Eckenbrecher, who said:

"I would suggest that Mr. Scattergood take time enough to make a clear and concise and intelligent report, so that it can be digested by the people of the city."

Chief Engineer Mulholland notified the commission that Capt. Allen Kelly has completed the descriptive matter in the final report of the Los Angeles aqueduct, and that it is now ready for publication. It was decided to employ Capt Kelly for two months longer to superintend the publication and attend to various details connected with the appearance of the book. The volume will contain 100,000 words, seventy-five half-tone photographs and twenty-five maps. The commission authorized calling for bids for the printing.

Auditor Anderson urged that because of the constant rise in paper prices, bids should be asked for at once on printing water bills for the ensuing year. He stated that the water department each month sends out 110,000 bills, the printing for which costs $120, and that the prospect is the price will be doubled before the year is over.

The commission was notified that the cost of making replicas of the relief map of the Los Angeles Aqueduct, desired by the Chamber of Commerce and the Exposition Museum, would be $1000. This was referred to the interested organizations.

Special Counsel Mathews was instructed to begin immediate action to secure a restraining injunction against the Owens Valley Improvement Company, to prevent it from diverting waters in Bair Creek from city lands to a new irrigation district, which the company is opening.

JUDGMENT REVERSED.

Supreme Court Rules in Favor of Sister in Contest with Brother Over Accounting as Administrator in the A. F. M. Strong Estate.

The Supreme Court has reversed the judgment of the lower court in the matter of the estate of A. F. M. Strong, who died in Los Angeles in February, 1913, intestate, leaving property valued at $380,000. The lower court approved the first annual account of W. A. Strong, administrator, son of the deceased, and this is not concurred in.

Strong left two heirs in addition to his son, two daughters, Alice B. and Hattie Strong. When the son filed his first annual account one of the sisters, Miss Alice Strong, opposed its allowance on the ground that it did not account for all of the assets of the estate. It was alleged that a matter of about $40,000 had been omitted from the account. The brother claimed the money was his own personal property.

The higher court holds that the position of the administrator was one of hostility to the interests of the estate which he represented, and he should have welcomed the opportunity for a full disclosure establishing the integrity of all his transactions.

HITS ROCK OF JURISDICTION.

Hearing on State Medical Law is Unexpectedly Halted.

Attorneys Question Rights of Court of Equity in Case.

Asserted that Great Physician Could not Practice Here.

Following close on the heels of a statement by Attorney Thomas L. Johnston that, under the medical law of California, the greatest of all physicians would be subject to arrest for drugless healing, the hearing of the complaint of P. L. Crane, praying for a temporary order restraining the Governor, Attorney-General and District Attorney from enforcing the law, ran on the rock of jurisdiction yesterday before United States Circuit Judge Ross and District Judges Cushman and Trippet. At the conclusion of a partial hearing the matter was passed over until the court could be furnished some authorities by Mr. Johnston.

The only argument in behalf of the defendants was made by Assistant District Attorney Cryer, who challenged the jurisdiction of the court to hear the case at all. He stated that the jurisdiction of courts of equity is purely and exclusively civil, and such courts are without power to enjoin the commission of threatened crimes or to restrain threatened prosecution for the commission of alleged crimes. He also held that a court of equity is without jurisdiction to enjoin the enforcement by a quasi criminal prosecution under a municipal ordinance or the violation of a State law. He claimed that only the State courts could have jurisdiction of the bill as it is drawn.

Attorney Johnston, as the representative of the army of drugless healers of California, thereupon read a long decision rendered by the United States Supreme Court in an opinion delivered by Justice Hughes, indicating that under certain circumstances equity courts did have jurisdiction. It seemed to be a case in point and the court asked for the production of authorities along the line indicated by Mr. Johnston.

The case quoted arose over the constitutional amendment adopted by the voters of Arizona limiting the number of aliens that could be employed by a person or corporation in that State. The question of jurisdiction arose in that issue and United States Circuit Court Judge Morrow and District Judges Van Fleet and Sawtelle allowed an injunction restraining the enforcement of the amendment. An appeal was taken to the United States Supreme Court and the contention of the lower court sustained.

This authority put a new complexion on the hearing and Judge Ross indicated that possibly a temporary injunction will be allowed if the authorities quoted made good the contention of the attorney. Ex-Judge Robert M. Clarke, Assistant Attorney-General, said the case did not apply in the present contention and that Johnston was shooting wide of the mark.

The argument was on the complaint of P. L. Crane, involving the license feature of the State medical law, which, it is alleged, discriminates against drugless healers. The action alleging the unconstitutionality of the optometry law was not mentioned, it being understood that the same arguments will hold good in both cases.

It was argued by Mr. Johnson that the occupation of the drugless practitioner, who employs faith, hope, mental suggestion and mental adaptation, spiritual and mental processes alone, was not subject to police regulation; that a person could not be convicted for the exercise of his mental processes, however unlawful his intention may be. He admitted that the burden of establishing the unconstitutionality of the law was upon the complainant, but argued that the classification was false, arbitrary and capricious, as it discriminates against every other school of drugless practice in favor of healing by prayer.

TO OPEN APRIL TERM.

State Supreme Court to Meet for First Time in Union League Building.

The April term of the State Supreme Court will be held at the new quarters of that body in the Union League Building, Second and Hill streets, beginning next Monday, and will continue one week.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the court will sit en banc hearing motions and arguments. On Thursday the body will divide up into two departments, and will so continue during the balance of the session. City Pays the Bill.

Payment of $9663 to the contractor for the assessment on the State Normal School property in Vermont avenue was authorized by the Council yesterday in time to purge the city of contempt of court in the proceedings brought for collection of the assessment. The bill is regarded as a proper charge against the State and a measure appropriating the amount was passed by the last Legislature, but the Governor refused his approval. At the same time the Council instructed the City Engineer to inform the Council whenever an improvement district includes State or Federal property.

The 29 Volumes Complete Unabridged

The New Encyclopaedia Britannica

In Your Home

where you can have them at your elbow, ready to answer all the questions the children ask; ready to supply your wife with every kind of "preparedness" for her daily tasks or her club; ready to supply you with endless diversion and entertainment for a quiet evening by the fireside; ready to help you "get up" a speech, or settle a knotty point; ready to supply you with all you missed in a college education if you didn't have one.

THEY ARE A MIRACLE of compactness. Think of it! Twenty-nine splendid volumes, with 30,000 pages, 41,000 articles, the contents equal to 400 books of ordinary size—all this on 32 inches of shelf room, 8 inches high.

(Or in a handsome little book-case, with which you can move them round the room wherever you want them. We supply it at a very low price.)

In a "Handy Volume" issue at 1/3 the Cost of the Larger Sized Cambridge Issue

ready to tell you a thousand practical things—answer the thousand practical questions that come up every day about your business or profession. The new Encyclopaedia Britannica is not a book for "high-brows" alone. It was made especially for the busy men and women of to-day. It will tell you everything about cotton spinning, or the steel industry, or book-binding, about cement or gasoline manufacture, or sugar-making or China, or Canada or Cambodia; advise you about ceramics or printing or electric lighting or glass or co-operation and profit-sharing or the Franco-Prussian War or munitions or dust.

There never was any book like it in the history of the world. Just to prepare this new Eleventh Edition required eight years of editorial work, and cost a million and a half of dollars for this alone. The richest man in the world or the King of England or the Czar of all the Russias cannot buy a better book. And actually all of these are in the Encyclopaedia Britannica. So do the great inventors like Mr. Edison and great executives like James J. Hill, and they all paid three times what you need pay.

You may need this work and it may be far more useful to you than to them.

Don't Miss This Rare Chance

The new "Handy Volume" issue of the new Eleventh Edition was expressly made for that larger public which cannot afford to pay from $150 to $250 per set for an encyclopaedia, which is the price of the larger page Cambridge University issue. An enormous edition was contracted for and the distribution of this edition arranged for by Sears, Roebuck and Company, the largest retail merchandising business in the world.

Because the costs of printing and distribution could be so heavily reduced, it was arranged to sell this new "Handy Volume" issue at an amazing price—one-third the price of the larger-paged issue. This price is so low that many people who have long wanted to possess the Encyclopaedia Britannica could not believe that this was the genuine Britannica, the new Eleventh Edition, complete and unabridged. With every set that is sold we give the Publisher's guarantee that it is, and that not a line nor page nor an illustration of any kind has been omitted.

And we send you the complete work, the entire 29 volumes upon a first payment of a SINGLE DOLLAR. After that easy monthly payments at a rate of a little more than 10 cents per day.

Further than that we guarantee that if for any reason you do not wish to keep the books after you have bought them and had them in your possession you may at any time within three weeks return them to us and we will refund to you every penny you have paid to us and the shipping costs in addition.

The Price of the War

But even this enormous printing is being rapidly exhausted and can last for only a short time longer. We have tried to arrange with the publishers for another printing, but they advise us that owing to the drastic increase in the cost of raw materials—paper, leather, binder's board, cost of printing, etc., it will be impossible to supply us with any more sets at such low prices.

Therefore we must advise you that if you wish to secure this remarkable convenient, easy-to-hold issue of the Britannica, you must place your order very soon. Send your name to-day for the 130-page book described opposite.

Judge for Yourself

Sets of the new "Handy Volume" issue in the various styles of binding are on view in this city as advertised below, and orders may be left there at present prices for a short time longer. There you may examine the books at your leisure and see for yourself what a wonderful mine of information and entertainment they are.

This Big Book (130 Pages) Free

It is not an easy thing to give any idea of this monumental work, which consists of 29 volumes, 30,000 pages, over 40,000 articles and a total of 44 million words. It is very much like trying to describe all the countries and cities and races of Europe in a page or two. But the publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica have prepared a very remarkable book of 130 pages which does attempt to give you some idea of the wonderful variety and real human interest of these volumes. It is illustrated with nearly 200 pictures directly from the Britannica itself and gives you a hundred interesting bits of information, revealing the Encyclopaedia Britannica from a hundred different points of view. It gives you portraits of 9 or more of the celebrated scholars and men of science, travelers and explorers, who have made the new Britannica, and it tells you, too, of the long array of great men like Sir Walter Scott, De Quincey, Macaulay, and Huxley, and scores of others who have contributed to the Britannica in past days. It tells the story of the beginnings of this famous work, back in the days of King George III., and how it quickly took rank as the greatest of all encyclopaedias.

Then there are interesting stories and clever dialogues describing how the Britannica may be useful to the most varied sorts of people and especially its unexpected interest for the wide-awake women of to-day.

It is as big as a magazine and far more interesting, and whether you intend to buy the Britannica now or not, you and every member of your family will thoroughly enjoy this book.

CITY WINS IN GAMEWELL SUIT.

Judgment is that Concern May not Compel Payment.

Court Finds that Acts Were not Legally Sanctioned.

Says Orders Were Meant to Defeat Charter Provisions.

In a twenty-one-page opinion yesterday Judge McCormick, reviewing the history of the long fight of the Gamewell Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph Company to recover from the city of Los Angeles $14,859.45, representing the value of an extension of its police signal and fire alarm system at the University Police Station, gave judgment for the city.

The court held that "the acquisition of the property involved in this controversy and its installation into the city of Los Angeles was unauthorized, unlawful, invalid and void, and no obligation was imposed upon the city to pay the price asked therefor. The methods employed by the Gamewell company and those who attempted to represent the city in this connection were illegal, fraudulent and adopted for the purpose of evading, circumventing and defeating the provisions of the city charter regulating the purchase of property by and for the city of Los Angeles.

FRAUD CHARGED.

"The Gamewell, by voluntarily assuming to deal with the officials and agents of the city in such a void and unlawful and fraudulent manner, must suffer the consequences of such conduct, and, because of its delay in commencing action, can recover nothing by this action."

The evidence during the trial of the case showed that F. W. Frankhauser, now dead, under the title of superintendent bureau fire alarm and police telegraph, but whose authority as power as an officer or employee of the city, the court found, was not clearly defined by the evidence, wrote the Gamewell company under date of August 28, 1906, for prices and best terms of delivery on fire alarm and police telegraph apparatus. The Gamewell company complied, and it also appears that by splitting requisitions the goods were ordered in small lots.

The court held there was no evidence to show that previous to ordering said goods any action had been taken by the City Council, as records, nor were there any minutes of the Council introduced in evidence. It further did not appear that the Council had authorized, approved or authorized the ordering or purchase of the goods. The Council did, however, order demands paid when they were presented, but these were held by W. C. Mushet, then City Auditor, who conducted the fight against the Gamewell concern and carried it to the City Council.

Judge McCormick declared in his opinion: "To permit municipal authorities to subsequently sanction and validate acts which could not be validly done when consummated, is inimical to good government, and opens the door to official dishonesty and impose unwarranted and improper burdens upon taxpayers and inhabitants of cities."

GAMEWELL CONTENTION.

The Gamewell company held, through Attorney Goudge, that, although the attempted sale of the property was void as not complying with the provisions of the charter, nevertheless the city should not be permitted to repudiate the purchase and should retain the property, but should pay the goods to the Gamewell company. The court pointed that under a recent decision when a contract expressly prohibited by law no court of justice will entertain an action upon it or upon any asserted claim growing out of it.

"The purchase of the Gamewell system was not merely legally defective, the court found, but was not entered into in good faith, or sanctioned by the legal officers of the city, and was entered into "for the express purpose of evading, circumventing and defeating the charter provisions of the city."

The court further held, as to the claim barred by the statute of limitations, that the Gamewell's right to recover the goods or their value, if any, if at all, at the time the goods were received and installed in the police signal system of the city. "If there had been competitive bidding," the court said that other police supply companies could have had an opportunity to send in proposals, "and the prices might have been very much lower to the city in a financial sense, materially."

Assistant City Attorney Burnell tried the case for the city, and among other witnesses for the city were W. C. Mushet and N. Banks Smith, who has consistently fought the interest of competitive bidding. The Gamewell company will appeal from the judgment.

TURRISH DIVORCE CASE.

Wife of Wealthy Timberman, Whom She Had Married Second Time, Asks Court for Another Legal Separation, Alleging Extreme Cruelty.

Deputy City Attorney C. M. Moslin yesterday filed suit for James J. Turrish, a wealthy lumberman, was sued for divorce by Mrs. Lillian M. Turrish. She charges extreme cruelty, alleging that he called her names and further that he kept a gun under his pillow, to inspire fear.

Mrs. Turrish came prominently before the public in the case of Constable Edgar Woodbury, who was charged with receiving from him $20 in order to keep Mr. Turrish out of jail on a minor charge. The case against Woodbury was subsequently dismissed.

Mr. and Mrs. Turrish were married in Kansas in 1889. Seven years later they separated for divorce and was granted a decree. Ten years subsequently he married another man, according to the attorney. The second wife died. Mr. Turrish renewed his love for her, and they were married. The second honeymoon was a happy one, both profiting by their mistakes of former years.

A reconciliation, however, in August, followed, then a separation. Mr. Turrish's arrest, it is said, was not the cause of the divorce suit being brought. His preliminary examination before Justice Hanby, set for yesterday, was continued until Friday.

CONFESSES BURGLARIES.

Actor Reports a Watch Deal Which Results in Arrest of Boy Who Owns up to Police Operations in Wilshire District With Gang.

A 15-year-old boy, giving the name of Arnold Parrish, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Detectives Hickey and Edwards, charged with burglary. A conference in the detective department at police headquarters was followed by the statement of the detectives that the lad had confessed to robbing many Wilshire homes, and is said to have admitted he is a member of a gang of young desperadoes the police have been gradually gathering into the ample folds of the City Jail. Jewelry valued at $1000 was recovered by the officers, having been found, they declared, in a cache to which they were led by young Parrish.

The arrest of Parrish resulted from the sale by him of a $50 watch to a moving picture actor for 50 cents. The actor reported to the police and gave an accurate description of the young man.

The boys already arrested by the police are James and Harry Kaire, 17 and 19 years old, respectively; Hugo Mills, 17 years old, and Ralph Headrick, 17 years old. The four are alleged to have broken into garages and residences. Parrish is declared to have been a satellite of this gang.

Age and Youth Offer Themselves for Military Training Camp, to Prepare for Nation's Defense. Man of Sixty-one Seeks Right to Enroll.

Applications by a man 61 years old and by a youth of 17 years for permission to enroll were made at the offices of the Military Training Camp Association, room 411, Mortgage Guarantee Building, yesterday. A. Appel, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, is the older man and the younger is Hazen Howe, who is attending Hollywood High School. As Mr. Appel is eleven years over the age limit, special permission to enroll him will be asked of Maj.-Gen. J. Franklin Bell, who will be the principal speaker at the military luncheon at Hotel Clark at noon today. The general public is invited. The price of the luncheon is 50 cents.

Students of the University of Southern California, who are taking a great interest in the military training camp, have appointed a committee further to promote the idea at the university. This committee is composed of the following upper classmen: Harry Evans, chairman; Hunter Clark and Fred Aden. The student body instructed this committee to represent it at today's luncheon.

H. S. McKee, cashier of the National Bank of California and chairman of the local committee, states that Capt. John R. Murphy, U.S.A., detailed for the organization of the camp at Monterey, is making special arrangements to take care of the younger men. He also feels that men of extended military experience, like Mr. Appel, should be allowed to attend, even if over the age limit of 50 years.

THEIR LAST SERVICE.

Six Grandsons of Harris Newmark will be Pallbearers at Funeral Today of Pioneer Merchant—Business Houses Bearing His Name to Close.

Six grandsons will act as pallbearers at the funeral of Harris Newmark, octogenarian founder of the famous family of that name, which will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of one of his daughters, Mrs. J. Loew, No. 921 South Alvarado street. The usual Jewish service will be held. Dr. Sigmund Hecht, rabbi of the B'nai B'rith Congregation, of which Mr. Newmark was for many years president, will officiate. The body will be buried in the Home of Peace Cemetery on Stephenson avenue. The pallbearers will be Joseph P. Loeb, Stephen N. Loew, Grover I. Jacobi, Herman Levi, Sylvain Kauffman and Louis S. Nordlinger.

Before he died, Mr. Newmark made a request that the different business houses connected with his name should not be closed in the interval between his death and burial, which explains why they have carried on business as usual. However, all the houses will close this afternoon.

WOMAN ATTACKS WOMAN.

Applicant for Job at the Municipal Bureau Runs Amuck.

Mounted Officer Jacques and Detective Michael Greeley spent a busy ten minutes Tuesday afternoon in front of the Municipal Free Employment Bureau at No. 207 South Broadway, when Mrs. Helen Grausan, 45 years old, a domestic, attacked Miss Minnie A. Harding, clerk of the women's department, because Miss Harding had no work for her that minute. Officer Jacques tried to quiet the enraged woman, but, as he was handicapped because he had to hold his horse at the same time, he was faring badly.

At this juncture Detective Greeley appeared, and after his pipe had been nearly rammed down his throat by a back-hand slap, persuaded Mrs. Grausan to accompany him to the City Jail. The woman is held charged with disturbing the peace and battery. Miss Harding declared she had been attacked by the woman following her statement that no position was to be had for Mrs. Grausan at that time.

Man Arrested on White Slave Charge Faces His Accuser with Assertion that He Never Saw Girl Before—Federal Officials will Call Witnesses?

Selman Slayton, arrested on the charge of bringing Miss Bernice Smith of San Antonio to Los Angeles for an immoral purpose, faced his accuser yesterday in the office of United States Marshal Walton and denied that he ever knew her.

Miss Smith, who is but 18 years old, asked Clayton about a number of their alleged mutual friends in San Antonio, but he insisted that he had never heard of them.

"Don't you remember, just before the last holidays," she inquired, "when you came to our house and asked me to go to a show; how mother and father allowed me to accompany you, and how we went to the train and started for Los Angeles; don't you recall buying two berths? I have the tickets yet," she said to Asst. Dist.-Atty. Gallaher.

Clayton declared he had no recollection of the matter. He had never seen the speaker before, he stated.

"Don't you remember clerking in the grocery right across from our house; about your brother working in the Western Union Telegraph office as an operator; don't you remember that mother did not know that you got drunk, although I did?"

Clayton again denied her statements, saying he had never been in San Antonio in his life. The girl laughed.

If Clayton insists on his position, witnesses will be brought here from San Antonio to identify him, Federal officials stated yesterday.

TO STANDARDIZE FRUIT.

Committee on Classification Named by California Avocado Association.

In connection with plans for the semiannual meeting of the California Avocado Association in Blanchard Hall the 29th inst. a committee, headed by Dr. H. J. Webber, director of the University of California Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside, was formed here yesterday to deal with the classification and registration of varieties of the fruit.

As there are more than 100 known varieties of avocadoes, the committee faces no light task. The object of the committee's investigation will be to segregate the more desirable varieties for the standardization of the avocado strains. The committee will also act as judges for the association at its exhibitions, either of nursery stock or trees, and will decide on a form of certificate to be awarded to growers of varieties deemed worthy of recommendation.

The members of the committee, besides Dr. Webber, are: Dr. Ira J. Condit of the agricultural department of the University of California; William Hertrich, who is in charge of the horticultural and farming interests of H. E. Huntington, and H. M. Haldeman, vice-president and general manager of the H. R. Boynton Company, who is one of the best-known growers of the fruit in the State. A fifth member of the committee will be appointed later.

DESERTED HIS FAMILY?

Frank Roach, who was picked up by the local police, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hammack yesterday on the charge of being a fugitive from justice, it being alleged that he is wanted in Washington, D. C., on a charge of deserting his family. The case was postponed until the 21st inst., to give Roach an opportunity to summon witnesses in his behalf. He was held in $500 bond. Roach appears to be a prosperous business man and makes an emphatic denial of the truth of the charge.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The continued increase of railway earnings, denoting the broad expansion of general industrial activity, has caused a much larger demand for railway stocks and bonds as investments. Semi-official notice is given of an advance of $5 a ton in steel rails, owing to the unprecedented demand on mills for steel to build new or replace old lines. The issue of $55,000,000 in bonds at 4½ per cent. is contemplated by New York City.

(For details, see financial pages.)

ENGLISH BACHELORS.

Even at the risk of picking a suffragette, it now behooves any cowardly Englishman to acquire a wife and acquire her speedily, for conscription is surely reaching out to grab the bachelors and pack them off to war.

THE "UNFAIR" CONDUCTOR.

The highwaymen's union—in this case not to be associated with the plumbers' union—should call a boycott on Conductor Weaver for his most "unfair" tactics toward the walking delegate who called on him at the end of the West Adams line in the wee sma' hours Wednesday morning. Instead of handing over his cash he took a shot at the walking delegate. Very reprehensible it was on the part of the conductor.

GRANDMOTHER MORTALITY.

It's not an ancient joke—it's a perennial—this reference to the office boy's excuse for a chance to see the home team bat 'em out. The grandmother mortality is a healthy sign, too. It is a sign of energy and a love of clean sport among the fellows who haven't yet reached the dignity when they can put a sign on the door of the office: "Called out. Back at 5:30." For if a business man hurries he can usually get back after the game by that time.

READ PREPAREDNESS.

The enthusiasm shown by professional and business men in regard to the military training camp for California, which it is proposed to hold this summer, is highly satisfactory. It shows that the men of this city not only believe in preparedness but are willing to do their share in seeing that it is brought about. It is expected that 3000 men, of whom at least 1000 will come from Southern California, will rally at the "Plattsburg of the West" at Monterey in July and August.

DIALECT OF APES.

Prof. Garner, it is announced, "will soon again take up his residence in his steel cage in the French Congo, in order to study the language of the apes in the forests of Africa." If he could persuade to accompany him Doc Cook, who nailed the American flag to the north pole, and the Big Bull Moose, who discovered a lost river in Brazil, the reports of the trio might include not only the monkey tongue but the roaring of lions and the braying of wild jackasses.

LET THE WELKIN RING!

The resumption of traffic between Los Angeles and Huntington Beach, Newport Beach and Balboa by the Pacific Electric Railway is an event which deserves the day of celebration which is to be devoted to it. These three beaches are gems in the flashing crescents which mark the shores of Orange and Los Angeles counties. They are linked to this metropolis by a splendid system of electric lines, which, unable to withstand the might of nature, suffered considerably in the winter storms which raged with fury in January and caused no small amount of damage. The damage has been repaired and the Pacific Electric line to the beaches named is in fine shape again. By all means let's celebrate, and do it thoroughly!

STOPPING SUPPLIES OF MUNITIONS.

The Democratic caucus at Washington has adopted the suggestion made by The Times last year that the government shall acquire ownership of all establishments in the United States engaged in the manufacture of arms and munitions of war.

If this is done and is accompanied by a law prohibiting such manufactures except at government works an important step will be taken in the direction of promoting the end of the European war. It is one of the inconsistencies of international law that while a neutral power may not sell arms or munitions to a belligerent its citizens may do so. If the allies shall be deprived of their customary supplies of arms from this country it will surely tend to bring about a termination of hostilities.

THE ALIEN ILLITERACY BILL.

It is to be hoped that the President will adhere to his former position and veto the alien illiteracy bill and that either the House or the Senate will not vote to override his veto.

Illiteracy, it may be, is an evil and unrestricted immigration is an evil. But the latter is not to be checked merely by legislating against the former. The thieves, the anarchists, the drunkards, the wastrels, the degenerates, the physically and mentally infirm and the morally corrupt among the immigrants to this country are not so desirable an addition to our population as law-abiding, industrious men who are technically illiterate.

Better an honest worker who cannot read than a gold brick operator, or a soap box orator who is gifted with all the technical scholarship of the academic curriculum!

THE HOLLIS RURAL CREDIT BILL.

The Hollis rural credit bill, now pending in Congress, is very elaborate and very lengthy. Its purpose is to create a job lot of high salaried, deserving Democratic commissioners, registrars, appraisers and examiners, with their clerks, and, incidentally, to enable farmers to loan their own money to themselves and their neighbors.

Each Federal land bank must have a capital stock of 100,000 shares at $5 each, of which 10 per cent. must be invested in United States bonds. Ninety days after the opening of the subscription books all unsubscribed shares must be subscribed by the United States, but such stock shall not to entitled to dividends.

These Federal land banks may maintain branches. They may serve as United States depositaries. They may receive savings and deposits from shareholders and issue bonds up to twenty times their capital stock and surplus.

In addition to these bonds they may borrow from the United States $6,000,000 each year at 2 per cent. per annum and issue certificates of indebtedness therefor. The United States will loan its money at 2 per cent. to associations who will invest it in bonds on which the United States will pay 3 and 4 per cent. The bonds of the association shall be secured by mortgages valued by public appraisers and trusteed with a public registrar. They may bear interest at not exceeding 5 per cent. per annum, the smallest denomination shall be $25. They shall be exempt from all taxes, Federal, State, municipal and local, and be lawful investment for public and fiduciary funds. The United States may accept them as security for public deposits. Postal banks may invest 30 per cent. of their deposits in them. Any member bank of the Federal reserve system may buy or sell them, or use them as security for acceptances or 60-day direct obligations; and paper thus secured shall be eligible for discount by Federal reserve banks. The proposed Federal land banks shall guarantee the bonds of one another, both as to principal and interest.

National farm loan associations may be formed by ten or more natural persons. Only borrowers may hold shares. Every borrower must subscribe for shares up to 5 per cent. of his loan and if he has not the cash it may be added to the principal. He may buy as many shares as he desires but shall never cast more than ten votes.

Any resident of the territory of the association may be a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, or member of a loan committee of three, but he need not be a member, a shareholder, a borrower or a farmer. This generous provision will enable a Democratic barkeeper or jitney driver or barber or other deserving Democrat who never followed a plough or raised a cabbage to draw a salary as an officer of the farm land association.

The national farm land association my borrow money at 4 per cent. on its certificate of deposits, but it is not obliged to loan this money to farmers.

Loans made shall run for not less than five nor more than thirty-six years. The maximum for amount to any one person shall be $10,000 and the minimum $200. The method of payment shall be by annuities on the amortization plan, and prepayments shall not be allowed during the first five years, nor after that except in sums divisible by $100. Loans may be made only to purchase, improve or equip a farm for a home, or to liquidate indebtedness incurred by the owner for any such purpose. The borrower must be or become the actual resident and cultivator of the mortgaged property, and if he should use the money for some other object, or default, or die, the unpaid principal may be declared to be due with 6 per cent. interest.

The Hollis bill is caustically and elaborately reviewed by Ex-Gov. Myron T. Herrick. He says:

> It contravenes the spirit of American government in its plan to enact special as distinguished from general laws, and to create a Federal bureau clothed with both executive and judicial powers and authorized to establish a system through which, when Congress is not in session, it may abstract money for use of private individuals from the public treasury at 2 per cent. or for no interest, and involve the credit of the United States in the issue of unlimited millions of dollars of bonds bearing interest at a rate as high as 5 per cent. per annum and running for indefinite periods, even to several future generations. The bureau may establish any number of government banks in addition to the twelve first ones; and since no maximum is prescribed for capital stock, such public institutions may emit, upon forms prepared by the Secretary of the Treasury and Comptroller of the Currency and upon the certificate of officials of the United States, continual issues of bonds that may be endless, so long as qualified mortgages may be supplied."

The proposed bureau may take money from farmers in Los Angeles county and loan it to farmers in Oregon or Texas. It may fix different rates of interest for different localities and "play favorites" with individuals. It may grant or disallow charters, dissolve land banks and associations, appoint receivers, compound debts and claims and dispose of assets as it sees fit. A similar rural credit law in Italy years ago brought the public savings banks so near to ruin that they were only saved by the government repealing the laws.

There are in the United States 14,915,104 depositors in savings banks and loan associations, comprising both farmers and city dwellers. They have on deposit $6,355,413,913. They are satisfied with existing conditions. They can borrow all they want now, on good security. They do not need the money loaning machinery of the Hollis bill to enable them to secure funds for legitimate purposes. They do not need to pay the cost of maintaining a lot of government appointees, many of whom would know no more about the business of borrowing and loaning money than a coyote knows about nurturing sheep. The Hollis bill was concocted in brazen defiance of the Constitution, which rests in Congress only the power to borrow money on the credit of the United States and requires all bills for raising revenues to originate in the House. Such powers cannot be delegated. Nevertheless, the Hollis bill plans to empower a bureau of five appointees of the President and the Senate to utilize the credit of the United States and to borrow money without any limit as to amount or time and at a rate as high as 5 per cent. per annum. The farmers do not need the Hollis bill; the country does not want it. It should be tossed into the waste paper basket.

Shut Out.

INEFFICIENCY AT WASHINGTON.

The return of the Pacific Mail ships to this Coast involves only a resumption of coast traffic between American ports where foreign ships cannot trade. The La Follette law will still exclude them from the Orient trade which Japan has captured, which she is building new ships to take care of, and which we can never recover unless and until the La Follette shipping bill shall be repealed.

The national administration seems to have no consistent coherent policy about anything. Secretary McAdoo urges our merchants to enter South America for trade and Secretary Lansing urges them to leave Mexico and abandon our trade. In his address before the Illinois Bankers' Association, Mr. George W. Perkins said:

> "What is the use of starting out to capture South American trade when this country's governmental attitude toward foreign trade is fundamentally wrong on almost every count?
> "First—We can only go abroad with a company having a charter from a State.
> "Second—We have no merchant marine.
> "Third—We have an unscientific tariff.
> "Fourth—We have hostility between government and business all along the line.
> "Fifth—We have utter confusion as to the laws governing corporate organizations.
> "Sixth—We have no protection for American citizens or American business abroad."

The German government has instituted a new department to deal with economic conditions arising out of the war. In the midst of her colossal war German statesmen give serious thought and study to the industrial conditions that will confront their country when the war is over.

The United States is the only civilized nation that is not engaged in thinking, planning and working for the future. While other nations are pushing forward we are slipping backward. The gigantic, the inexcusable, the incomprehensible mistake this country made was in abandoning protection, and substituting for it the Underwood tariff for revenue only.

Our unpreparedness is many-sided: We are unprepared for war at arms, unprepared for war in industry, unprepared in statesmanship. Ever since Mr. Wilson was inaugurated the Democratic party has been busy smashing and repudiating plank after plank of the platform on which he was elected, except the free trade plank, which really needed to be made into kindling wood. One of those planks reads as follows: "The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government, both for himself and his property."

For eighteen months Germany has taken the lives of American citizens on the ocean. For eighteen months Great Britain has seized the property of American citizens on the high seas. For more than three years Mexico has robbed and murdered American citizens on the land, and President Wilson's administration has done nothing about it all except to multiply and reiterate words, words, words. In Mexico Villa did, finally, by invading the United States, force the Wilson administration to do what it ought to have done years ago—send an army into Mexico. Possibly if Germany or Britain or both were to land an army on our shores to ravage and loot our cities we might be aroused to action.

IRELAND STILL A-BOILING.

In spite of the signing of the Home Rule bill, the loyal co-operation of John Redmond with the imperial government, the temporary truce between the Orange and the Green and the gallant record made by Irish regiments fighting under the British flag, domestic affairs in the distressful island are far from being comfortable or harmonious—so far from it, indeed, that the Irish question is almost as critical now as it was in the days of Parnell.

Newspapers are being suppressed; trial by jury fails to bring convictions even on the clearest evidence; suspects are surreptitiously locked up under martial law; an active propaganda in favor of insurrection, even going so far as to offer support to the armies of the Kaiser, is carried on, not only in Cork and Limerick, but also in Dublin itself. Money and arms are found for the "Irish volunteers" whose avowed object is the complete independence of Ireland. The Fenians are active again.

Even at this Ireland is not in so desperate a mood as some reports would indicate. The majority of the Nationalists are still lined up behind John Redmond, willing to accept the Home Rule bill as an act of good faith and to give it a fair trial. But the minority in favor of complete separation, and the still smaller minority anxious to contribute to the success of the Kaiser's armies, are very noisy and very active.

The Irish have been saddled with a false reputation as a nation always anxious for war. The would-ye-tread-on-the-tail-of-my-coat sentiment is a personal idiosyncrasy, not unknown among Scotchmen, Englishmen and unhyphenated Yankees. The Irish race is not one that before everything else seeks war or is fond of war. The three Ps'—peace, politics and potatoes—are far more interesting to the average son of Erin. A Parliament in Dublin where home politics could have free play, a land rid of rackrents and absentee landlordism where potatoes could be grown in peace are objects far dearer to the Irish heart than participation in international quarrels.

THE LITTLE CHARTER.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Several of us are preparing to administer a robust knock on the new city charter as submitted by our palpitating board of handholders.

That patchwork creation goes a long ways in the direction of paternal government and municipal ownership, but it doesn't go far enough to do us any material good.

Municipal hair cuts and jitneys are all well enough in their way, and we will all hail the gladsome day when municipal lunch is served, but what we are sobbing and sighing for is a charter that will give to every man among us a horse, a cow, a sheep, a pig, a hen and a rabbit. Possibly it should also add a goat and a bee.

But anyhow a man thus accoutered ought to be able to sustain life almost anywhere—especially if he be a good trader.

This free board of handholders or handpicked board of freeholders furnishes us with a beauteous $7500 Mayor and a group of champagny officials, but just when they seemed to be going good for the rest of us, the whistle blew and they knocked off work.

Do these wise guys think they can ease me off with a hair cut? Do they fancy that I am to be appeased with a public bath? Don't they know that I object to bathing in public—or bathing at all, for that matter?

If we are going to have paternalism in politics, for heaven's sake let us make it worth while. If the city can shave us and haul us it can certainly feed and clothe us and buy us new records for the phonograph.

Personally I do not feel that I can stand for any paternal charter that fails to provide me with the horse, cow and other wild and domestic animals indicated in a previous paragraph. I believe I also voice the sentiments of thousands of other equally covetous and clamorous citizens. If the charter will assemble for me the live stock I have indicated I might possibly be able to hustle for myself, but since this Federal reserve bank has miserably failed to supply me with what money I desired I am distressingly suspicious of the promises of politicians and legislators.

But if the charter provides every householder with a horse and other living creatures as mentioned above there is something substantial to start with. It is a good deal like casting an anchor to windward. Nowadays a man can trade a good horse for a poor auto, and that would help some in keeping body and soul together. If he should happen to draw a great grandson of Dan Patch he could sell the animal as a cavalry mount to the French army for $300. Were the equine built on Clydesdale or Percheron lines he would be worth as much or more to the English artillery. Even the humble and phlegmatic mule is now worth a couple of hundred bucks for ice wagon purposes.

With dubious milk selling at 10 cents a quart and choice Jersey heifers going at one hundred plunks a cow becomes a comfortable companion for any household and a cow-guaranteeing charter would appeal to the masses. With lamb chops worth 30 cents a pound and wool selling at 28 cents the desirability of welcoming a sheep into the home is understood. Mary and her lamb would be received with acclaim almost anywhere. With pork selling up to 20 cents a pound, choice bacon at 30 and everything used of a hog but the squeal a pig becomes a critter with which man can associate without losing caste. Now add your poultry and rabbit to the family collection and there is no need to worry where the next meal is coming from.

If these charter-building guys cannot frame a document which will provide every citizen with a domestic zoo they better quit the business or else throw away their creation and start afresh.

They have retained a gorgeous bunch of boards and commissions and have made possible the usual number of elections, with the initiative, the referendum and the recall. They have made certain the enormous expenditure of money and have provided a government that is almost certain to be more costly than anything dreamed of before, but just at the point where they were getting down to the plain people and might have provided every voter with a horse, cow, et cetera, as indicated above, they yawned and went over to the Dutchman's for refreshment.

The charter is a great mass of words, some mean and some meaningless, but it doesn't give us our desires—to-wit: a horse, hen and other wild pets as hereinbefore mentioned.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

MORE MONEY.

I pity the poor, sordid soul, who always is asking himself, "Oh, how can I add to my roll, and store up more plunder and pelf?" If always you think of your pile, and make of your bankbook a pet, the things that are truly worth while you're apt to ignore or forget. If always you hanker and wish, and hunger and thirst for the mon, and never go fishing for fish, or hunting warthogs with a gun, if all through the hurrying year, your thoughts are on profit and gain, your soul will be shriveled and sere, the rust will get into your brain. It gives me the willies to talk with men to whom Cash is a god; for Cash is their store and their stock, and all they can think of is Wad. The master of money ne'er knows the literature of the day, the works of Nick Carter or those of "Rita" or Bertha M. Clay. His soul is ingulfed in the mart, his life's aim is sordid and grim, the treasures of song and of art and music are dead ones to him. He cares not for color or tone, and nothing for mirth does he care; he sees in the distance a bone, and chases it down to its lair.

WALT MASON.

Jane Addams's Ideal Pacifism.

[Detroit Free Press:] Quite true it is, as Jane Addams avers, that China existed a thousand years without an army. "Existed" is the proper word. So does a slave exist. So does a yellow dog, kicked by every passer-by, yapped at by every fellow-canine, scratched by every cat. But do slaves and yellow dogs live? Is their existence worth while?

If China has so existed for a thousand years it also has been the victim of every freebooting tribe that has come its way. It has been enslaved by every adventurous nation. It has been forced under the yoke of foreign dynasties and obliged to bear the badge of servitude—a pigtail. And it has been stagnant, so stagnant it has been unable even to decay like decent, self-respecting countries under bondage.

China is a fine example of the glories of pacifism.

LURE OF LOVE LEADS TO JAIL.

Could not be Happy Together, nor Apart, They Say.

Will not Remarry; are Given Suspended Sentences.

A love that was not strong enough to withstand the clash of married life, yet was too strong to permit either to wed again, and summoned them to clandestine trysts in a downtown hotel, was revealed in Police Judge White's court, yesterday, when V. G. Wilson and his divorced wife, Katherine, faced a charge of violating the cohabiting-house ordinance.

Mrs. Wilson is a pretty woman, strikingly dressed and young. Mr. Wilson is a sewer pipe contractor. They were married six years ago, and are the parents of two children. Two years ago, their antagonistic temperaments brought about a situation so unhappy they applied for divorce. It was granted.

Then each went away to forget the other, and seek new mates, agreeing that each should make an effort to wed happily.

Mrs. Wilson said to Judge White yesterday: "I did my best to stay away from Mr. Wilson. I met new friends, busied myself with working in an office, and tried to put the old love out of my mind. It knew it was impossible for me to get along with Mr. Wilson. We fought. We simply couldn't agree. But I found other men didn't appeal to me. I measured them all by my husband's standard, and they fell short. I was willing to fall in love, almost seeking to fall in love, and yet my old love for my husband withheld me.

"I knew it was wrong for me to meet him again, but, Judge, you can't understand how difficult it was to resist my love. And one night when I was very lonely and disconsolate, I let him call on me, and we continued to meet. I knew it was wrong, but it didn't seem very wrong to me to be meeting the man who had been my husband. And although I know I am guilty of violating the law, it wasn't the same it seems to me, as though I had met some other man. I don't feel very guilty, Your Honor."

Mr. Wilson explained he had suffered as had his wife, that he could find no other woman whom he loved so much.

Then Justice White asked them if they cared to rewed, each considered the suggestion carefully, and each admitted they couldn't resist fighting.

Because both pleaded guilty, Justice White gave them suspended sentences of thirty days in jail, with the understanding Mrs. Wilson is to go to live with her brother, and try the separation try to forget her husband.

TWO MONTHS GIVEN FOR SEWER REPORT.

SUPERVISORS DECIDE AGAINST PERMANENT COMMISSION.

Board of Engineers to Report by First of June on the Main Questions Concerned in Making Plans for Sanitary System for the County.

After several hours of conference, the Board of Supervisors determined yesterday not to employ the Commission of Sanitation Engineers for the period of a year, as suggested by that body of experts. It was asserted by the engineers it would require at least a year and the expenditure of $45,000 to outline and detail a comprehensive sewage disposal plan for the county.

The Supervisors did, however, decide that the commission should do certain work for the county, in an effort to bring the matter of sewage disposal to a sufficiently concrete whole to enable the board to place it before the voters for final disposal. A limit of less than two months is allowed the commission, their work being required to be concluded state by June 1.

At that time, the Supervisors desire to be informed as to what degree of purification of sewage is necessary before the effluent can be used upon land for irrigation, without being a menace or a danger to health. Further, the report is to show how much purification is necessary before the effluent can be discharged into the ocean without damage or danger. Just what degree of success has been attained in these two methods of disposal in other cities of America is also required.

The necessary distance of sewage disposal plants from residences; the method for reducing and purification thereof, and several similar matters are left up to the engineers. The final point which the commission is expected to answer is whether or not the suggested plant to be established at Ramona Acres, by Pasadena, Pasadena, and Alhambra, will furnish the desired results without being a menace and nuisance.

The members of the commission will be immediately notified by the board to get together at the earliest possible moment and start their investigations. Nothing as to the pay of the engineers was brought up. In the commission report, the salary of the chief was figured at $3000 a year and it is generally presumed that the pay of the body will be a part of this amount for the time being in investigation and reporting desired.

'TWAS FALSE ALARM.

Fire Quickly Gather when Fire Signal Sounds at Hall of Records, but Crossed Wires Caused Long-continued Commotion.

When the burglar alarms in the Hall of Records began sounding at an early hour yesterday morning, watchmen of the building were joined by a corps of deputy sheriffs, all loaded with shotguns and rifles, ready for a desperate battle with any criminals who might have ventured a try for the $2,000,000 contained in the vaults of the County Treasurer.

The bells continued to ring for two hours, at which time Deputy Treasurer Dow arrived from his home. He had been awakened and brought downtown in a special car. He disconnected the alarm from the vault and stopped the racket.

The band of sleuths, watchmen and volunteer assistants searched every nook and corner in the immense building without finding any evidence of intruders. Electricians finally discovered crossed wires, which had set off the alarms.

They will be prosecuted here on a charge of resisting arrest. Detectives McAfee and Mann, who brought them from Fresno, identified the men positively as members of the gang. Before their arrival here they wired their attorney, Frank Dominguez, to meet them at the train.

LAST TRIBUTE TO GILES KELLOGG.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT FAMILY RESIDENCE.

Church and Business Associates Gather at Bier to Hear Eloquent Eulogies by Pastors—Daughter Hastening from Manila to be with Widowed Mother.

A distinguished gathering, representing the most prominent circles in the social and business life of this city, was present yesterday afternoon to pay a last tribute of respect to the departed, at the funeral services of Giles Kellogg, conducted at the family residence, No. 3002 Wilshire boulevard. So large was the assemblage that an overflow stood on the broad veranda, listening to the impressive services through the open door.

A glowing tribute, proving the esteem in which Mr. Kellogg was held by his fellow-men, was paid by Rev. A. B. Prichard, who conducted the services, assisted by Rev. O. G. Bale. Appropriate hymns were rendered by members of the choir of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Kellogg had been an active member for twelve years.

"We are gathered together to pay final tribute to one of the prominent men of our community," Dr. Prichard said. "The fact that so many representative business men who knew him are present proves the esteem in which he was held. You respected him. You loved him.

"Mr. Kellogg was fundamentally a domestic man. It is because his home was first in his thoughts that we are gathered here instead of in some public house of worship.

"He was a devout churchman and a Christian. He devoted the years of his life to his church, and his many good works will live after him."

Following the benediction, delivered by Mr. Bale, the casket was taken from the flower-covered alcove in which it had rested during the services, and conveyed by the pallbearers through a long line of uncovered friends to the hearse. The funeral cortege formed, and proceeded to the Bresee parlors, where the body will remain in state until the early part of next week. At that time it will be conducted by the widow and sons to Troy, N. Y., where the interment will take place.

Mr. Kellogg, who was secretary of the Union Oil Company, and prominent in business and social affairs of the city, died suddenly last Saturday while at Coronado Beach. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter, Mrs. Shepard Ward-Fitzgerald of Manila, who is even now hurrying across the Pacific to the side of her mother.

The pallbearers were: Active, E. A. K. Hackett, W. E. McVay, John McPeak, Benjamin F. Pearson, Dr. S. F. Salisbury, J. M. Rust, C. M. Staub and Charles H. King; honorary, Dr. John Willis Baer, Frank P. Flint, O. T. Johnson, W. D. Longyear, T. E. Newlin, R. D. Matthews, Leon V. Shaw, J. M. Irvine, Charles M. Stimson, Lyman Stewart, Walter H. Fisher, W. FUND FOR COLEMAN HOUSE IS GROWING.

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Workers at Luncheon Express Confidence in the Success of Efforts to Raise Needed Money to Maintain Day Nursery and Educational System for Foreigners.

Things looked brighter for Coleman House yesterday noon than they ever looked before, when a score of men and women workers gathered at Christopher's, No. 551 South Broadway, to hear reports and discuss the progress of the $30,000 campaign.

That this sum will be raised for the improvement and maintenance of Coleman House the men and women working in the interests of the institution are now convinced. The reports made yesterday to Mrs. Charlotte M. Eddy, campaign manager, indicate that every penny will be deposited to the credit of the institution founded by Mrs. Matilda M. Coleman before the campaign is closed.

Reports were made at the luncheon by Judges Craig and Taft of the Superior Court, Dr. Edward S. Merrill, Dr. Nina Stevens, E. J. Lickley, Mrs. Henry Clay King and Mrs. Eddy.

A letter written by Judge Wood during his recent illness was read and applauded. This letter, to wealthy friends, eloquently emphasized the needs of Coleman House.

The plan suggested by Dr. Merrill, of taking wealthy persons to Coleman House to see the work that is being done and the neighborhood is proving efficacious. Dr. Merrill and others have obtained substantial donations from persons introduced to Coleman House.

This plan will be followed by other campaign workers. Judge Myers and Arthur Keetch will take parties to the institution this evening, and Judge Taft has made up an automobile trip for next Saturday noon.

Coleman House, at No. 402 Bauchet street, is in the center of a foreign population. The institution is administering to the needs of twenty-nine nationalities. It is trying to teach grown men and women how to be good citizens, and to educate them. It ministers to the needs of the new-born babe and the adult. Its day nursery has been closed for lack of improvements demanded by the health department. The institution is sorely in need of funds, not only to enlarge upon the work already undertaken, but also for its very existence.

Coleman House workers will be glad to show the institution to any person interested. Those wishing to investigate the institution and its work should drop a line to campaign headquarters, No. 908 Auditorium Building, or telephone F2626.

A large gathering of the campaigners is expected for next Tuesday noon, when they will meet at luncheon at Christopher's to make reports and plan for the future.

HIS HORSE "BUCKED."

Boy Playing Cowboy Falls from High Banister and Arm is Broken.

Earl Seely, 6 years old, of No. 334 South Figueroa street, Tuesday night attempted to give his twin brother a demonstration of how a cowboy would handle a bucking horse. He mounted the banister enclosing the second story porch of his home and with shrill yells began to wave his hat in approved cowboy style. The next thing he knew he woke up in the Receiving Hospital, with a broken right arm.

When asked by police surgeons to explain his accident, Earl was unable to do so. All he could remember was mounting the banister. His twin brother, however, notified the police that "Earl can't ride a horse at all. It bucked him clear down to the ground, two stories away. Wait till I get home and I'll show him how it should be done."

Mrs. Seely did not agree with her second son, however, and the "horse" will not be ridden.

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best Doctor is often unable to find the cause of many of these headaches, and in most other cases, knowing the cause, he does not know what will remove it, so as to give a permanent cure. All he can do is to prescribe the usual pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, no matter what their nature, take anti-kamnia tablets, and the results will be satisfactory in the highest degree. You can obtain them at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth, 25c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick-headache, the most miserable of all sicknesses, loses its terrors when A-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be warded off. During an attack take one A-K Tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort which follow, can be obtained in no other way.

"Silkenfiel"—the New Silverbloom Fabric in Woolen Goods

Silkenfiel—the fabric of a thousand uses; it will make an instant hit with women, if we are any judges of worth and desirability in woolen materials:

For Women's Garments—Silkenfiel will be much used for middy blouses and skirts, for sports garments, for afternoon costumes and for traveling purposes—you see what a range of fashionable colors must be included to be suitable for so many purposes.

Silkenfiel fabrics and colors are guaranteed not to fade; they are sun and tub proof; they may be laundered like a pocket handkerchief, which makes them highly desirable.

The lovely silvery frost on the surface of Silkenfiel sparkles like the finest silk; and this brilliancy will not wear or wash off. Silkenfiel fabrics are guaranteed to wear a year.

For Children's Garments—Silkenfiel is unsurpassed; it wears like buckskin, sheds dust and dirt easily and does not soil quickly.

SOCIETY.

A particularly brilliant season is presaged for the City of the Angels next fall, due to the galaxy of bewitching debutantes who are to be officially presented to society's portals by devious, charming teas, receptions and balls, plans for which are already being launched.

The two popular young daughters of Attorney and Mrs. Isidore Bernard Dockweiler, the Misses Mary and Rosario, are to have their coming out simultaneously—a happy arrangement scheduled for early fall, and the handsome home of the Dockweilers at No. 587 West Adams street will consequently be the scene of much gaiety. The girls are convent bred, having finished at Notre Dame in San Jose, and will grace their positions.

Yesterday they were assisting their charming mater dispose of pencils and tags for charity, and their winsomeness was the cause for a noticeable enlargement in the treasury for the two causes. The tags mean assistance in the war-stricken zone, for every one of the little metal crosses significantly embossed means sufficient milk for two days for a fatherless child of a French soldier. And Mrs. Dockweiler is bending her every effort in the altruistic work resultant from the tragedy abroad.

Miss Eleanor Workman, too, is to make her debut some time next fall, and ever so many others of the sweet buds who will have finished school.

For San Francisco Maidens.

Japanese peach blossoms will make a fitting floral background for the pretty luncheon Miss Mariposa Dell is giving at her home on No. 1401 Wilshire boulevard today in compliment to her two house guests, the Misses Lorena Atwood and Violet Leighton, both of whom come from San Francisco. Pink tulle and the same exquisitely lovely shade covering the candlesticks will complete the table decorations, where place cards of peach design will mark covers for the two honorees, Miss Virginia Burmister, Miss Myrtle Martin, Miss Marguerite Atwood, Miss Frances Berry, Miss Gertrude Wagerman and the hostess.

Again go Eastward.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Moore of Indiana, who for the past several years have come for their winters to Southern California, are leaving for their home today. Mrs. Charles Bareford is a sister and a part of the present winter they have enjoyed as her guests.

Large Affair.

A musical tea was the mode of entertainment chosen by Mrs. Edward F. Siegmund for seventy-five of her friends yesterday afternoon, who were extended delightful hospitality at the hostess's home, No. 1715 Westmoreland boulevard, the programme being furnished by Miss Margaret McKee and Miss Lea McKee.

A profusion of American Beauty roses and fetching bows of the same shaded tulle were employed decoratively in the dining-room, while the reception and drawing-rooms looked beautiful in their Japanese iris embellishment. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. James Henry Ballagh, Mrs. Walter Ingraham, Mrs. W. J. Lawless, Mrs. Julian Van Dusen, Mrs. G. Hallet Johnson, Miss Alice Weaver, Miss Mitzi Schwanger, Miss Irene Hamilton and Miss Helen Johnson.

Much Entertained in Social Circles.

Mrs. E. D. Roberts,

A recent social acquisition, and for whom Mrs. Stoddard Jess entertained three weeks ago at one of the smartest receptions of the year. Mrs. Roberts and her husband, the former State Treasurer, are domiciled at the Darby.

Dispense Hospitality.

Hon. Alva Adams, three times Governor of Colorado, with Mrs. and Miss Adams, who are just now in the environs of Los Angeles, were hosts to a number of guests at Sunday dinner at the Hotel Virginia.

Delicately Pink.

Mrs. Frank Dick of Manhattan place entertained the Pine Forest Whist Club Tuesday. An exquisitely appointed luncheon was served. The color scheme was pale pink, flowers and favors being of that delicate shade.

The first prize was a splendid silver fruit basket and the second a French crystal clock.

The club is fourteen years old and meets twice every month. The members present at Mrs. Dick's luncheon were Mrs. A. J. Copp, Mrs. O. B. Fuller, Mrs. H. L. Gruber, Mrs. Thomas Hughes, Mrs. Viola Jeffries, Mrs. C. S. Kious, Mrs. S. Matthay, Mrs. Cora L. Meekins, Mrs. W. A. Morehouse, Mrs. Octavius Morgan, Mrs. Louise Murphy, Mrs. Frank MacArthur, Mrs. Thomas Pascoe, Mrs. C. A. Rockwell, Mrs. S. W. Strong, Mrs. L. W. Snow, Mrs. M. K. Suber, Mrs. C. W. Sylvester, Mrs. W. B. Scott and Mrs. W. H. Wagner.

Seek the Mountains.

A merry party of outdoor devotees who enjoyed a delightful week-end at Arrowhead Springs included a number of well-known Angelenos and Crown City folk. Among the number who made the trip to Squirrel Inn and Pine Crest from Arrowhead last week-end are included Dr. and Mrs. Bertnard Smith of Los Angeles, Miss Edith Walton, a charming young visitor from East Orange, N. J., who is wintering in Southern California as Mrs. Hugh Livingston Nacnell's house guest, and Clinton K. Judy of Pasadena.

Adding to the gaiety of Arrowhead over the last week-end were Charles Grimes of Pasadena and his daughter, Miss Gladys Grimes. Both of the visitors have been there frequently during the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Parkinson of Newport Beach are also very happily domiciled at Arrowhead, where tennis, golf and other outdoor attractions are claiming much of their time. They entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. Magauran of Los Angeles over the week-end.

Gen. and Mrs. C. W. Spitzer plan to remain at the pretty retreat indefinitely, the former now convalescing from a recent illness. Mme. Alys Larrayne is also resting at Arrowhead. It will be recalled that she is the beautiful opera singer of Paris who came to America when the war broke out, and has been much in Los Angeles.

For This Month.

Mrs. Joseph Le Roy of Sycamore avenue, Hollywood, always a gracious hostess who frequently brings pleasure to her friends, has issued invitations for a luncheon on the 25th inst., at Beverly Hills Hotel.

Touring the North.

Leaving Thursday in their motor car, Mr. and Mrs. Jule Barman of No. 511 South Serrano street will spend the next several weeks touring in the northern part of the State. They were accompanied by their guest, Mrs. William Buskirk, who will go from there to her Montana home, at Miles City. Mrs. Buskirk furnished the inspiration for many happy functions while visiting Los Angeles.

Changed Their Residence.

Beach Dinner.

There are two Mrs. Larrabees at the Hotel Virginia this season, and they have both been entertaining frequently. One of them is Mrs. William Larrabee, the gracious wife of the late Governor of Iowa. The other is Mrs. F. T. Larrabee, a charming society woman of Minneapolis. The latter was hostess recently at a brilliantly appointed dinner at the Virginia in honor of Baron Oldenberg of Sweden, who has been paying a short visit to Southern California. The dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Moyer Green, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schoenfeld of Seattle, Mrs. Mary Webber, Mrs. G. M. Ravenscroft, Mrs. Burrell C. Steele of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Thompson, Mrs. Edith Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien West Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ross, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Linton, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle L. Merithew, Mrs. L. C. Pryor, Miss Penita Drake, Miss Constance Lockhart, Mrs. Charles W. Kemmler of New York, Lieut. S. Rowland White, Jr., Lieut. Lang, William P. Nestle, Frederick J. Jackson, Victor M. Anderson, and Dr. Gordon Grundy.

Uniquely Planned.

One of the charming affairs of April 1 was the dansant supper with which Miss Gladys Stamats entertained members of the Bachelor Girls' Club at her home on West Forty-third place. Pink and green formed the motif of the decorations, and a wealth of pink rosebuds reflected their beauty in a large table mirror hidden in a bank of asparagus plumosus. Novel place cards consisted of tiny mirrors at each place. Pink candy tripods and French gold baskets filled with pink and green candies were the favors. Each course was a surprise to the guests, the menu being cleverly disguised in true April Fool style. This likewise carried out the color scheme of pink and green. Later in the evening the young men came in for a "little foolish party." Games, April Fool frolics and dancing were enjoyed. Those present were the Misses Melba Perkins, Glen Ayers, Florence Madden, Marie Tweedy, Eloise Karpe and Messrs. Leo Lewis, Karl Karpe, Howard Stillman and Eugene Frost.

Out of Doors.

One of the very enjoyable events on the last day of March was a picnic given by Mrs. Austin S. Cadwalader, Mrs. John Honig and Mrs. John H. Goss in Sycamore Grove, the spreading trees being in particularly attractive attire and making a lacey green canopy for the tables laid in their spotless clothes and showers of golden poppies. Guests of honor, all former Grand Rapids ladies, were Miss Louise Frederick, Miss Clara Jackoboice, Mrs. Ray Beardsley, Miss Mary Doyle, Mrs. Paul Rathman and Miss Ruth Hand, who found untold pleasure in meeting in this land of sunshine. Following the elaborate midday feast, the company grouped together to enjoy a programme of music and readings, the welcome being extended by Mrs. C. D. Alcumbrack. Mrs. M. E. Johnson in inimitable fashion gave several selections, reading among other things "The Tiger," one of the gripping literary offerings. Mrs. John H. Goss gave readings from Riley and the Italian—"The Musicky Man." Miss Mary Doyle read a poem (a take-off on our fogs and real estate men, though not that the two are similar.) Mrs. Will Cady read a poem entitled "Grand Rapids," and Mrs. Honig closed with a few well chosen words.

Fingering Finery.

AMONG THE STORES AND AMIDST THE SHOPS.

Along Our Dazzling Streets, where Dame Fashion's Shopping is Done.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

Now is the time to buy:

Rhubarb, which is becoming very scarce and will soon be off the market. This wholesome vegetable-fruit has found especial favor this season, and that grown in California has made for itself a reputation in eastern markets.

The supply of sugar for weeks to come, as prices are again soaring and bid fair to reach even higher planes than heretofore. If prices continue to climb, the jelly, jam and preserving season will prove one of anything but economy.

Among the "blessings which brighten as they take their flight" are apples, which are becoming more popular as the season nears its close. Northern winesaps, especially, are great favorites just now.

Practical Suggestion.

A cheap and effective dye for Easter eggs may be made by soaking in water any fabric such as calico, cambric, etc., which is not a "fast" color. Many pretty tints are thus obtainable, and as dyes are at present so very scare this plan may be utilized for economy.

Good Cookery.

If there is a woman in Los Angeles who does not know how to cook after this it will be her own fault. That big cooking school is the place to learn how to make, bake and otherwise prepare foods of every sort, and to learn under the guidance of a truly efficient chef. Yes, at that big store on lower Broadway, where a year or so ago the same chef gave lessons in culinary expertness.

And Also.

At the same there is in progress a line of demonstrations amounting to a regular "county fair." Every kind of labor-saving device as well as all the latest foods and fads in foods are there to be seen. A pure food show of real value to the homekeeper is this. So at a single visit we may learn both what and how.

Flesh.

But not meat! I refer not to the meat for use in the cooking school, but to those new flesh-colored brassieres with shields, the entire garment—although too thin to be really termed a garment—in flesh tint so that it will scarcely be visible under the corset cover. Held up on the shoulder by a flesh-colored satin ribbon, this article is rather ornamental than otherwise and extremely useful, I need not say.

The Beach Shampoo.

Perhaps you would not call it a shampoo, when old ocean washes your head despite all your rubber cap precautions, but anyhow there you sit upon the sands with you hair all astream over your shoulders, waiting for your crown of glory to dry. Have you forgotten how uncomfortable you are with the upper part of your bath suit all damp and clammy If you have not you will hail with delight those new rubberized jackets, which are pretty, as well as irresistible to dampness. With one of these you may do your hair-drying in ease and comfort.

Absent Minded.

We all begin to think Edith in love and when told of her latest fit of absent-mindedness and its laughable result we were positive that she is afflicted with what Elbert Hubbard called "the love microbe." Of course, she might have kept the thing to herself, but Edith likes a joke, even at her own expense. Aunt Anne has a strict rule that every one must thoroughly cleanse the bath tub after absolutions; and the other morning Edith had given especal labor to this feat when, chancing to look at the shaker containing the cleansing powder which so magically eliminates dirt, she was amazed to discover that she had absent-mindedly picked up the wrong shaker and—oh, horrors!—had used on that whole big tub her choicest tooth powder, costing over $1 a can! "Why," said she, "I am careful to shake out but a few grains of that precious powder per tooth-clean, and I had been especially lavish with the cleanser on that tub!"

"A Fifty-thousand-dollar Toothache."

Is not that an interesting title? And the literature under the title is as interesting. It is a brochure which gives full directions for the care and preservation of the teeth. This information is given, not in any dry and dreary way, but so intelligently sets forth the facts as to teeth and the reasons for this and that in caring for them that when one begins to read one is certain to continue to the very last word. Such a booklet should be in the hands of every young person—and, yes, in those of every person possessed of teeth; for what is more precious than our teeth when we realize that upon their good condition depends our health, our good nature and even life itself, in the long run. The author of the helpful booklet is one who has made a life-long study of his theme. And—oh, yes, it is free for the asking.

High up!

As skirts go up, so do collars. It is an odd feminine fiction that if one part of the anatomy is covered it matters not about another. And so many of the extremely short-skirted frocks are furnished with extremely high chokers. Consistency, thou are a jewel of especial brilliance when applied to dress!

Summer Furs.

As popular as last season will be furs for wear with summer clothes. The foxes are as good as ever and will be utilized with the thinner sports' clothes which need some such luxurious touch to add that something needed to complete a perfect toilet, even of the less formal sort. So becoming are the soft-neck pieces of fox that once worn they are seldom relegated to the ranks of the cast-away.

Men's Millinery.

Some of the new hats for men are singularly similar to ours. They have crowns of straw and brims of felt. This consorting of various materials heretofore confined to women's millinery, leads us to wonder if it may soon be wings, ribbons and big fluffs of maline for William's dressiest chapeau? Already have the bands of masculine hats taken on color and stripe, plaid and brocade quite equal to our own.

Quite too Much!

The apron, the fischu, the mop cap—all quite irresistible—and now come those quaint ear cuffs such as grandmother used to wear! Surely there will be few bachelors left, when these modes have had full sway, for what so winning as the demure conjoining of the three styles of long ago? He who can look and remain heart-whole, deserves a bitter fate.

For the Sake of Fashion.

The more fluffy summer dresses will combine organdie and taffeta.

Jersey weaves are very prominent in the new fabrics for spring.

Lace and flouncings of all kinds will be used on the summer frocks.

A great many dresses are finished at the throat with a square neck.

A very pretty style for a tailored suit is the bolero with the short skirt.

The blue serge suit must have about its trimming a touch of color. For instance, one has buttons and trimmings of yellow cloth, while another may have bands of gray stitching and a gray silk collar.

Wide drooping hats simply trimmed with a narrow band of velvet caught around the crown with a single rose and another single rose and small bow combined, set on the very edge of the brim, this describes the picture hat of the day.

The hoop seems to be creeping into fashion slowly.

Parasols with large polka dots and fringe will be fashionable.

The separate skirt may be trimmed as elaborately as desired.

DRAMA.

PLAYLAND IN REVIEW.

ATTRACTIONS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN HERE AND NEAR.

May Robson is appearing this week at the Mason in one of the most delightfully human little comedies of the season, and incidentally one of the best plays which the Mason has ever housed, "The Making Over of Mrs. Matt." A company of even excellence presents the delightful play.

Next week Florence Roberts in "The Eternal Magdalene" will be the attraction. The play is by Robert McLaughlin and is one of the most successful and most talked-of dramas of the present year.

Hippodrome.

Strassell's animals, said to be one of the best animal acts on the stage, featuring ponies, dogs and seals, will headline the new Hip bill opening next Monday.

Other attractions will be De Fras, equilibrist; Bart and Lyton, characteristic comedians; Gray and Graham, in the "Musical Bellboy;" Fred Thomas and company in "Mr. Sippy's Nightmare;" Chase and La Tour, topical songsters, and Adams, Beverly and West, character comedians.

Morosco.

"The Miracle Man" continues to draw this week at the Morosco. Next week the attraction will be that clever revelation of stage life, "The Show Shop." The play travesties the making of a play, from the time of the rehearsals, to the final going [illegible] presenting all the types so well known to the theatrical people themselves, including the cantankerous author, the bull-dozing producing manager, the irascible stage manager, the mother and all the conventional characters of "behind scenes," even the property man. It was one of the biggest hits of the past two seasons in New York.

Orpheum.

The best all-round bill of the season is showing at the Orpheum this week. Only two acts, however, will remain next week. "The Passing Show of Washington Square" and Dorothy Jardon with her songs.

The new bill has as its headliner next week the noted Hebrew impersonator, Harry Green, who will present a sketch entitled "The Cherry Tree."

Others will be Gara Kerr, a graceful symbolic dancer; Harry Hines, "the fifty-eighth variety," and his partner in troubles; Olga Cook, singer of pantomedienne; Bert Wheeler and company in "Troubles of a Jitney," and Arthur Stone and Marian Hayes in "Green Goods."

Republic.

Unusual British folk dances are well presented at the Republic this week by the three Dixon sisters, who in addition to singing, banjo playing, bugle playing, give a delightful demonstration of clog dances of Lancashire. The photoplay offering, "The Scarlet Road," is pleasing, and the bill, as a whole, is well worth while.

Next week comes a big bill, with Considine road show headed by the original Raffles and company in a novelty sensational mystery cracking act. The dramatic [illegible]

The Los Angeles Times

LXVTH YEAR. THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 6, 1916.—4 PAGES. PART III.

HIGH cost of gasoline is causing motorists to demand Better Mileage than most cars can give.

Many car owners are growing tired of using one-third of their gasoline just to keep a water-cooling system at work.

Owners of Franklin Direct-Air-Cooled Cars are showing them daily averages of 18 to 25 miles per gallon of gasoline—

Franklin savings in gasoline, tires, upkeep are causing many a man to sell his old car and buy a Franklin.

Come in. Get Franklin facts and figures that will stop that leak in your gasoline tank.

U.C. SCRUBS WIN FROM STANFORD.

Frequent Errors Mar Nifty Ball Game.

California Tallies Two in Fatal Seventh.

Freshmen Redeem Themselves After Poor Showing.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) April 5. — By winning the second game of the series this afternoon the California freshmen captured the first freshman baseball series ever contested with Stanford. California followed the 7-to-0 score of last Saturday with a 5-to4 win this afternoon.

Fast ball and a close game, though marred by frequent errors, redeemed the freshmen's miserable showing in the U.S.C. game of two weeks ago.

FIRST SCORE.

Messick, Stanford first sacker, opened the game with an auspicious three bagger and scored on a fielder's choice in the second frame. Boydston, after reaching first on an error, scored on Reagan's single.

California then took up scoring duty and put three men over in the third. Wasson scored on Overton's single, while Thompson and James came in when Godde hit through short.

FATAL SEVENTH.

In the fifth inning Stanford tallied twice, putting Ryan and Peterson across home on E. Mitchell's drive to right. California retaliated in the seventh, when Wasson scored on Overton's single, while the former came in when Thompson hit. After the seventh scoring ceased though the bases had no lack of visitors.

HOCKEY MAY BE PLAYED HERE.

LETHBRIDGE (Alberta) April 5. —Los Angeles, San Francisco and possibly other California cities will see established next winter on a major league plane the great game of hockey, which has made so tremendous a hit in Vancouver, Seattle and Portland this past winter. Alex Pantages, the Coast vaudeville magnate, is said to be the man back of the scheme to extend the sphere of the sport to the Golden State. The western vaudeville operator can see a harvest of shekels in California in hockey.

Lloyd Cook, the Vancouver left-wing player, is authority for the statement and Cook says Pantages took the home addresses of all the players in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association this winter before they left for their homes, and the players are expecting some flattering offers from that quarter before the next season of Coast hockey opens.

"A man who operates interests of the magnitude of those run under the name of Pantages hasn't much time to waste with hot air," said Cook, "and a lot of the boys are looking forward with pleasure to a winter in the sunny south hereafter."

WHITE WILL MEET SMILEY TONIGHT.

If Joe White makes a good showing against Kid Smiley tonight at the Angeles Athletic Club, he will be in line for some big bouts, at Taft and elsewhere. Eddie Hanlon and Red Matthews will mingle in the semi-wind-up.

Vernon and Los Angeles ball players may referee some of the bouts. Young Sharkey will meet Joe Spain, Buck O'Laverty will box Bob Grosse, Jack Ross will meet Tommy Richards and Joe Jackson will fight George Rivera.

ARRELANES WILL FACE BILL HURST.

The Los Angeles Railway baseball team, which has so far captured twenty-four out of twenty-eight games played, will get a workout against a new team Sunday at Fifty-fifth and South Park when they meet the Angelus Athletic Club.

Bill Hurst, who has officiated on the mound in all the games for the railway team this season, will be opposed by Matt Arrelanes, brother of the Coast League heaver, and a warm combat should result.

FIGHT FILMS MAY BE SHOWN.

ROUSES POINT (N. Y.) April 5.—The promoters who spent much money taking motion pictures of the Johnson-Willard fight in Havana and then found that the Federal law prohibited them being shown in this country have found a way to get around the statutes. They will also be able to dodge the New York law which prohibits the exhibition of pictures not taken within the State. A few days ago a party of men arrived here with all the paraphernalia necessary for taking motion pictures. Today the fight films were set up in Canada, just twelve inches away from the lens of a camera fixed on American territory. The reproduction was witnessed by a customs officer.

WILLARD WILL NOT BOX WILLS.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 5.—Jack Curley, co-partner of Tom Jones in the management of Jess Willard, denied today a report that the champion would box the colored heavyweight, Harry Wills in Boston. Curley said that Willard was determined to stick by the resolutions he made after the fight with Johnson in Havana, where the big fighter declared that he would never enter the ring with a colored fighter again. This disposes of the rumor that Willard was to fight in Boston for a purse of $50,000 put up by a syndicate of Hub sporting men with Wills as his opponent.

THREE-CUSHION BILLIARDIST IS ALMOST WALLOPED.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) April 5.—Charles Ellis, champion three-cushion billiardist of the world, retained his title tonight when he defeated Pierre Maupome of St. Louis in a whirlwind game. The score was 150 to 143, Ellis having climbed from six points behind. Only wonderful billiards pulled the champion through to victory, for the Mexican cue star fought hard until the last ditch.

Ellis made the high run of the evening and of the match, taking six points in the forty-fourth inning. It required seventy innings to complete the block and 214 for the match.

In the fifty-ninth Maupome made a run of four, his highest. The closing innings were exciting, with both men playing hard. Maupome made some difficult shots by doubling the rail on several occasions. Score:

FRENCH COUNT IN AERONAUT BATTLE.

MONTREAL, April 5. — Count Jacques de Lesseps, a French aeronaut, who took part in the Belmont Park-Statue of Liberty flight in New York some years ago, is in the anti-aircraft service in France and was in charge of the gun which recently brought down a raiding Zeppelin, according to information received here today by his friends. Count de Lesseps in 1911 married Miss Grace Mackenzie, daughter of Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway. The count is 32 years old.

WELLS AND WHITE READY FOR FIGHT.

KANSAS CITY, April 5.—Matt Wells of England and Charley White of Chicago finished training today for their bout here tomorrow night, when they will box fifteen rounds to a decision. They have agreed to make 135 pounds at 3 o'clock. They have met three times, Wells gaining a twelve-round referee's decision and a ten-round newspaper verdict, while White has a close ten-round newspaper victory to his credit.

WHITNEY AND CRANE TO MEET IN FINALS.

NEW YORK, April 5. — Payne Whitney of the New York Raoquet and Tennis Club defeated the veteran, Charles E. Sands, his clubmate, in the first match of today's semifinal round for the national court tennis championship. In the other match Joshua Crane of Boston outplayed C. S. Cutting of this city, three sets to one. Whitney and Crane will meet in the finals tomorrow and the winner will play against the title holder, Jay Gould.

WILD FINISH ENDS BATTLE.

Seraphs Make it Two Straight from Tigers.

Koerner, Maggert and Galloway the Heroes.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Only the baldheaded fans failed to derive full satisfaction from yesterday's ball game, for it certainly was a combat calculated to make the hair stand on end. Because of the exciting character of the games now being played it is believed that baldheaded people should be admitted at reduced rates because they are unable to enjoy the exhilarating sensation of the hair standing on end.

WHAT! AGAIN!

Los Angeles, by heaping untold abuse on the ball, duplicated Tuesday's achievement, and made it two in a row in a gruelling up-hill fight. If the Angels keep on doing these uphill stunts their back are liable to become bowed, and this would make extra work for Dr. Finley, the vertebrae expert. Running in the rear for eight-ninths of the distance, the Angels came through with a driving finish in the ninth, scoring three runs and cinching a 6 to 5 victory with only two out.

Several of the Angel athletes seem to derive a certain satisfaction from hitting the ball, and the result was a fricasee of horseside and yarn all over the place. Beef Koerner particularly seems to dote on hitting. He was seen in the act of rapping out two singles, and a double and a triple. Maggert has the same peculiar habit. He singled and tripled, his last blow starting the deciding rally.

JAMES, ALSO.

Jim Galloway also has a quaint way of hitting in the pinches. He sawed off three singles, and it was his last one that busted up the pastime before it was too late. Thus the honor of finishing the game may be properly affixed to the person of Mr. Galloway. In addition to putting on the finishing and deciding touches he was a powerful factor throughout, but he must share his medals with Maggert and Koerner, who participated so prominently in the great outburst. Earlier in the game Ellis and Boles chucked in two-base blows for good measure and one run.

The game was hard fought on both sides, with outcroppings of bitterness every little bit. In fact, the game was so bitter that you could almost taste it at times. It was so bitter that Ham Patterson couldn't even taste his chewing tobacco, which is of a very powerful brand. If these bitter games keep up much longer Ham will take to mixing quinine with his horse plug and eating green olives between meals.

GOOD SHOOTING.

The game was equally hard fought on both sides, but the Angels seemed to have the better weapons. The Vernon bats missed fire so often that it is planned to have them examined by a bat expert. The hits were 13 to 6 and therein is to be found the secret of the score.

Pat used Art Fromme and Chief Johnson, while Chance resorted to Ed Schorr, Andy Wares, a pinch-hitter, and a substitute runner. Nothing apparently was left undone by either side. However, if either manager finds that he left anything undone, he will attend to it today.

When the Tigers tore off two runs in the second and two more in the seventh it was regarded as equivalent to a victory. But the Angels kept plugging along, getting a lot of their hits when they didn't count. However, by the eighth they had rearranged the count until it read 5 to 3, and then in the ninth the high explosives were touched off.

AGITATED.

The crowd, while not as large as on Tuesday, was animated and enthusiastic. A large attendance was not expected, as most of the gents were strapped as a result of having attended the opener. Some of the ladies also were broke for the same reason, but this did not dull their patriotism, as they do not have to dig up on week days.

Bates continued his triumphant career with the bat, planting a triple

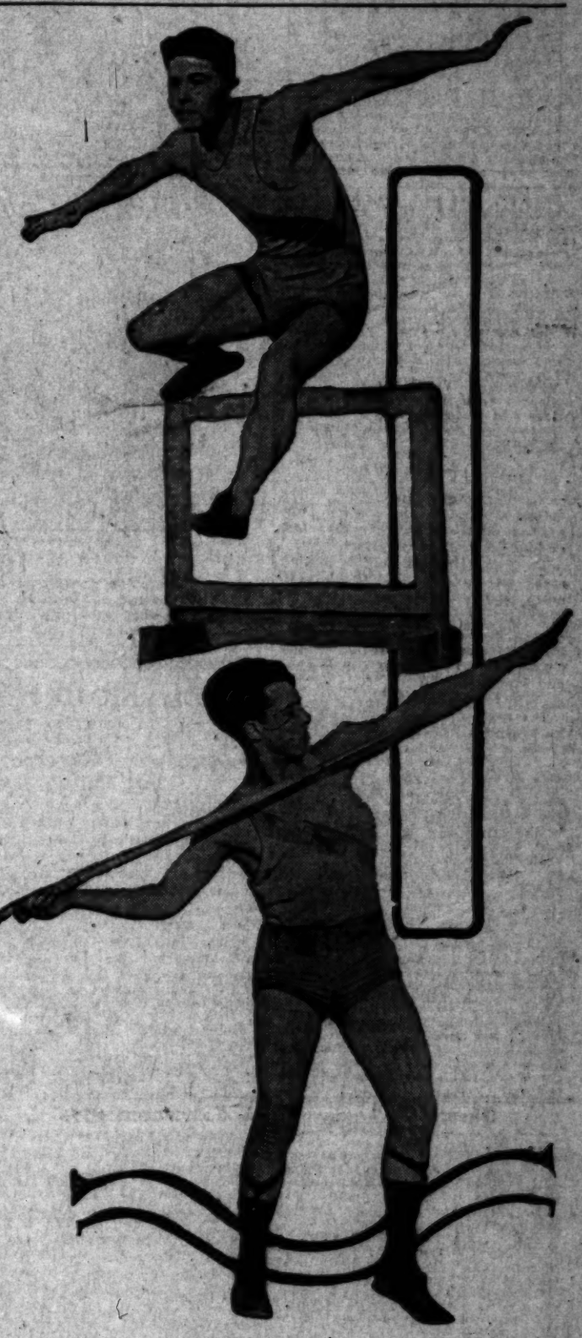
[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 5.—Word was received from Cleveland tonight that Al Collamore, pitcher of the Cleveland American League club, had been sent to Portland to join the Portland Coast League pitching staff. Collamore has been in training with the Cleveland Indians at New Orleans.

The Portland recruit has been in major league or class AA ball all of the last two years. In 1914 he was with the Cleveland Americans, winning three games and losing seven, with a pitching record which was far from impressive. Last season he was retained by Cleveland, with whom he won two games and lost five before being shipped to the Cleveland American Association Spiders, where he failed to do much better.



Two Manual hopes,

Who will compete in the State interscholastic track and field meet, to be held on the Y.M.C.A. field this coming Saturday. At the top is Solly Smith, once a sprinter, now a low hurdler. The garter advertisement with the stick in its hand is Haberlein, Southern California champion in the javelin and a fine broad jumper. Both are from Manual Arts High School.

Two Fast Athletes.

SLOMAN AND CONN MAY MEET IN AN EXHIBITION.

Meet at the Present Time Looks Pretty Good for Manual Arts but Oakland High is Sending Down a Strong Team and the Many Entries from Other Schools may Cut Down Local Points.

BY WARDE FOWLER.

ALTHOUGH declared ineligible, Frank Sloman, sensational quarter-miler, will run in the 440-yard dash of the State prep track meet here Saturday—purely for exercise. Prep officials got their heads together yesterday and ruled that Sloman couldn't enter the meet as a representative of his home school. But when it comes to running around a track simply to keep in good condition, why that's a very different proposition.

WANTS TO RUN.

"I'd like to run in that race," remarked the youthful marvel last night, "even if they do make me do it for exercise and nothing else. I'll take the outside lane and guarantee to keep out of everybody's way. And if that doesn't sound good to the officials they can stage an exhibition or anything else."

In all probability an extra 440-yard dash will be run off with several outside stars competing. Johnny Cook of Occidental College has been selected as one of the features of this event. Morgan Lupher, who has been training lately for the quarter-mile jog, may also be seen in action. This gent spends most of his time these days getting into shape for the relay race, which he has picked as his favorite, and should run an awe-inspiring 440 yards.

"TUFFY" ALSO.

"Tuffy" Conn, Pasadena's ineligible sensation, is another crack who will make this exhibition 440 the feature of the day. With Sloman, Lupher, Conn and Cook stepping around together there will be excitement enough to last any track fan the rest of his natural life.

The meet proper has resolved itself into Manual Arts-Pasadena-Oakland High affair. Manual Arts, of course, has the edge. The local athletes have a few firsts cinched and a good many other points well within reach. Manual's only difficulty will be this: Always before she has entered a dozen or so athletes in each event. And sometimes one man would win and sometimes another. When it comes to sending one or two men in an event there may be trouble. If the candidate has an off day, a point is lost for Manual.

MAY CUT IN.

Also there is the strong possibility that some of the northern institutions may step in on the Manual points. San Jose is reported to have a hurdler who is a wonder. The San Jose High School has not been heard from, but Mr. Oliver has written and telegraphed and expects to get two entries at least. This San Jose gent might cause Manual a lot of trouble.

SHAPE-UP IN YALE SHELL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) April 5.—Coach Nickalls ordered a shake-up in the Yale varsity crew today, following the unsatisfactory showing made by the varsity in a short race with the second eight. The brush, which was over a course of three-fourths of a mile, ended in a dead heat. At the outset Kozitzky, No. 3 in the varsity, was sent back to the second shell. Capt. Low, who rowed at No. 7, was send back to No. 3, where he rowed last year, and McNaughton of the second eight was promoted to No. 7.

Four Cars Make Better Than a Hundred Miles an Hour on Corona Course

Upper cut shows Joe Thomas, driver of the Mercer No. 1, tearing off a lap on the Corona racecourse in 1m. 41s. Car was doing better than 100 miles per hour when photograph was taken. Below, Barney Oldfield is shown at the wheel of the French Delage in his initial dash on the fast circle.

At Corona.

SUNBEAM SETS A TERRIFIC PACE.

TURNS ONE LAP IN BETTER THAN 102 MILES PER HOUR.

Cooper and Mechanic Busy Transferring Engine of Wrecked Stutz into Old Chassis—Narrow Escape from Death Does not Slow up Pace of Other Drivers.

BY AD G. WADDELL.

One hundred miles per hour was just an ordinary gait on the fast Corona race course yesterday.

Four cars hauled eight daring speed merchants around the 2.76895 miles of the world famous circular boulevard at a speed better than 100 miles to the hour. When it was over, four drivers and four mechanics claimed that they had taken it easy and taken no chances.

NO EFFECT.

The narrow escape from death of Earl Cooper and Reeve Dutton on the fast Stutz the day before, did not effect the nerve of the drivers in the slightest. Judging from the speed shown, Cooper's accident only spurred the mileage generals on; and they courted death in practice yesterday.

While Cooper and his mechanic were working in the shops of the Walter M. Brown Company, transferring the engine of the wrecked Stutz to the chassis formerly known as the Stutz No. 7, Eddie Pullen, Bob Burman, Hughie Hughes, Barney Oldfield and the rest of the speed boys were burning up the Corona circle. They were all heavy in the feet and showed speed that was believed impossible on the circle city speedway.

HUGHIE SHINES.

Hughie Hughes on the twelve-cylinder English Sunbeam must go at the top of the percentage column. Hughie did several laps faster than 100 miles per hour and his fastest time was announced by E. H. Pendelton, official timer, as 1m. 37s., which is just 102.8 miles to the hour.

Fast as it looks in figures, Hughes insists that it is nothing compared to what he will show when called upon to pass another car in the race Saturday. Some of the Englishman's friends are predicting laps at 110 miles per hour in practice today and tomorrow.

Next to Hughes showed the Messrs. Pullen, Burman and O'Donnell yesterday. This trio split honors three ways at 100.7 miles an hour. O'Donnell drove his Duesenberg in his fastest workouts, then took the wheel of the Omar and showed 95.8 without any apparent effort.

TAKING NOTICE.

Sterling Price on the Apperson did 91.4 miles per hour and made some of those present take quite some notice. This performance is likely to have a strange effect on the bookmakers and the fastest in the race are now showing due respect for the Apperson.

Barney Oldfield was out in the Delage for the first practice yesterday. The veteran did not do any real fast work, taking the practice period to unlimber his engine and study the course. At that Barney did ninety miles per each sixty minutes and promises to bat his way into the 100-mile per hour column today.

Ed Waterman trotted the Gandy Special out for a jog and on his first turn around the course he was credited with better than seventy miles an hour.

CLIFF LAYS LOW.

Cliff Durant did not show much on the Cyclone and Lou Gandy on the other Gandy Special, was just a spectator, preferring to look on for one practice before cutting loose with his fast stuff.

Omar Toft was on the course with the Omar car, taking an easy pace for several laps. It was rumored last night that Toft had asked to be excused from the race Saturday as he was not feeling just right physically and did not want to take any chances with the vicious Omar speed monster.

S. A. McKee, the entrant, was given permission to nominate a relief driver, and Frank Goode will be given a turn at the wheel of the Omar probably today. Bill Taylor is also a candidate for the steering job on the Omar, and it is possible that both drivers will be allowed to practice today and the entrant will then place the skipper on his entry.

DRIVERS' MEETING.

The official drivers' meeting is to be held after practice tomorrow afternoon at the headquarters of the Citrus Belt Racing Association. Referee F. H. Ott, Starter Frank Lowry, Chairman Peeler, the representative of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, and other officials, are to be present, as well as all drivers, mechanicians and entrants. There is to be another meeting of the officials of the race at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at race headquarters in Corona. This second meeting will be for the purpose of instructing the officials in their duties just before the start of the great 300-mile classic.

It was announced yesterday that more than 100 machines were to reach Corona Saturday morning from San Bernardino. Something like fifty decorated automobiles are to bring the San Diego delegation up from the exposition city, and many other Southern California towns are to be represented by large caravans of decorated autos. The Corona race management has decided to allow these auto delegations to parade around the course just before it is turned over to the starter, previous to the start of the contest.

WALTER DUPEE TROPHY WILL BE WON TOMORROW.

RIVERSIDE, April 5.—With polo players and ponies tired out by the long season at Coronado, the Riverside Polo Club has found it necessary to string out the local tournament until next Tuesday in order to give proper intervals between games.

Friday afternoon Riverside will meet Midwick in play for the Walter Dupee trophy. Midwick won the first leg of this trophy last year from Riverside, and the two teams will put up a lively battle for the second leg.

Sunday afternoon the championship event, the big card of the tournament, will be played. A four of star eastern players, with Malcolm Stevenson and Perry Beadleston as pivots, will play a four of Southern Californians made up around Hugh Drury and Carleton Burke. The game will be especially significant, in that it will disclose the relative merits of eastern and western polo and ponies. Drury is to be given mounts commensurate with his ability, and can be counted on to give his opponents a taste of the real article.

Tuesday, April 11, the tournament will conclude with the match between Riverside and Coronado in the finals for the Riverside cups.

A mistake was made yesterday in recording the victory of Coronado over Midwick as by a score of 8 to 6¼. The official score was 7 to 6¼, as the referee, Mr. Robert Lee Bettner, declared Col. Ross's shot in the final chuckhur no goal, and his decision is final.

BIG PERCENTAGE OF AUTOS STOLEN HAVE BEEN FOUND.

THERE were thirty-five more automobiles stolen in Los Angeles during the month of March this year than there were during the same month last year, according to a complete report filed yesterday by the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

But where fifty-nine of seventy-seven cars stolen in March of 1915 were recovered, ninety-eight out of 112 stolen in the same month this year were recovered, indicating that the efficiency of the Sheriff's office, the police and the Automobile Club's active bureau has increased in proportion to the number of cars stolen.

Los Angeles now leads the world in its number of auto thefts. New York City, Chicago or Philadelphia cannot boast greater activity among its motor car thieving gangs than can this city. There are more cars stolen here daily, according to Auto Club officials, than in the combined cities of Chicago and New York.

Up to the present date, since January 1, 1916, there have been 337 automobiles reported stolen. Of these 293 have been recovered. For the same period last year 219 cars were reported "lost," while of these 183 were recovered. In other words, the various "recovery agents" have been called upon to increase their efforts by a large per cent., with the result that they have gotten back for owners over 100 cars more this year than last.

How an effective quietus can best be put upon this theft business is now again under careful consideration by Automobile Club officials.

Statistics compiled this year from the personal reports of owners show that the majority of automobiles stolen are taken on the downtown streets, and that they were stolen from within three to seven minutes of the time they were parked and deserted by owner or driver. From this it is declared that one of the best methods for circumventing the thieves is for every motorist to be his own detective and return to the car suddenly, after having apparently left it, to see if some one is tampering with the starter.

The total valuation on automobiles stolen this year is placed by club officers at $219,050, while last year the total only reached $142,350. The amounts in accessories stolen bring the totals far in excess of this.

A warning issued yesterday by President Fred L. Baker of the club advises that locks be secured at once, as the locked car is seldom stolen. The majority of cars are stolen in broad daylight or early in the evening.

SCORES NAILED UP BY NOGALES RIFLE CLUB.

FOLLOWING are the scores nailed up by the Nogales Rifle Club of Arizona in the shoot with the Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club, April 2. The locals won the match, but by a very close score, 2310 to 2273, and the Arizona bunch account for the defeat in several ways. In the first place, an extremely high, whipping wind caused trouble, while poor light, haze and dimness made the affair especially hard:

STANFORD CREW IN TRIAL SPIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 5.—The Stanford eight-oared crew which will race the University of Washington eight Friday evening, rowed over the three-mile course on Lake Washington in race time today. Although Coach Guerena did not give out the time, he said he was well pleased with the showing.

The Washington crew tapered off in their training, rowing only in the afternoon instead of twice a day as planned earlier in the week.

Thorpe Babcock, a former Yale oarsman, has been selected to act as starter and referee of the race Friday.

DARK HORSES SPRING A SURPRISE IN HANDBALL.

PRACTICALLY the entire handball world was startled yesterday when the well-known duo, Barry and Kaiser, were completely smacked down by Brandstetner and Peterson in the L.A.A.C. doubles tourney. The only two persons, as far as can be ascertained, who were not surprised are Brandstetner and Peterson.

A large number of Los Angeles Athletic Club handball cranks turned out to witness this supposedly one-sided match. Barry and Kaiser have often demonstrated their ability as champions of the indoor sport, and all the spectators instinctively rooted for the favorites. The underdogs had only one rooter in the crowded gallery. This was Morgan Lupher, demon sprinter of Occidental College, who was afraid to yell out loud on account of the size of the opposition.

Brandstetner and Peterson are the best two-handed dark horses of handball. These gents have never been before the public gaze in the guise of handball champions. They have been practicing in secret and have been withholding their prowess in order to make one terrific splash. This splash materialised yesterday, and the result was a 21-10, 21-14 victory.

This win places Brandstetner and Peterson in direct line for the semi-finals of the tournament. They meet Webster and Brand for the coveted position next week.

The game yesterday was a speedy exhibition. The supposed champions started out in confident form and didn't seem greatly worried until the very end of the game. The supposed underdogs fought like they were playing for money and chased every little point right up against the back wall. Brandstetner had his overhand serve working in first-class style and managed to do his share of the swatting and general knocking around.

"I'll admit we weren't out of form or anything like that," said Brandy yesterday, "but, gee, look at the score we won by. We could have been way off form and still have walloped that aggregation. If we play like we did today there'll be nothing to it for the rest of the tournament."

All of which may be somewhat optimistic.

Author of Riders of the Purple Sage

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

It's of the pioneer West; of horse thieves and gun play; of a girl who could ride and shoot—and love; of a man who ventured his life for months to capture a magnificent wild stallion; of that stallion, and the terrific race he ran against forest fire to save two lives.

The Country Gentleman covers every interest of the farm—good reading as well as good ideas. It is for the wife as well as for the farmer. In this issue begins

Baseball.

TIGERS GET NEAT BOOST.

Frank Chance Says They are Hard to Beat.

Angels and Ducks Bolstering Pitching Staff.

Baseball Fury or Love may be Found with the Bees.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Having won two battles in a row, most of the fans probably figure that Frank Chance thinks that he has a cinch. That's because they are not acquainted with the P. L., and his exceptional common sense.

First of all a sportsman, Chance is eminently practical. Also, he is broad-minded, and not inclined to underrate any other fellow. A genuine fighter himself is one of the fairest fighters. He always gives the other fellow full credit.

Two of Chance's well-known traits came to the surface yesterday. They came to the surface while he was in the shower bath, clothed only in soap suds and a splash of water.

Anyone might opine that coming here to the majors, he would look upon baseball enterprise as a joy ride, and not take the opposition seriously. Chance, who had formerly been with the majors, landed on the Coast as manager. That was a few years ago. He characterized the league a joke affair, and refused to take it serious. Incidentally, he lasted a year.

Chance's attitude would be impossible to Chance. Despite his past record, he is more modest than the average "busher" from the back country.

Although he won four pennants and several titles in Chicago, does he rate the Coast League as a hick circuit not worth the sneeze at the opposition? Emphatically, he does not. There are many men in baseball who could learn a lesson in real sportsmanship from Frank Chance.

He has a full appreciation of the ability of every team in the league, and is not backward in his praise of managers and players. That's one of the things that makes Frank Chance big. He's just naturally a big leaguer even aside from baseball. Generous in mind, heart and disposition. There is no room in his armor-plate for the small, picayunish things of life.

Chance is in a real baseball fight. He loves it, and the best part of it is he is not afraid to admit it. When he took charge of the Angels, he didn't anticipate a walkaway going. He suspected that there would be some league in 1916. The first two days have served fully to confirm these suspicions.

Don't think for a minute that this Oakland club is an easy one to beat." Chance, through the soap suds. "The Oaks are a mighty good ball team and the club which wins a series from them must be hustling every minute of the time. These two games have been real battles. We have been hitting the ball hard, but we have had to fight to get around to the plate. Many of those hard drives have been converted into outs, and we haven't been getting any extra bases on our hits. We must some smash to get by that infield, and the outfielders are letting us take any extra bases on our hits. What's more, the Oaks have a lot of good smart pitchers and good catching. They are a tough club to beat.

"That was a great game to win," added Chance, emerging from the shower. "I'm sure was a tough one to lose. You can't help thinking for the other fellow in a case like that. I know how a manager feels to lose a game like that today. I've been through it. While I endeavor, and do my best, I just have a fellow-feeling in one corner of my heart for the other fellow. I reckon he feels that way about me when I get licked."

Chance is broad and fair-minded, and is a regular human being—quick to sympathize, quick to forgive a real wrong.

Oakland and Portland, having been close to each other, are getting about their pitching staffs got busy yesterday. Callomore from the Cleveland Indians, while Berry bought Oldham from Detroit. Last season he was sent to Providence, where he had a fine year, winning ten and losing one. Jennings took a liking to him with the club this spring. He showed that he couldn't get by down there, and was sent back to Philadelphia. And it is a sure that he would get a chance as Philadelphia decided to send him to the Coast, figuring the latter to be ideal for the purpose. Both Callomore and Oldham should do well in this league.

Although he has won two games, Blankenship is not entirely satisfied with his pitching staff. He is worried to think what may happen to his heavers when the team leaves Salt Lake and the batters fail to make so many runs for them. In order to fortify himself in the box he has rigged up an agreement with the New York Americans by which he is to be allowed to pick two right-handers from among Mogridge, Vance, Tippie, Russell and Bill Piercy. He also says that he has a chance to get our old friend, Slim Love, should Slim stub his toe and fail to stick in New York.

Dad Munholland yesterday turned out to be a rank quitter. When the Tigers made their two runs in the seventh Dad left the park in tears. When he picks up the paper this morning he will find out that he missed something by not being game and staying to the finish. Dad had planned to quit Long Beach for a week and accompany the Angels to Salt Lake, but the doctor pronounced it too cold up there for him at this season of the year. He will take a number of trips with the club later.

Mark McGaffigan is a hustling guy around short, and is making an excellent impression on the discriminating fans. He is busier than a weazel and as game as a pebble. His arm is above reproach, and he appears to be a fast, ground-covering, reliable fielder. His triple yesterday came at an opportune moment.

The Vernon outfielders are playing their positions like infielders. Sharp recoveries and quick returns reduce every blow to the minimum. Doane's dive for Fisher's fly yesterday was one of the best and most daring plays seen here in many a year, while, but for exceptionally fast fielding on his part, that double by Ellis in the second certainly would have gone for three bases. In the same inning Daley turned a probable triple by Boles into a double. Being unable to reach the drive with his hands, he blocked it with his foot and grabbed it as it bounced up. Also, it was fast hand and footwork by Daley that prevented Maggert's triple in the ninth from going for a homer. Pete, always a great fielder, seems to be covering even more ground than when he was here before. Mattick is equally alert in the field.

All worry concerning the future of Rube Ellis is out of place. Rube hit in hard luck last year, having a lot of his drives speared by uncanny fielders. Some mistook this for a batting slump. Chance, however, the man who saved Rube's job in the National League, still retained faith in him. Ellis is fully justifying this. He gathered two singles Tuesday and a double yesterday, while Doane's stellar catch robbed him of another that would have gone for three bases. He is meeting the ball solidly every time up.

Daley got his first blow of the season yesterday. Although slightly delayed, it came at a time when a couple of guys were waiting to be scored.

Bob Fisher, who led the National League in sacrifices, is making a good start out here. He has provided three in the two games. Bob, of course, prefers to hit 'em out, and that he is amply able to do so is shown by his major-league record. Still, when it comes to a matter of duty, he is willing to sacrifice himself and his batting average to the good of the cause.

Maggert is pulling stuff early, and provides a lot of worry for the opposing battery men every time he gets on base. That is quite frequent. In the two games he has gone to the plate nine times and reached first six.

It is the consensus of opinion that Ed Schorr will qualify. Yesterday was his first real test, and, although he didn't go the route, he made an excellent impression. He allowed only two hits in six rounds. Passing Mitze deliberately in the seventh is what upset him. It threw him out of his stride and caused loss of control.

George Washington Zabel, whose arm has been paining him in one or two spots, is believed to be about ready. Chance may decide to start him today. If not, he may use Brant. Chief Johnson is about due to start a game for the Tigers. Pat will make no final selection until the men warm up.

Al Koch, wearing a $14 shirt, and other costly garments, was out to the game. Al, as all know, is vice-president of the Tigers. He has great faith in them, but opines that it will be a close race all the way.

President Baum left last night for San Francisco after having satisfied himself that this is going to be some baseball season in Los Angeles. Yesterday noon President Baum delivered an address to the members of the Produce Exchange in which he spoke kind words regarding Los Angeles and its people.

Fightin' Phil Koerner

Of the Angels, who, with Maggert and Galloway, provided the terrific excitement in the ninth inning of the game yesterday. Phil featured on several other momentous occasions during the afternoon.

Sloman and Conn.

Then there is Walter of Exeter High School in the shot put. Walter has been doing nothing for the last several seasons, but put the shot and it has become almost second nature to him. He is probably the only shot-putter in existence who can put the weight and carry on a charming conversation at the same time.

SOME HEAVER.

Walter thinks nothing of heaving the 12-pounder forty-eight feet and when he is feeling good, forty-nine plus is none too far for him. After this announcement all other entries in this event will want to resign. But it is too late to do so now.

If many of the Toilers' points are knocked on the head Pasadena may loom up as a winner. Because it is figured that no one will horn in on the Crown City points. With the youthful Paddock in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, other entries are amusing, but not exciting. Paddock has a knack of winning his races so easily that it looks like folly for anyone to try to argue with him.

"TITE" LOOKS GOOD.

Titus Moore has all the earmarks of a genuine high jumper and should be good for five points for his alma mater, or whatever it is. This colored gentleman was the feature exhibition of Pasadena in the meet last Saturday and took the high jump with eclat, if not ease. Cooper typifies the highest product in the mile race.

One other possibility, Oakland High School, stoutly asserts that it is the future State champion. Oakland has entered a complete team in the coming meet and has got one or more men in every event. Reports from the north have it that Oakland is awfully good.

CONSISTENT.

Haberlein, our good Paris-garter friend, will have little difficulty in taking the javelin unless something unknown comes down from the north. Other events are more or less uncertain on account of the foreign talent entered.

Heats will be run in as few of the races as possible and will be staged at 1:30, just preceding the meet.

RED OLDHAM IS TO JOIN SEALS.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DETROIT, April 5.—Red Oldham, who has twice been given chances to show the cause why he should be given a regular berth as a Tiger pitcher, again has failed and has been sent to San Francisco for more seasoning in the Pacific Coast League.

Believing that some day he may find himself and become big league caliber the Detroit club still has strings on the southpaw who did such good work for Providence in the International League under Bill Donovan.

Oldham declares the climate in the South does not agree with him, making it impossible for him to get in playing condition. He was allowed to return North a couple of weeks ago and train in his Philadelphia home.

CHARLESTON RUINED BY PHILADELPHIA.

CHARLESTON (S. C.) April 5.—The Philadelphia Americans won here today from the Charleston South Atlantic League, 6 to 1. Score:

Philadelphia, 6; hits, 8; errors, 1.
Charleston, 1; hits, 4; errors, 5.

COMPTON BASEBALL TEAM IS WINNER.

The Compton baseball team journied to Huntington Park yesterday and licked the High School team of that city 5 to 1. Compton used three pitchers to get this victory and a pair of catchers, but it counts just the same. The visiting aggregation put up a pretty fair exhibition of baseball considering the earliness of the season. Coach J. Raymond Hunt is well pleased with the showing made by his hired help.

The batteries for Compton, Dastwiler, Unterleiter, McCoy and Gillingham and Newby; for Huntington Park, Stout, Mueller and Pryor.

BASH COMPTON SENT TO BOSTON CLUB.

CINCINNATI (O.) April 5.—The National Baseball Commission today awarded the services of Player Bash Compton to the Boston National League club. Compton deserted the Kansas City Club and signed with the St. Louis Federals.

The Other Ball Games

"TAWM" HUGHES IS A WINNER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE, April 5.—"Long Tom" Hughes, former Angel, pitched rings around "Rowdy" Elliott's Oaks in the second game of the season here today, allowing but four hits and giving his new Bee team-mates an easy time in putting away another victory, 5 to 2.

Hughes was in danger only twice but even there perfect support might have assisted him to a shut-out. The feature of the game was the hitting of "brick" Eldred, the Sacramento youngster.

HEAVY HITTING WINS FOR SEALS.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—San Francisco came back today and in a good batting game defeated Portland 8 to 4. The Seals landed heavily on both the Portland pitchers; Harstad, who lasted for six innings and Clark, who proved wild and easy. The Seals earned six of their runs.

Bohne, the Seal shortstop, played a poor game and was largely responsible for the Beavers' getting three of their four runs.

The SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER, the most successful Hearst newspaper, in its issue of Sunday, March 5th, gave its readers and advertisers capital advice in the following words:

"When in doubt as to which of two mediums to use, choose the one with the greater amount of classified advertising.

"The small and mighty want ad., in dominating numbers, is the best associate for the advertiser who would be successful."

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES prints more "Want Ads" than all other local newspapers combined; and, having used in Los Angeles for many years the same argument employed by its San Francisco contemporary, it welcomes this approval of its judgment in the matter.

ENGAGES TWO BIRDS.

MOROSCO GETS CLEVER COMEDY FAIR FOR NEW SHOW.

By Grace Kingsley.

Louise Orth and Charles Ruggles, two of the most popular comedians in the country, have been engaged by Manager Oliver Morosco to play the leading roles in "Canary Cottage." At last the suspense is over.

Charlie Ruggles has been playing the leading role in the Selwyn play, "Rolling Stone," in the East. He will leave the company this week and come to Los Angeles for rhearsals.

Louise Orth is one of the most beautiful blonde types on the American stage. She has been appearing in light opera and pictures since her last work here at the Morosco. She will play the "Canary."

Out of the Silence.

Polly Moran, one of the Keystone's favorite stars, will appear tonight at the Majestic. One forgets in watching Polly's silent frolics on the screen that she can sing. She will tonight.

Tomorrow night Mae Emory will also be heard in vocal numbers.

Mad Hatter.

Lola Girlie, the watch charm edition dancing with Ivan Bankoff at the Orpheum this week, is out the price of a new hat. She was talking with some friends last night, in front of a cigar stand, and leaned back too far, when the open gas flame of a cigar lighter set her chapeau ablaze. A wild yell from a passer-by and a swat over the head with his overcoat, were all that saved the little lady from a severe singing.

Notable Event.

Los Angeles is to have a theatrical treat during the week of May. Tyrone Power, the well known actor, will appear at the Mason in the play in which he formerly made a great success, "The Servant in the House." During the same week he will give two Shakespearean performances, both composed of acts from various plays.

Miss Robson's New One.

May Robson, who is appearing in that delightful comedy, "The Making Over of Mrs. Matt," at the Mason, this week, is reading a new play by Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, in which it is possible she may appear next season.

Slow Ball.

Miss Robson enjoyed the opening of the baseball season immensely last Tuesday, only she said the game was too slow.

"And say, could anything happen that the motion picture machines wouldn't get?" asked Miss Robson. "But it's a great system, a great system. That crowd Tuesday paid to get in to see the game, and will pay again to see themselves in the pictures at the game. The pictures have certainly got us both going and coming. I guess if the Angel Gabriel alighted today we'd see the pictures of the event tomorrow."

Miss Robson expressed deep sorrow at the canning of Frank Chance.

Sport Gossip.

Edmund Lowe has the prize struggle of his stage career in "The Show Shop." No, Warner Baxter isn't it? Ralph Bell is it next week. It's a fancy little affair, in which Lowe throws Bell around and breaks things with him. And Baxter stands out in the wings and gloats while the gloating's good.

Won't Rehearse Trouble.

Ralph Bell is "off" the rehearsal business, though. He says he knows Eddie can do the stunt all right. The reason of his touching faith in Lowe's ability is the fact that the leading man nearly broke his (Bell's) jaw, the other morning. The latter actor doesn't enjoy the idea of going about during the week of the play with his jaw in a sling.

Bankoff's Dreams.

Ivan Bankoff, at the Orpheum, has plans for next season, for a pantomimic dance interpretation of a certain opera, with a cast of eighteen, for the vaudeville houses. It will be a costly and unique enterprise.

Chaplin's Carmen.

Yesterday the Garrick Theater, through Seth Perkins, manager, made a written offer to the V.I.S.E. of $3000 for a two weeks' lease of Charlie Chaplin in his great burlesque of "Carmen," said to be the funniest picture Chaplin has ever done.

Some Contract.

At every performance at the Hip this week Kar-Mi, the magician, changes an ordinary watch into a great big clock, but even he was stumped when a small boy at the matinee yesterday handed him a dime and pleaded with him "to make this into a dollar, please, mister."

Warning note: So far the P. A. has not sent in a story to the effect that Charlie Pike has brought his Ford down to have it changed into a Packard.

Secures Her Car.

As a result of the loyalty of Balboans to their fellow-worker, May Brotherton was able to appear at The Times Office yesterday and get the automobile which she won in the circulation contest recently held. Although not known to the picture fans, Miss Brotherton is an important factor in the making of Balboa films. She is head of the assembly department.

Arboreal Note.

Grace Travers (Mrs. Montrose) and Manager Joe Montrose have one of the most beautiful gardens in the city. There is an orchard, too, and all the trees have some special significance—that is, they were planted to commemorate or celebrate some special date. There is a bunch of orange trees to celebrate the Montrosse' wedding trip by motor through the groves of Riverside.

And Mr. Montrose says that when he exchanged a motor car which shall be nameless in this column for a really good one he planted a lemon tree!

And when "Canary Cottage" goes on, with its beautiful chorus, he's going to plant a royal date tree.

Burt's Absent-mindedness.

Burt Wesner, stage manager at the Morosco, is a terribly busy man these days. He's engineering two rehearsals, as well as playing a part and supervising "The Miracle Man."

Wesner is apt to be very absent-minded during his busy periods, and Frank Darien tells this one on him—though you may cross your fingers when you read about it if you like:

Wesner was walking down the street yesterday, with one foot in the gutter. Along came Darien. "What's the matter?" demanded Darien of the genial stage manager.

"I don't know," said Wesner absent-mindedly. "I've been walking this way for an hour!"

Diva in Two-a-day.

Cavalieri, the famous prima donna, is a possibility for vaudeville for next season. The Palace will be her starting place, followed by a tour of the Orpheum circuit.

Ruth as Circus Girl.

Ruth Stonehouse has quit the Essanay for the Universal. She has been engaged by the latter company to play the feature lead in the big circus serial, "Peg o' the Ring," which is being produced by Director Jacques Jaccard. In the supporting cast will be G. Raymond Nye, Charles Gunn and Eddie Polo.

Miss Stonehouse is an accomplished athlete, this especially fitting her to play the role of a circus girl.

So She Says.

Dorothy Jardon, who headlines the Orpheum bill this week, certainly has Anna Held, with her milk baths, and Lillian Russell, with her beauty sleep, and Roshanara's roll on the floor lashed to the mast. It is said if you want to have that wonderful feline grace that is Dorothy Jardon's you may gain it by doing as she does. What is that? She rubs herself twice a day with tiger fat!

Of course, you can't just walk into a drug store and ask for a dollar's worth of tiger fat without running the risk of finding yourself in the company of people who lay claim to being Napoleon, Queen Elizabeth or some other facecard of history. But if you like to go to the trouble Miss Jardon has, you can probably get it from the same English druggist in Bombay, India.

It is said really to affect Miss Jardon's temper, when through these troubles of war times she is unable to get the supply of fat. She has said nothing of all this—no, not even to the P. A. It just leaked out, that's all.

War Items.

Clara Kimball Young, the motion-picture star who recently gave one of her motor cars to be used as an ambulance in France, received this week a letter from her cousin, Bayard Kimball, who is driving the car for one of the volunteer ambulance corps of the French army. He writes that the auto received its baptism of fire during the early days of the present German assault on Verdun, and that it brought 136 wounded French soldiers back to a base hospital in one day's work.

SIMPLE-SPELLING IDEA STILL ALIVE.

Number of Colleges and Normal Schools Using It, Is Increasing.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—The number of universities, colleges and normal schools which have adopted simplified spelling now is 144, a gain of fifty-seven in the last year, according to a report made to the Simplified Spelling Board at its annual meeting here today. In these institutions there are 130,000 students. The number of newspapers and periodicals using at least the twelve simpler spellings adopted by the National Education Association has increased by seventy to 250.

TURNER FIRST IN ROQUE TOURNAMENT.

COMPLETES SCHEDULE OF SIX GAMES WITHOUT LOSS.

Van Duyne Continues Sweep in Second Division—Breaks Vulcanized Rubber Ball Which is Guaranteed for Lifetime—Wheaton Licks the Prexy of the Roque Club.

First place in the leading division of the Long Beach roque tournament was established yesterday by F. C. Turner, who completed his schedule of six games without a loss, though hard pressed by his townsman, J. W. Latcham, in the last game, which commenced at 3 o'clock and lasted until twilight.

Latcham led Turner all the way round the course until the last quarter, only to be nosed out after an exciting battle down the home stretch.

SPEEDY SWEEP.

Van Duyne continued his sweep in the second division, playing so strongly in the effort required to beat Secretary C. N. Barnes as to break one of the vulcanized rubber balls, which had been guaranteed to last a lifetime by a manufacturer who had not contemplated its use in such an emergency.

For smooth, brilliant and scientific play, G. F. Wheaton's win from President Job Barnett of the Long Beach Roque Club, on the first morning, still stands as high-water mark of the tourney. No player has yet made a complete circuit of the court on a single play, Turner's best run netting twelve points, but the record run is yet expected from some of the home experts who have frequently accomplished the feat in off-hand games.

Many Pasadenans were among the visitors, several groups being friends of competing players. Of these, Mrs. Mary Hole, Miss Lou Hole, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neal, R. L. Louthain and R. L. Metcalf were most constant in attendance and critical of the games.

RESULTS.

In detail, eight games in the first division and three in the second were recorded as follows:

Division 1—Barnett 32, Latcham 11; Foote 32, Wheaton 26; Turner 32, Barnett 6; Wheaton 32, Ware 3; Turner 32, Spalding 2; Latcham 32, Spalding 14; Spalding 32, Wheaton 11; Turner 32, Latcham 26.

Division 2—Van Duyne 32, Creg 15; Creg 32, Gess 19; Van Duyne 32; Barnes 15. Van Duyne against Downing adjourned.

Play is to be resumed this morning at 8 o'clock, three prizes being still undetermined and half the games unplayed. Competitors now hold the appended positions:

CLIFF SHARKS MEET ANVIL MEN TODAY.

L. A. High and Poly will start the prep swimming season with a dual meet in the Y.M.C.A. tank at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. The personnel of both aggregations was chosen but recently, so little is known of the material on hand.

Over twenty young sharks are working out three nights a week for the Hilltoppers. Coach Featherstone expects to have a championship bunch developed inside of several weeks.

Wild Finish.

against the scoreboard in the first. He later died at third as two were already out.

Gleichmann drew a pass off Schorr with one gone in the second, and hit the dusty trail to the plate when McGaffigan tripled to right center. Mitze drove to Fisher, and was thrown out at first, McGaffigan scoring. Fromme grounded to Koerner.

Maggert's infield hit and a pass to Wolter in the first were nullified by McGaffigan's inauguration of a brilliant double play. The Angels got one in the second on McLarry's walk, Galloway's single and a sacrifice by Boles.

VERY CLOSE.

They were threatened with a few runs in the third, but couldn't get clear around. Maggert walked, and Fisher sacrificed. Harl was nipped at second, Fromme to McGaffigan. The bleachers took exception to the decision, and were on and off Red Held for the rest of the afternoon. Singles by Wolter and Koerner, followed by McLarry's, left two stranded on the bases and no one across. Ellis and Boles coupled doubles for a run in the fourth. Koerner blasted a mighty triple to center in the fifth with two gone. He, too, died within sight of home and friends. A single by Galloway in the sixth failed of results.

After Vernon's two runs in the fourth, Schorr got busy and one-two-threed the Tigers with his cross-fire for four rounds. In the seventh there was a sudden change for the worse, Ed being overtaken by lack of control and a great sorrow.

WOBBLY.

Mattick, first up, singled, taking second on a sacrifice by Gloomy Gus. McGaffigan flied to Ellis. Schorr walked Mitze deliberately so as to get a crack at Fromme. The habit formed in walking Mitze proved to be incurable. He passed Fromme in spite of himself, filling the bases. He did manage to get one over to Daley, and Pete smashed it to center. This counted Mattick and Mitze. Schorr then gave way to Andy Ware, who had been warming up in the bull pen at odd moments. He quickly retired the side, Doane grounding to Koerner.

Ware waded into an awful mess in the eighth, but managed to extricate himself after suffering total damage of one run. He opened the inning by walking Bates. Ray went to third when Griggs singled. With the infielders drawn close in like a family circle, Mattick smashed a safety past Fisher. Bates scored, Griggs took third and Mattick second on the plate peg. McGaffigan flied to Wolter, who cut Griggs down at the plate. Ware knocked down a hard drive by Mitze and got his man at first while down on all fours.

WANDERING.

This brings us down to the real trouble spot. The Tigers failed to score in the ninth. Calling around for the last time, the Angels found that they needed three runs to win. Chance sent Bassler to the plate in place of Ware. The location of the plate had slipped from Fromme's mind, and he walked Bassler. Johnny then retired to let Joe Jackson, Jr., run for him.

Fromme's control continued faulty, but Maggert finally picked one out that came within reach and slammed it out between Daley and Mattick. The only thing that prevented it going for a home run was a dazzling recovery by Daley. This scored Jackson and landed Maggert at third with the tieing run and nobody out. Chief Johnson here volunteered to go in and halt the triumphant march of the pale faces. Fisher flicked a short fly to right. Maggert started for the plate, and then fearing that the ball might be caught, retreated to third. Doane made a dive for the ball, picking it off his ankles, and somersaulted on his face. Maggert broke for the plate and scored in advance of Doane's throw, it taking the latter some time to pick himself up.

MORE WIND.

This tied the score and caused a row. Chance claimed that Doane merely had trapped the ball. Patterson put in a counter-claim to the effect that Doane did make the catch, and also that Maggert left third too soon. They presented their arguments at length, both umpires listening because there was no way to shut out the noise. Held was out by first base and Brashear at the plate. Patterson and Chance made no less than eight trips between these two points, running. A stranger might have thought that they were doing road work. Held told Patterson that Doane had caught the ball.

This satisfied him and he went back to Brashear. Brashear told him that Maggert had not left the base too soon This didn't satisfy Pat. Brashear told Chance that Maggert hadn't left the base too soon. This made Chance happy until Held informed him that Doane had caught the ball. Neither Chance nor Pat could get complete satisfaction. Each got just half of what he was asking. The decision was split two ways, Fisher being called out and Maggert's run being allowed to count. This equitable distribution of the decision should have made everybody happy, but it didn't. Both sides still maintain that they had more coming to them, and their supporters feel the same way about it.

VERY EARNEST.

One Vernon fan called up last night and offered to make affidavit to the effect that Maggert left the base too soon. The receiver had hardly been hung up when a Los Angeles fan called, expressing a yearning to go before the nearest notary public and swear on a stack of Bibles that Doane trapped the ball.

Send on your affidavits, gentlemen. We have always aspired to own a private collection of perfectly good affidavits signed in the heat of battle.

When order finally had been restored and the majesty of the umpires upheld, Wolter fanned. Koerner then got in his fourth lick, a clean single. McLarry drew a pass, shoving Koerner along to second. This brought big, raw-boned Jim Galloway, Denver cow puncher, face to face with the Indian. Jim, who has learned a thing or two about taming the noble red man, put his knowledge to use, shooting a single to left. Koerner swung around the turn from second to the plate, Daley not being able to reach the ball in time to do anything with it except stick it in his pocket.

LOCAL BOXERS TO ENTER TRY-OUT.

BOUTS TO DETERMINE ENTRIES IN NORTHERN MEET.

Charley Barker and Young Lavine are Scheduled to Mingle in Feature Match of Evening—Barker Chosen to Represent Los Angeles Athletic Club in the North.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club will stage one of their famous boxing tournaments a week from next Friday night in the club gym for the purpose of selecting a team to compete in the Pacific Coast boxing championships to be held later in Seattle. There will be special matches on the programme, and instead of each man competing in two or three matches as in previous tournaments, his opponent will be selected by the committee and he will be compelled to fight but once.

PEACHES.

The best boxers Southern California has ever turned out will be on trial for special medals and also an opportunity to represent the south in the big tournament scheduled for Seattle. These boys are working now to get in condition for their matches and will all be ready to do the battle of their lives as they all want to go north.

Some of the prospective matches are Danny Buck of Venice vs. Murle Hutton at 118 pounds. Charley Barker of the L.A.A.C. vs. Young Lavine at 135 pounds. This bout should be one of the best of the evening as both boys are real battlers from the word go. In the heavyweight division John McLuckie will meet Bill Harmer, the Taxicab battler. Gale Farquhar, of swimming fame, will hook up with Thompson of the Pasadena Athletic Club, at 158 pounds. T. Lawrence will go on with either Ryan or Berry of Pasadena.

THE STEADMANS.

Steadman of the Los Angeles Athletic Club will probably hook up with Steadman of the Pasadena Athletic Club. Bill Huber, the 145-pound champion boxer and wrestler of the L.A.A.C. will be matched with a likely opponent, and Jack Geyer will go on with N. Starr of the Pasadena Athletic Club. Jimmie Woodward will also be chosen a likely opponent before the night of the matches and is one of the lot that looks to have a good chance of making the trip north.

Of the L.A.A.C. men who from past performances have the best chance to make the trip, Huber, Woodward, Geyer and Barker stand away above the rest. These boys are going into this meet to make such a grand showing that the committee can hardly help choosing them.

SUNDAY—APRIL 16TH

This is the handsomest and most homelike residence, considering the small outlay, ever pictured and presented in popular magazine shape. Any architect and most any master carpenter can construct it without other directions than are in the magazine. Nothing is overlooked—the whole story is told by Jack Manley Rose and Grace Norton Rose, the famous architectural experts, who figure closely, but skimp on nothing.

It has eight rooms, including two baths, a large living porch that can be glassed in, and six closets — without counting the cellar and attic rooms or the large butler's pantry.

The cover design, handsomely done in colors, shows the living room, seventeen by twenty-five, completely furnished. There are eleven guiding illustrations exclusive of the first and second floor plans drawn to scale.

Contractors and builders in various parts of America have estimated upon the cost of this ideal $5250 home and, contrary to many magazine-built houses, the stated cost is conservative and is not misleading. Here are the figures: Carpentry, $2940, masonry $1060, plumbing $700, painting $400, electric work $150.

It's an issue not only to read now and study, but to lay aside for future reference. Also in this issue:

Champ Clark
Speaker of the House of Representatives, writes a vigorous article, THE AFTERMATH, in which he denounces the prophets of disasters threatening the United States after the great war is ended. Speaker Clark sees a rosy future ahead for this country and gives his reasons in this timely, important article.

Keeping It from the Public
Article—By William R. Sill

Big salaries are paid a small army of publicity managers by the great play producers of the theater-world, not only to secure publicity, but to avoid it. Why and How? It's an interesting story, filled with startling reminiscences written to the point.

Among other features is a surprising account of the way in which many American towns, cities and geographical spots got their names—such as Portland, Or.; Bangor, Ouray, Wheeling, Hell Gate and Tombstone.

Ed Howe, the Atchison sage, is on hand with more of his inimitable Country Town Sayings; Frederick Hall writes merrily about Sunny Sides of Business; Madeline Bridges asks in rhyme and answers the question, What Does She Want with the Vote? And Phoebe Burbank, in the Food Department, has for housekeepers some new directions as to cereal combinations.

The opinion of attorneys for that the case will be con- about a month. This will be due by the decision of the attorney to not introduce no letters and other com- that passed between members of the dynamite conspiracy in the East.

The fact that Attorney Coghlan came from San Francisco to take charge of the defense after he had refused to be identified with it is taken to indicate that he will follow his own ideas of defense, and that Attorney Margolis will have nothing to do with planning the "strategy" case. If this is true it is not likely that the anarchists of Home Colony, friends of Caplan, will be called upon to testify to his "good reputation" in their midst.

Miss Katherine L. Schmidt, sister of the convicted dynamiter, was in the courtroom yesterday morning, sitting at Caplan's side, but there were few of his other friends or sympathizers present. Two or three of the rabid labor union walking delegates and agitators were to be seen, but the defendant has no following such as that daily at the trial of Schmidt.

EXPRESS APPRECIATION.

All the contestants expressed their appreciation of the fair and impartial manner in which the great contest was conducted. This campaign began January 12 and the voting time closed on the last moments of March 29. Several days were required to compute the final results, and the list of winners was made public last Sunday. In all there were more than 200 contestants, and more than 100 remained actively in the field until the closing day. This was the second automobile contest carried on by The Times, and its results have been the placing of this paper before the people of Southern California more thoroughly than ever before.

A CONTESTANT'S EXPERIENCE.

"My delight in winning a car in the Los Angeles Times automobile contest," said Miss May Brotherton of Long Beach, when informed that she was one of the sixteen fortunates, "is exceeded only by my gratitude to H. M. Horkheimer, president and general manager of the Balboa Amusement Producing Company. He is responsible for my having been in the contest and the successful issue is due to the enthusiasm which he rallied to my support."

This statement summarizes one of the best human interest stories developed by The Times contest. When it was launched it was suggested that a number of film stars be induced to enter, in the belief that there presence would add zest to the voting. President Horkheimer frankly declined to "back" any of his principals because he felt all of them to be in a position to buy their own cars. But in his employ was a young woman whom he wished to do something for on account of her faithfulness.

It was May Brotherton. In the three years she has been at the head of Balboa's assembly department she hasn't missed a day. While the army of screen enthusiasts never hears of those working in this capacity, they are none the less important factors in the making of film productions. Being of a retiring disposition Miss Brotherton did not see how she could win, when her entering the contest was suggested. Mr. Horkheimer told her not to worry about that. If she would consent to the use of her name, he agreed to see that she wouldn't lose.

Despite his manifold duties at the head of a big studio like Balboa, which employs several hundred people, President Horkheimer took off his coat at once and sallied in to get subscriptions to The Times. His personal efforts yielded a lot of votes.

"It's simply a matter of determining to win when you start out," said Mr. Horkheimer in discussing the contest. "Keep your eye on the finish, all the time, and never quit. Above all things, don't worry about the other fellow. Do your part and you'll win. As we've proved at Balboa, the same thing applies in business. Our competitors had us dead and buried half a dozen times. Nevertheless, we're getting bigger all the time.

"It's the same way in a voting contest. You've got to stick to the race. Of course, a man can't win single-handed. It requires co-operation. I'm happy to be able to say that we had lots of friends who were glad to help us win for Miss Brotherton. Knowing and esteeming her, our employees generally supported the campaign, thereby exemplifying loyalty."

Several weeks before the finish President Horkheimer was summoned to New York on important business in connection with a big merger in the film world which he is engineering. While there his mind was still on the local race, for he sent a number of subscriptions from the metropolis. But before leaving he interested his brother, E. D. Horkheimer, who had just returned from the East, in Miss Brotherton's cause. The active work of the finale was delegated to Norman Manning, Balboa's energetic business manager. The busiest man in Long Beach, he found time, none-the-less, to register the finishing lick, and "brought home the bacon."

When he started out to win a car for Miss Brotherton, President Horkheimer had no idea of the publicity it would develop for himself or his company. But the story of his unselfish interest in the cause of a humble employee has found its way into many newspapers all over the country. It is valuable to all who read it, revealing as it does one of the big secrets of the Horkheimer success as being loyalty—the loyalty of employer to employee and vice versa.

TRACING SOURCE OF POISONED SWEETS.

OHIO POLICE IMPLICATE TWO WOMEN IN PLOT.

Candy Received by Mrs. D. S. Hoover was Manufactured in the East for Local Trade, Near Home of Husband of Intended Victim, is Report to Authorities Here.

The mystery of the poisoned candy received by Mrs. D. S. Hoover in Los Angeles, and her estranged husband in Mansfield, O., grows. Deputy District Attorney Joos yesterday received information from Chief of Police James Feeney of the Ohio town stating that two women, presumably mother and daughter, have been implicated in the possible crime.

These two women, whose names are said to be known to Mr. Hoover, but will not be divulged, left Mansfield during the latter part of December, and were commented on at the time by the man under suspicion of having attempted to poison his wife. He stated to a friend that "they were his enemies and that he intended to have their movements watched to see if they had done him dirt while in California."

Chief Feeney informed the local officials that the candy sent Mrs. Hoover was manufactured by a Greek concern of Sidney, O., and that it had never been shipped outside of the State as far as was ascertainable. The candy was sold in Mansfield by the Kaler Candy Company, as far as can be ascertained, to a woman friend of Mr. Hoover, who is under surveillance, and samples of whose handwriting were inclosed in the letter for the purpose of comparison.

Mrs. Hoover had nothing to say yesterday about the new developments, declaring that she had little or no idea who the two women referred to by her husband might be.

CAFE MEN TO CELEBRATE.

Association is to Have Mammoth Picnic with Many Guests at Santa Fe Springs Next Monday—City and County Officials to Participate.

With more than 1500 invitations issued and all prominent city and county officials scheduled as guests of honor, the Los Angeles Cafe Men's Association will have a monster barbecue at Santa Fe Springs next Monday at 2 o'clock.

Santa Fe Springs is located not far from Whittier and is the property of A. Foix. It comprises seven acres. The guests will travel in automobiles from Los Angeles to the springs. The machines will be decorated with banners and will move from Tenth and Olive streets to Broadway, traveling north on Broadway to Temple street; east on Temple to Spring, south on Spring to Ninth, the junction point of Main and Spring streets; north on Main to Sixth street and at Sixth street onward to the springs.

At least two hundred machines are expected to be in line. Stops will be made at the City Hall and at the County Courthouse where the public officials will be gathered up.

At the springs special entertainment consisting of a band concert, a number of cabaret artists, fancy riders and other amusements will be staged. The entire affair is made possible through the courtesy of W. A. Glasscock, who is to be the general host. It was his idea and suggestion to have a picnic and it was quickly taken up by the organization as a splendid opportunity of getting together on a number of vital issues pertaining to the business.

The affair is to conclude by 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, giving all restaurant men ample time to return to the city for dinner hour.

Charge of False Pretenses Against Head of Failed Business.

Nathan Schepps, former head of the Knickerbocker Stores Company, operating a chain of dairy product, tea and coffee stores, was brought before Justice Hinshaw yesterday afternoon to answer to the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The complaint was sworn to by Chester Gury, who alleges that Mr. Schepps declared to him that there were only $400 in debts outstanding against the company, whereas the indebtedness was much greater, and that shortly after he had been induced to invest $2000 the concern failed entirely.

Schepps was arraigned and held on bail of $500, pending his preliminary hearing today.

Bares Sorry Story of Married Life.

Mrs. Helen Edith Carns,

Attractive plaintiff in divorce proceedings, alleges among a rift of harsher things, that her husband had a perfect mania for cleaning and scrubbing.

Foots Bills.

SCRUBBING BRUSH AND BOTTLES HER EXHIBITS.

MRS. HELEN EDITH CARNS bared a sordid story of domestic unhappiness in divorce proceedings before Judge Craig of Riverside, sitting for Judge Works, yesterday. It was the story of a husband who was not tidy, who drank, and who did not provide for her. According to her mother, her son-in-law, Lee Ward Carns, "had a perfect mania for cleaning and scrubbing" the apartments they occupied.

"I could not get a chance to dress," testified Mrs. Ellen E. Mellen, the mother-in-law. "He would come in and begin to scrub the windows and the screens and oil the floor. I kept, as a mother will, mementoes I prized on my dresser. He came in and, calling them 'stuff,' destroyed every one of them."

But this was only a minor charge. The grave charge made by the wife, a well-dressed, attractive young modiste, was that Mr. Carns drank. She testified he was more or less under the influence of liquor on their honeymoon, going and coming. While they resided at Venice in August, 1914, she said he went to town to get a position and did not return for dinner.

"While mother and I were on the boardwalk we saw him approaching, under the influence of liquor. He apparently did not see us. I spoke to him about it. He became indignant and swore at me. He did not work at all at that time and I paid the bills. He would go out without coat or collar and lie around the beach. He interfered when meals were being prepared and when I remonstrated he swore at me."

She told an incident of a dance at the Country Club.

"I was dancing with my husband. A couple bumped into us. He turned quickly and swore violently. The girl cried. If I did not hold my hand in a certain position on the lapel of his coat he would stop and swear violently in the hearing of scores of persons. Finally I could not dance with him at all."

The Carns moved from Venice to this city, staying at the Palace and the Woodward. Mrs. Carns said he was frequently intoxicated and at times was repulsive. She then told of an experience in New York, when he insisted upon going to Atlantic City one afternoon, although they were going to leave New York the next morning for Los Angeles. He was given $15 expense money, but becoming angry at her remonstrance about wasting time, she said he left her, and being without a nickel for car fare she was compelled to walk many blocks to the hotel. This experience made her ill and hysterical. These statements were brought out by Attorney Potter.

Under the cross-examination of Attorney Tatlow, Mrs. Carns was asked if she had not locked her husband out of their apartment.

"Not until after he had annoyed me and I had brought divorce proceedings," she said. "I did not want him in my apartments after the suit and I asked the manager to give him another room.

Mr. Carns claims that Mrs. Carns deserted him, refusing to take his money for her support. He will deny that he drank to excess.

Mrs. Carns says that when she married him he told her he had sold a seat on the Chicago Stock Exchange, but that all the money he had was $50. She says she paid the expenses of their wedding trip. Her bank books brought into court show a snug balance in her name.

LEAD SCHOOL FOR QUARTER-CENTURY.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF DR. AND MRS. BRODBECK.

Organization is Largest in Methodism Sustained by Patronage of a Single Congregation, and for Years was Second in Magnitude of Enrollment in Entire World.

It is an unquestioned honor to be retained at the head of any successful organization for an unbroken period of a quarter-century. Tuesday night a double event of that kind was celebrated at the First Methodist Church—the quarter-centennial of Dr. H. W. Brodbeck as superintendent of the phenomenal Sunday-school of that church, and of Mrs. Brodbeck as superintendent of the elementary grades for the same period. They have seen the school grow to one of the world's greatest and most notable Sunday-schools.

For a number of years it stood second on the list in magnitude of enrollment among Sunday-schools throughout the world. It is the largest Methodist school in the world directly maintained by the patronage of a single congregation. Its enrollment at the close of the last month was over 3600.

The decorations last night emphasized the past and present of the great school. In the center of the platform a flight of twenty-five steps ascended well toward the ceiling, each bearing the year and corresponding enrollment, and at the summit a portrait of Dr. Brodbeck, made twenty-five years ago. A series of white columns, decorations of palms and greenery, formed the setting for this main feature, and a large orchestra occupied the choir platform back of it all.

The large auditorium was filled when the guests of honor ascended the platform. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the church, was chairman of the evening. J. H. Blanchard, one of the early superintendents of the school, made the opening prayer, which was followed by a brief address by Dr. Locke and a congratulatory address by Dr. S. T. Westhafer. The history of the school for the quarter-century was given by Mr. Cronemiller.

The response of Dr. Brodbeck, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Brodbeck, was modest, loving, optimistic and touchingly eloquent.

"PENCIL DAY" A SUCCESS.

With Only Two-thirds of Reports In, Indications Point to Most Beneficial Effort in Behalf of the St. Elizabeth's Day Nursery.

With indications that yesterday was the most successful "Pencil Day," since that day has been observed, and with but two-thirds of the returns in, the distributing office of the Pencil Day Committee for St. Elizabeth's Day Nursery, in the basement of the Mullen & Bluett store, closed at 6:50 o'clock last night.

The largest returns in the past were $6000, realized on the sales of pencils four years ago. According to reports last night, Mrs. Maurice S. Hellman, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Alvin Frank, brought in $506, the largest returns up until the office closed. Mrs. Hellman had twelve assistants.

The board of management of the St. Elizabeth Day Nursery conducts the campaign. "Pencil Day" was instituted four years ago, and was devised to support the babies of the nursery. The sales are held every two years, as the returns are sufficient to pay the expenses of the institution for that period.

PASADENA, April 6.—City Building Inspector J. G. Simpson tendered his resignation yesterday to the City Commission. This was followed by the resignation of C. E. Jaco, assistant Engineer Simpson.

Although Mr. Simpson states that ill health has induced him to resign his office, it is believed that interference on the part of members of the City Commission with his work, prompted the act. It is considered significant, also, that his assistant tendered his resignation.

VETERAN TAR MISSING.

Found Responsible for Accident Aboard Warship and Disappears After Sentence Is Made Known. Shipmates Resent Court-martial's Finding.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, April 5.—Chief Boatswain's Mate Nick Burmeister of the torpedo boat destroyer Preble, who, it is reliably reported, was held responsible by a general court-martial board for the explosion on the warship here March 4, has been missing since Sunday, it became known today. Among his closest friends it is intimated that Burmeister has gone to Washington to lay his case before Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

The report of the court-martial board has been reviewed at Washington and returned to Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow here, but it has not been made public. It has been persistently reported that the court-martial board placed the blame for the explosion upon Burmeister and sentenced him to six months at the naval prison at Mare Island, after which time he is to be dishonorably discharged from the service.

Resentment over the findings of the court have been expressed among enlisted men of the first division of destroyers stationed here. They declare Burmeister, who has a perfect record of sixteen years in the navy, has been made the "goat."

It developed at the inquiry that Burmeister, who had charge of several men who were cleaning the bilges in a small compartment with gasoline, was not present when the explosion occurred. In this explosion Arthur Grossert, coxswain, was fatally burned and four other seamen slightly injured.

Under navy rules Burmeister will be classed as a deserter if he does not report within ten days. Burmeister's wife lives in San Francisco.

The impossibility of financing this amount of reconstruction at once is pointed out to the commission in a letter forwarded today by City Attorney A. H. [LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, April 5.—Stirred over the movement in progress by the city officials, Chamber of Commerce and Long Beach Ad Club for a stricter regulation of passenger automobiles, members of the jitney fraternity in this city today announced that as a last resort they would run a free auto line on the principal streets, with mite boxes on the cars for free offerings, and thus escape even the payment of $110 a year license to the city under the present regulation.

J. L. Dunbar, owner of three auto busses now running on the East Ocean-avenue line, suggested the free transportation plan and the other jitneurs have followed in line with an expression of approval of the proposition.

Mr. Dunbar does not claim originality for the idea, but says he learned of it through a Texas friend, who said the plan had been carried out with great success in one of the large Texas cities when efforts were made to exterminate the auto busses by severe regulatory measures.

"If the city makes it so hard for us to operate that we have to give up, following the indorsement of the plan by the local jitney bus association, we will put it into effect in Long Beach," said Dunbar.

Arthur W. Kinney, industrial commissioner of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and C. M. Gordon, Harbor Commissioner of Los Angeles, were the principal speakers at the Chamber of Commerce day-luncheon of the Long Beach Ad Club at the Kennebec Hotel this noon. Secretary Lynn W. Ballard, introduced by President A. J. Richards of the Ad Club, was the chairman of the day.

The needs of Long Beach Harbor and the importance of large industries and the payroll were eloquently and effectively put before one of the largest gatherings of citizens that have ever been present at the Ad Club's popular luncheons by the speakers.

Despite the fact that 2200 volts of electricity passed through his body and rendered him unconscious, A. B. Monasmith, a lineman in the employ of the Home Telephone Company, after being saved from death by his safety belt which locked him to the pole, was revived by his fellow-workmen by first aid treatment today. The amount of voltage that passed through his body is more than the amount usually required to electrocute a person in an electric chair.

The accident occurred when a wire with which the lineman was working snapped and flew across a high voltage wire of the Southern California Edison Company, and sent a shock through his body that caused him to fall backward and dangle head downward by his leather belt, which saved his life. Big holes were burned in his leather gloves and shoes.

Franchise Connecting Two Sections Considered Valuable and May Bring Large Amount—House Gutted by Thieves Who Take Even Doors.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, April 5.—The question of the granting to Charles I. D. Looff, and his associates, the right to use twenty feet of city property, or rather, to connect the pier being built by Mr. Looff with the municipal pier, has raised the question of what the city will charge for a franchise, which Mr. Looff has asked.

Carl Schader, prominent real estate man, who owns considerable property adjoining the Looff property, today offered the city $5000 for the right to build a pier west of the mean high-tide line, which might be connected with the municipal pier. Mr. Schader said that the city is about to give Mr. Looff a valuable right, especially in allowing him to connect up with the municipal pier, and without adequate compensation.

Commissioner Berkley said that Mr. Schader would be given a right to bid on the franchise, which it was proposed the city would grant to Mr. Looff. It was proposed to connect the two piers by a sliding steel apron.

The Commissioners adjourned to executive session to discuss the situation. The City Planning Commission approved the suggested connection, but did not mention whether or not a large sum should be charged for the right.

Having been away from the beach for some time, Mrs. Margaret Chase of Burlington avenue, Los Angeles, was surprised today when she visited her summer cottage at Charles and Sherman streets. She found her house in the right place, but that was about all that she did find, for a general moving process had been in progress.

The screen doors were taken, kindling wood, furniture, glassware and the complete house furnishings, and even doors had been carted away. The police found no clew, except a multitude of footprints, and these all lead to the street, where the goods had been loaded on a wagon.

WATER REVIVES ELECTION TALK.

ANNEXATION OF DISTRICT ADJACENT TO HARBOR PLANNED.

Private Plant not Sufficiently Large to Supply Needs—Reservoir May Have to be Constructed—Dealers to be Prosecuted for Selling Undersized Fish.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, April 5. Annexation talk in the district between the Palos Verdes ranch and the harbor district is being revived and it is probable that a petition calling for an election to vote upon a proposition to become a part of Los Angeles will be circulated in a few weeks.

The water question is still the issue in the district. This section is developing rapidly and has about reached the limit of its growth until a better supply of water is available. Reduced lighting rates is also an argument in favor of annexation. Property owners who favor annexation say that they will save on water and light alone more than enough to pay the city taxes.

SMALL SUPPLY.

At the present time the only available water supply is from a small private plant owned by John T. Gaffey. Unable to supply more customers, Mr. Gaffey himself is in favor of the annexation scheme so that the city can furnish water to those who desire to build homes in the district. Although the Gaffey plant is supplied with city water under an old contract with the San Pedro Water Company before the plant was taken over by the city, the "Public Service Commissioners refuse to extend further service outside the city.

In order to supply the outside district auxiliary reservoirs will have to be built on the higher ground. Even within the present city limits there are small areas where water cannot be secured from the present system on account of the elevation.

PROSECUTE DEALERS.

Upon complaint of State Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Pritchard, A. K. Marusch will plead before Judge Crawford tomorrow morning on a charge of shipping undersized barracuda and chicken halibut. Mr. Marusch is manager of the American-Union Fish Company and the evidence was secured by intercepting shipments for Arizona points.

"The only way we can stop the practice of shipping undersized fish is to prosecute dealers," said Mr. Pritchard today. "We find there is no law to prevent the fishermen catching the small fish, but there is a law which prevents their sale. This was adopted on the recommendation of the Fish Dealers' Association and they have no just complaint against prosecution. Their own argument was that the only way to prevent fishermen from catching small fish was to destroy the market for them."

LONG WATER TRIP.

Yuma to Calexico by Water on River and Canal Made by Two Government Men—Long Pull on Oars Made in Day's Time.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, April 5.—Demonstrating that an all-water trip is possible from Yuma to the Imperial Valley, N. B. Conway and R. A. Hill, field assistants in the United States Reclamation Service, arrived at El Centro today after making a seventy-two mile voyage in a small boat from the Arizona city by way of the Colorado River and Alamo Canal to East Side Heading, eleven miles east of Calexico.

The trip was made in connection with their work of investigation of river control on the lower Colorado. A fifteen-foot skiff was used to make the trip. Conway and Hill left Yuma at 6:30 a.m., both rowing hard all the way, arriving at East Side heading at 5:30, thus making the voyage in eleven hours, two hours of which was consumed in resting.

Two short portages of only a few feet were made by the men. At Hanlon heading, seven miles below Yuma, the boat was lifted with the aid of ten men, over the heading into the Alamo Canal; also at the Cudahy check, about half way from Hanlon Heading to Calexico, the skiff was dragged around the obstruction by a team of mules.

Much valuable data for their report to the Reclamation Service at Washington was obtained by the travelers.

PIONEER KILLED BY LOCOMOTIVE.

Woman's Demands for Improved Financial Standing Before Marriage Induces Ranchman to Rob Bank—Cattle-thief Changes Plea Several Times.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENTURA, April 5. — Gaetano Beronio, a pioneer resident of this city, was killed yesterday by being struck by a freight engine near the depot. Beronio lives near the track there and was staking his horse on the beach side of the railroad when he saw a freight train approaching the depot from the west.

Desiring to cross the track before the train passed, he started over, but was caught by the engine before he could clear the track. He was thrown and afterwards struck. He lived four hours. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. He was a native of Italy and aged 73 years.

He leaves a widow and five grown children. The widow is at present in Los Angeles, where she is ill in a hospital. The funeral will probably take place in Los Angeles.

WOMAN IN THE CASE.

It has been discovered that George Downing, the Ojai bank robber, had a sweetheart at Nordhoff, and it is stated that it was because of his love for this girl that he committed the crime. It is stated that she had refused to wed him as long as he was engaged in ranch work, but had stated that she would do so if he built a bungalow in Nordhoff and had a business of some kind in that town.

On this account, it is stated, Downing conceived the plan of getting a lot of money at once in order to hurry up the wedding, marriage to the girl of his choice having become an obsession with him.

SOME MIND CHANGER.

Jack Kugler, one of the band of cattle thieves who helped steal cattle in this country and run them into Los Angeles butchers by auto trucks, changed his plea four times yesterday and this makes the sixth time he has made a change. When arrested he pleaded not guilty; later at the preliminary of one of the gang he made a clean breast of it.

After that and at the trial in the higher court he changed his testimony. When his own case came on he pleaded not guilty and had a lawyer named to defend him. His case came up yesterday in the Superior Court. After the jury had been secured he stated he desired to plead guilty. Then the jury was dismissed and Kugler was taken back to jail. While there he said he wanted to change his plea to guilty. He was taken before the court and said he had grown nervous.

Later he telephoned from the jail that he wanted to plead not guilty and was hustled toward the courthouse, but on his way up changed again and said he would plead guilty and take his medicine. The matter stands so now, but there is no telling what may happen with Kugler later.

BRIDGE DISPUTE.

An agreement has been reached between the county and the Boardman Construction Company by which a bill of facts will be presented to the court for decision regarding the differences between the county and the company on the Saticoy bridge work. The company built an approach to the Saticoy bridge, but could not finish it because the company building the pier could not finish that piece of work, which would give the Boardman company something to build to.

The county paid all the claim presented for the work excepting $1800, and then the winter rain came and washed out the work that was completed. It was not the fault of the company that it could not complete the work and the county could not accept the work uncompleted.

It may be that the county will try and recover loss from the contractors who failed to complete the pier work, though this company did all it could under the circumstances to get through its part of the job.

Venice.

ELECTION EXCITEMENT GROWS KEEN AT VENICE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, April 5.—With election but six days away, politics here has reached such a stage that a careful check is kept by two opposing parties, and members of both sides claim that their actions are being watched by detectives from the other side. The Citizens' Protective League is opposing the Good Government League, which is supporting the present city administration.

The campaign for city trustees, there being two vacancies, is bringing out considerable feeling. So much so, in fact, that accurate count is kept of the leanings of each individual voter and the leaders of each side are said to be daily "stalked" by detectives.

One of the outstanding features in the campaign is the method of waging the fight. One set of canvassers goes about from house to house with arguments why one side should be placed in control of the city government, and the favorite plan is for the canvassers for the other side to follow up and not only deny the charges but come back with counter-charges. In this way the Venice voters are kept busy listening to arguments of the opposing factions. The fight has become so pointed that threats of arrest have been made by adherents of the two factions.

The candidates are: Good Government League, for trustees, Mayor Edward A. Gerety and Myron J. Carr; for City Clerk, Charles Y. Burns; for Treasurer, James T. Peasgood, Jr. Venice Protective League: for trustees, H. M. Brown and William Hume; City Clerk, Stacie Heath, and treasurer, C. W. Damerel.

The Good Government League has indorsed the candidacy also of Dana Burks for high school trustee, and H. Michel for grammar school trustee, but the other league did not nominate anyone for these offices. This election will be held Friday.

The next few days of the campaign promise lively meetings in Venice. The Venice Protective League is publishing its own arguments in the form of a poster-newspaper, while the other league is supported by a local newspaper. The election, according to claims made by both sides, will be a close one and the last few days of the campaign will probably bring out some startling features.

Early in the campaign, which has been waged for about two months, the Protective League adherents talked of a recall. This was immediately stopped. The Protective League candidates would not have had complete control of the city government, if they were elected, the three holdover trustees being adherents of the other faction.

TO BE MUSTERED OUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BAKERSFIELD, April 5.—Co. L, Sixth Regiment, California National Guard, stationed here, will be mustered out, according to advices to Col. Arthur S. Crites from C. W. Thomas, adjutant-general of the State militia. Thomas states that the company fell far below the requirements at a recent inspection by Capt. Hannigan of the regular army. A meeting has been called for Monday night by the Chamber of Commerce, when the matter of organizing another company will be taken up. Capt. Lucien Beer has been head of the company.

RALLY FOR DELEGATES.

Prominent Men to Address Meeting of Republicans Next Saturday Evening in Blanchard Hall. "Movies" of Candidates at Orpheum Today.

The second big Republican rally of the week will take place at Blanchard Hall Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when members of the Sixty-fourth Assembly District Republican Club will meet in furtherance of the campaign being waged in the interests of the twenty-six nominees for delegates to the national convention.

Fred Frank, the enthusiastic chairman of arrangements, announces that Charles E. Scott will preside and the following will speak: John G. Mott, E. W. Britt, W. C. Mushet, C. C. Chapman (nominees for delegates;) Fred J. Spring and Rev. Glenn McWilliams. There will be a band and fireworks. It is expected several hundred men and women will attend, a special invitation having been issued to the fair sex.

FROM GUSTAV BRENNER.

From Gustav Brenner, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, came the following letter:

Dr. A. J. Scott,
President Los Angeles Club,
Los Angeles, Cal.

My dear Dr. Scott: I have looked forward with a great deal of pleasure to being present at the banquet this evening, at which the delegates to the national convention are to be entertained and shown the whole-hearted support of the local ones of the party.

I have just been informed that I had been honored with a seat at the speakers' table and that I was expected to make a few remarks on the subject of the Republican party of California from the standpoint of the last chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. I would have been very happy to have had the opportunity of recounting some of the hardships and trials through which we passed during those doubtful days when it was predicted that the Republican party of this State was absolutely dead beyond any hope of resurrection. I would have been glad to recount the work and effort of those stanch men and women who stood by me during these trying days, and to say with all the emphasis with which I am capable that we never believed that the Republican party was dead, nor did we ever believe that it was even temporarily asleep. We did know that a large number for a while saw fit to worship at the strange and new shrine—some with considerable sincerity, others with an utter lack of it.

Unfortunately, this pleasure is denied me, owing to the sudden passing away of Mr. Harris Newmark, that fine, highly-respected and good man whose name has meant so much to your community and who played such an important part in its upbuilding. I could not attend these festivities under the circumstances.

I trust and know that you will have a most successful and enthusiastic meeting tonight, and I shall be with you in spirit. With all best wishes for the party and the splendid lot of men who are going on as representatives,

Believe me sincerely yours,
[Signed] GUSTAV BRENNER.

Letter from Root.

Dr. A. J. Scott, president of the Republican Club of Los Angeles county, yesterday received the following letter from Elihu Root:

Regret that it is impossible for me to accept your kind invitation and be present at the Republican Club banquet. You have my best wishes for success in sending to Chicago a Republican delegation not in the interest of any candidate but free and competent to lay aside all personal considerations and do what is wise and best for the party in the country.

[Signed] ELIHU ROOT.

Delegates in "Movies."

By special arrangements with the Pathe Company moving pictures were taken of the nominees for delegates to the national convention at the banquet and reception given in their honor at Hamburger's Cafe, Tuesday night, and they will be flashed on the screen at the Orpheum Theater today. The pictures show the distinguished men and women in characteristic attitudes at the banquet table.

Coffee Doesn't Hurt Me" says the cynic, but we live and learn and at some time of life many coffee drinkers wake up to the fact that the drug, "caffeine," in coffee is "getting them."

Headache, nervousness, biliousness, heart flutter, insomnia, etc., are often signs that coffee is getting in its work; and the growing knowledge of its true nature has led thousands of former coffee drinkers to turn to

INSTANT POSTUM

This famous food-drink tastes much like mild Java coffee, but is entirely free from caffeine and other harmful elements ever present in coffee. It is made of whole wheat and a small portion of wholesome molasses, and permits Nature, unhampered, to carry on her work of daily re-building brain, nerves and muscle.

Postum comes in two forms: The original POSTUM CEREAL must be boiled; INSTANT POSTUM requires no boiling—a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water makes a delicious drink—instantly. Both forms are equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

RAILWAY SHARES STRONG; WAR ISSUES ARE WEAK.

Good Inquiry for Carriers Securities Suggests a Broadening of the Investment Demand—An Advance of Five Dollars a Ton in Steel Rails is Predicted but this has Little Effect on the Market.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 5.—The consistent strength of railway issues and irregularity of prominent specialties furnished the contrasting features of today's languid market. Munitions, Mexicans, Motors, oils and shipping shares were higher by 1 or 2 points in the first hour, with greater gains in United States Industrial Alcohol and Cuban American sugar. Much of this ground was lost later when rails offered almost the only relief to the increasing apathy. Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, Louisville and Nashville, Pennsylvania, Reading, Chesapeake & Ohio and New Haven improved from 1 to 2 points, the inquiry being sufficiently broad to justify belief in an investment demand. Prices became more uneven in the later dealings, mainly in consequence of renewed pressure against Crucible Steel and other distinctive war stocks. United States Steel and other standard industrials moved in narrow limits, regardless of the indirect intimation of a forthcoming advance in the price of rails. Although leading manufacturers declined to make any definite statement, it is authoritatively known that the proposed advance in this important product—the first in over fifteen years—is likely to be as much as $5.00 a ton. Dealings in the final hour were again enlivened by resumption of activity in mercantile marines, the automobile group and alcohol, the latter featuring that period with a maximum gain of 6½ points to 167½, with an advance of 5¾ for the preferred. Cuban American made an extreme gain of 3 at 226. Total sales amounted to 455,000 shares. A proposed offering by New York City of $55,000,000, 4½ per cent. bonds was without effect upon outstanding issues, although the tone of the bond market was irregular. Total sales par value were $3,745,000. Panama coupons 3's advanced ½ per cent. on call.

INCREASED ACTIVITY ON LOCAL EXCHANGE.

MINING ISSUES CONTINUE IN POPULAR FAVOR.

Pictured Rock Called for First Time—Generally Stronger Market for Oatmans—Demand for Home Telephone Stocks Forces up Prices. Union Oil Firm.

Heavy trading in the mining list featured yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Pictured Rock was called for the first time in the afternoon and met with the same hearty reception which has been accorded all the Oatmans. A total of 85,000 shares changed hands on board and an informal sale of 200,000 shares was posted on the exchange's daily bulletin. Big Jim receded from its high position of the day before when sales were recorded at 1.85. The stock opened weak at 1.88 and as the meeting progressed further weakness forced down the price an additional 5 points. Boundary Cons was slightly stronger and 10,000 shares of Sun Dial brought firm figures. Improvement was noticed in United Western, Arizona Tom Reed and Sunnyside although trading in these issues was not above the ordinary. Ivanhoe and Oatman North Star were steady and sales were recorded in Tom Reed Junior, United Eastern, Gold Dust and Gold Range. Union Oil was more active, 100 shares selling 1 nthe morning for 76.00 with closing bids at that price. Home Telephone stocks were very strong, a large quantity of the preferred selling at the improved quotation of 71.00, and the common gaining back its old price of 55.00. As a matter of fact, closing transactions in the common were at 55.25 and the last bids heard for the stock before the session ended were at that figure. Los Angeles Investment was up at 74 and calls for the stock at that price were fairly persistent.

FAIR PLAY ASKED FOR CITY WORKERS.

COUNCIL PROPOSES TO ALLOW TRANSPORTATION BILLS.

Finance Committee Proposes to Amend Salary Ordinance and Allow Three Cents a Mile for Use of Privately-owned Machines Used in City Business.

"Is it fair for the city of Los Angeles to compel an employee receiving $100 a month to buy an automobile and run it at his own expense in city business, on a promise of paying 3 cents a mile, and then fail to pay him anything, after the employee has paid $100 down and $40 a month on the automobile and another $100 for upkeep and repairs?" This was the hypothetical question put to the Council yesterday by Councilwoman Lindsey when she demanded that the Council pass an ordinance immediately legalizing the payment of transportation allowances for the employees who furnish their own machines. In answering her own question, Mrs. Lindsey said it is a "blooming shame," and she read a list of bills presented by city employees showing that her citation was typical of a score or more instances.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee which decided later to recommend that the whole salary ordinance for the engineering department be amended to provide that extra allowances can be paid for transportation instead of the present provision that the monthly checks shall be in full for salaries and transportation.

In response to an appeal from the Friday Morning Club, the Finance Committee agreed to recommend that street car fare be allowed the district nurses in the health department. It was shown that these nurses who receive about $85 a month are paying $10 to $15 a month for car fare or telephone calls or else spending more time walking than on their regular work.

ON TELEPHONES.

INQUIRY IS SCHEDULED.

Consideration of the telephone situation will be taken up by the Public Utilities Board immediately after the close of the gas rate hearing, about the first of next month, according to President Lane of the Public Utilities Board.

Notices to the telephone centers of Southern California have been sent by the State Railroad Commission asking for data on the telephone situation. The commission will issue blanket schedules after the hearing. According to President Lane, it is likely that the proposed merger of the Home and Sunset interests in Los Angeles will be ready for submission to the City Council before this hearing comes up before the State Commission. In the meantime, the Utilities Board will insist that details of the proposed merger shall be worked out before the matter is presented to the State Railroad Commission so that all matter affecting rates may be presented.

It was announced last night that the petition by the People's Telephone Committee, asking for an $8,000,000 bond issue for a municipal telephone system, will be in circulation today.

Hearing of the city's appeal for 5-cent fares on the Pacific Electric to Edendale, Bairdstown, Palms, Culver City and certain parts of Hollywood will come up for hearing next Tuesday before State Railroad Commissioner Frank Devlin. In this case, President Lane of the Utilities Board says, the general question of all rates on the Pacific Electric system will not be considered, as the city is only interested in the rates within the corporate limits.

INITIATIVE.

REVERSAL IS PROPOSED.

The initiative petition fathered by former Councilman Whiffen, seeking to compel the city to reverse its attitude on the sale of water outside the city limits and to furnish aqueduct water to the Santa Monica and Sawtelle districts and to property owned by the Mutual Water Association, was filed with the City Clerk yesterday.

The petition which bears about 6500 signatures asks the Council to provide for submitting an ordinance to the people at the June 6 election providing for the delivery of aqueduct water to Santa Monica for distribution or resale. It is proposed that Santa Monica shall have at least twenty second feet, without bonus, fee or other charge for water rights. It is provided further that this water shall be supplied through trunk lines leading from the upper or lower reservoirs in Franklin Canyon; the districts to provide the outlets from the city lines.

The proposed ordinance will permit the Mutual Water Association to supply the Santa Monica and Sawtelle districts and it provides that the Public Service Commission shall be instructed to enter into a contract to supply water to Santa Monica for fifteen years, the city of Los Angeles to reserve the right to terminate the contract on three years' notice. The Sawtelle provisions are the same, excepting that provision is made for only five second feet.

CALL FOR HELP.

SOLICITORS' PERMITS.

Request for an additional clerk at $100 a month for the Public Utilities Board was made to the Council yesterday in view of the extra work to be imposed by the new ordinance requiring the Utilities Board to issue permits for all street solicitors, including taxicab and sightseeing busses and hotel runners and baggage transfer solicitors. It is proposed that this clerk shall be in the office during the first week of the month, when permits are issued and spend the remainder of his time on the streets looking after the enforcement of the ordinance.

The new ordinance placing the jitbusses and all for hire automobiles under jurisdiction of the Utilities Board has not yet been prepared by the City Attorney, but as soon as the coming hearings on street railway rates, telephones and gas are completed, the Utilities Board and the City Attorney propose to prepare the ordinance for presentation with a view to transferring the work from the Police Commission to the Utilities Board. When this ordinance is effective another clerk will be required by the Utilities Board. Under the proposed arrangement, one of the additional clerks will handle applications and office work while the other will be on the street most of the time.

ALMOST DANGEROUS.

HOTEL MEN PROTEST.

Echoes of an accident that didn't happen were heard yesterday in a letter written to the Board of Public Works by the proprietors of the Baltimore Hotel in East Fifth street, who said that an employee of the water department turned off the water in the hotel without warning and it was discovered by the hotel engineer just in time to prevent an explosion of ammonia tanks that would have endangered the lives of hundreds of persons.

The hotel men say that they sent a check to the water department the day before their water bill was due, and on the following day an employee of the department, without warning, turned off the water. The hotel refrigeration plant would have exploded in twenty minutes, the letter said, with great danger of loss of life and property, if the engineer had not been on the job.

Also, the action of the city employee placed $40,000 worth of machinery out of commission and the hotel men say they have a real grievance against the city.

SKIDDING DANGER.

AUTO OWNERS CONSULTED.

On motion of Councilman Conwell yesterday the Council requested the Automobile Club of Southern California to investigate and report on the advantages of street cleaning by vacuum sweepers as compared with flushing. This motion was opposed by Chairman Topham of the Public Works Committee, who said it is a foregone conclusion that the automobile drivers prefer the dry method. More letters were received yesterday by the Board of Public Works urging the adoption of the vacuum method, which, according to the investigations of the efficiency department, will do the work 64 per cent. cheaper than it can be done with flushers.

Information is Requested.

The Municipal League wrote the Board of Public Works yesterday asking why it is necessary, when a house is connected with the sewer, to leave the ditch open two days so that one inspector can make a special trip to inspect the pipe from the main sewer and another inspector can come and inspect the pipe from the property line to the house.

MRS. BOURNE WINS ALIENATION SUIT.

JURY AWARDS DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF HUSBAND.

Young Wife Given Judgment for $12,500 Against Parents of Spouse. Touching Scene in Courtroom as She Gives Her Hand to Each Juryman, Expressing Thanks.

Mrs. Marie M. Bourne, the young wife of Ralph Bourne of Eagle Rock, who returned home one day to find a swan-song note from him, saying he had left her, and sued his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Bourne, for $50,000 damages, charging them with having alienated her husband's love and affection, was given $12,500 damages by a jury in Judge Myers's court yesterday. She was overcome with emotion. With tears dimming her eyes, she gave her hand to each juryman and thanked him. Her father-in-law and mother-in-law seemed stunned. They believed that their denial of their daughter-in-law's charges, of inducement and interference, had impressed the jury, and will move for a new trial.

The trial of the suit brought into the courtroom many residents of Eagle Rock, who were divided into two camps. One faction stood by the young wife; the other espoused the cause of the accused parents. The testimony covered a wide range, dealing with the domestic life of the bride and groom. It was charged by young Mrs. Bourne that her husband's parents interfered, even to the extent of choosing their furniture and other articles which went into the house. It was also charged that the parents were resolved to get Ralph away from her.

This was denied by the parents, who testified that at no time did they desire to break up the home. On the contrary, it was testified that the young wife would not meet her mother-in-law half way, refusing to call her "mother," and in other ways making it hard for her mother-in-law to get on a friendly footing.

EVIDENCE OF THREAT.

DECREE AND ALIMONY.

Mrs. Olympia Ramello yesterday, during the trial of her divorce suit against Lorenzo Ramello, identified the broken parts of a stiletto which were handed to her by her counsel in an envelope. The stiletto, she said, she found under her husband's pillow, and fearing that he meant to carry out his threats to kill her, she flung it on the floor and stepped on the blade.

When her husband missed the stiletto, she said, he became infuriated and made an attack upon her. He knocked her down, but the interference of her mother and sister saved her from further injury. Judge Craig gave her the decree and alimony of $1000.

DUNCAN TRIAD.

FOR KILLING POLICEMAN.

Harry Duncan, alleged slayer of Sergt. Toolen, will be brought to trial in Judge Craig's court today. The sergeant, accompanied by Officer White, went to the Duncan home on the night of October 19, last year, to arrest Duncan for alleged complicity in the theft of an automobile.

After forcing their way into the house, the officers announced who they were, in spite of which fact, it is alleged that Duncan shot. His first bullet wounded and killed Sergt. Toolen. When arrested two days later, he declared that he had shot with the idea that the men, who were talking to his mother, were burglars and had attacked her. This will be the nature of his defense.

IN AND OUT.

ABOUT THE COURTS.

ASKS ANNULMENT. F. W. and Rose B. Stephens were married eighteen years ago. Yesterday Mr. Stephens filed suit for annulment, on the ground that his wife had a former husband living from whom she did not receive a final decree until a year after his own marriage to her.

BROTHER ILL. Hurrying to the bedside of her brother, who is reported in a critical illness, Miss Orfa Jean Shontz, referee of the Juvenile Court, left last night for Spokane. She may not return to her work for two weeks.

HEAVY SENTENCE. Fred Brenner, 20 years old, was sentenced to lone for one year by Judge Dehy yesterday, ostensibly for the embezzlement of $1. Brenner claimed the money was due him for a day's work as errand boy in a drug store at Avenue 39 and Pasadena avenue. The court was informed, however, that while the young man was working at the store, a large quantity of drugs and goods disappeared. The records of the Juvenile Court show that this was not the first time he had been before that tribunal.

BIG PETITION FILED. Attorney Newmire, representing seventeen petitioners, yesterday filed probably the largest petition thus far presented for registration of land under the Torrens Title Act. The property involved covers land at the harbor, Hyde Park and in this city proper, including 150 pieces. The First National Bank at San Pedro asks that its bank building be recorded under the provisions of the act.

DUNCAN CASE POSTPONED. When Ralph Duncan appeared yesterday for sentence before Judge McCormick, his attorneys declared that they needed more time to complete their appeal and were granted until Tuesday to do this. Duncan was convicted by a jury of having stolen a Ford automobile on the night that his brother, Harry, shot and killed Police Sergeant J. F. Toolen.

DISLOCATED SPINE.

Officer of California Vegetable Union Meets With Distressing Accident During Night Auto Trip—Surgical Operation is Decided Upon.

With his spine dislocated, Fred G. Devereaux, aged 28, manager of the Garden Grove branch of the California Vegetable Union, was taken to the Clara Barton Hospital yesterday afternoon. The injuries resulted from an accident during a night trip in an automobile. Late last night an operation was performed on Mr. Devereaux in an effort to save his life.

The accident occurred Tuesday night, when Mr. Devereaux was on his way from his office in Garden Grove to his home in Anaheim, accompanied by Mr. Burkhart of the Central Garage, Anaheim. The automobile, in rounding a curve on the Anaheim road, passed over an excavation, and completely turned over.

After discovering that his companion was seriously injured, Mr. Burkhart, who was only slightly hurt, walked to Anaheim to secure a physician. The injured man was taken to the Anaheim Sanatorium, and yesterday afternoon was brought to the hospital in this city.

Mr. Devereaux was formerly auditor of the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco, and has a wide acquaintance throughout California. Mrs. Devereaux accompanied her husband from Anaheim to Los Angeles, and is suffering from severe nervous shock at the home of her mother, Mrs. Gardner, No. 1559 Vestal drive, Hollywood. Mrs. Devereaux Stark, mother of the injured man, arrived last night from Del Monte.

As there were no lights or obstructions of any kind near the excavation that caused the accident, it is probable that a damage suit will result.

Unionites Ask City to Adopt Scale They Dictate.

Petitions from a dozen or more laborite organizations were received by the Council yesterday. These petitions in printed form were all alike, asking, among other things, that the city insist that all city contract work be done on a basis of the union wage scale and an eight-hour day.

These petitions asking the Council to turn the city into a municipal closed shop came from the unionite ranks of the cooks, bartenders, plumbers, longshoremen, teamsters and others, and they all went to the Public Welfare Committee.

Councilman Wheeler said he "heartily agreed with the substance of the petition," but the requests made are "unfortunately" against the law and the Supreme Court of the State will not let the city turn over its affairs to the walking delegates.

WILL TRY AGAIN.

Second Attempt of Mrs. Sophia McDowell to Get Divorce.

The second divorce suit within five months was filed Tuesday by Mrs. Sophia McDowell, wife of James N. McDowell, formerly a publisher in this city. The first suit was dismissed when a reconciliation had been effected. It is said the present suit is based on the same ground as the first.

Mrs. McDowell will not ask alimony, as she has a considerable income in her own right, derived from property in Los Angeles and elsewhere. There are no children.

sheep and that a high percentage of increase will be obtained from the pure bred ewes to be shipped there. The forage is excellent, consisting mostly of red-top clover and alfalaria, the latter a type of pin clover that grows in a wild state in some portions of Europe and which has been naturalized in California and a few other States in this country.

San Clemente Island is owned by the United States government, and is held by the sheep company under long-time lease. It is twenty-two miles long and four and a half miles wide. Sheep were first put on the island in 1854, and have been pastured there ever since. For half a century the animals existed without water save what they got from occasional morning dew and from a small, water-bearing plant, "siempre viva."

IN THE CAVES.

The animals did not thrive well, the increase being only about 10 per cent. a year, but they did exist, though no wells had been sunk and there was no water supply on the island except during the short rainy season. Instinct taught them how to conserve the little moisture they were able to get with their forage. Men who watched their habits say they never foraged in the daytime, but as soon as the sun rose went into caves and dark canyons where they remained quietly during the heat of the day. Mr. Howland says that he rode the entire length of the island one day and only saw eleven sheep although many thousands were there.

When the Howlands brought the sheep in 1904, they secured a long lease from the government, agreeing to spend $25,000 in boring for water. They spent $60,000, obtaining five good wells, and built dams and concrete tanks to conserve the water that falls in the rainy season. One of the big concrete tanks holds enough water to supply 5000 sheep for eight months.

In the early days, horses and barrels of water were shipped over to the island in boats. There was no landing place and the horses had to swim ashore. Toward the end of the shearing period many sheep died for lack of water because they had been confined in corrals instead of staying in the dark caves as they had been accustomed to.

The San Clemente Wool Company, besides securing water, built a wharf and made many other improvements, with the result that the percentage of annual increase jumped from 10 to 60. Horse breeding was undertaken also by the San Clemente Wool Company, pure-bred Percherons and Belgians being raised. There are now on the island a number of fine draft mares and colts, a Percheron stallion and a Belgian stallion colt. The latter is only three years old and weighs 2400 pounds. These will be sold by the new owners, who will concentrate on sheep with the intention of increasing the number and improving the strain.

REMARKABLE ISLAND.

San Clemente was ceded to the United States by Mexico with the other channel islands and is one of the most interesting of the group. Implements and utensils have been unearthed there that indicate the existence of a high type of man in prehistoric times. Not long ago a set of chess men was found in a cave with only two or three pieces missing. The chessmen were carved from soapstone and in formation are practically the same as those commonly in use. Mr. Howland has a curved sword of good workmanship that was unearthed by one of his herders. When found it was in fair state of preservation and still showed evidence of having been stained or painted. It has one sharpened edge.

While the greater portion of the island, including the mesas at the top, are fairly level and provide good forage and grain crops, the remainder is extremely rugged. Deep, narrow canyons that are inaccessible to men on horseback and caverns are numerous. Along one of the rocky shores is one of the most difficult horseback trails in the country. At places there is a sheer drop of more than 100 feet to the water and the trail is so close to the water that the rider's leg hangs over the edge. Little holes have been chiseled and blasted to give foothold.

FAVOR SINGLE SYSTEM.

Grocery Men Opposed to Municipal-owned Telephone.

Members of the Retail Grocers' Association met last night in the Walker Building to discuss the question of municipal ownership of telephones and also the proposed consolidation of the two systems. Neal P. Olsen, president of the association, presided.

Through an oversight insufficient notice of the meeting caused a number of the association members to be absent. However, those present formed a representative body of the whole organization. It was indicated that the grocery men, while opposed to municipal ownership of the telephones, are strongly in favor of a single system.

Mr. Olsen said last night that the association will take a straw vote on the subject, to insure getting the opinion of every member. An open meeting will be held in the Walker Building the 19th inst., at which time every member who possibly can is expected to be present.
